THIRSTY CAR ON A HOT DAY

Big Shark Netted In Tomales Bay; Warning Issued

Tomales Bay swimmers were warned today to stay in shoal water and keep a sharp lookout as result of capture early this morning of a record-size white bonito shark believed to be of the man-eating type.

The 750-pound shark was caught by a Marshall restaurant owner out looking for something more tasty in the way of sea bass. The warning was issued by Ranger Bill Fairbanks, state park attendant at Tomales Bay State Park.

As to the shark, you can go have a look for yourself.

It will be displayed on the wharf adjacent to Tony's Seafood Restaurant in Marshall on State Highway 1.

Tony Konatich, owner of the restaurant and a resident of the area for about 35 years, was up bright and early with his drift net. The net picked up the shark about 200 yards off Indian Beach at the north tip of the park and almost opposite Marshall.

His catch was more than he'd bargained for, and the net ripped, but Konatich was able to hold the shark and get it back to the wharf. He hauled the big fish in and strung it at the end of a boom.

White sharks are not considered uncommon in Tomales Bay during the summer season but local residents believe this is the largest ever caught actually within the bay—bigger ones have been found outside, however. Konatich caught two 500-pounders last summer, according to his son, Felix.

Though white sharks are known to have attacked humans, this hasn't happened so far in Tomales Bay. Felix Konatich said it was a white bonito which recently attacked a California swimmer.

Ranger Fairbanks aims to keep the accident record clear.

"I would personally advise swimmers to stay in shallow water and to keep their eyes open," he said. This advice was given to all who passed the park checking station.

No special precautions because of sharks are considered necessary for the beach at Stinson Beach State Park, a park official said today. This is because lifeguards are regularly warning swimmers to keep inside the breakers because of undertow.

Water within the breakers is usually only about waist-deep, which is felt to preclude danger of sharks in that area, the official said.

EVEN NIKITA ENVIOUS AT U.S. FAIR OPENING

MOSCOW (AP) — The American National Exhibition in Moscow opened last night and drew envious praise from the first Soviet visitor—Nikita Khrushchev.

"There are good things here, and we envy you for them," the Soviet Premier said at the dedication ceremonies. "They are things that Russia will have."

Workmen were rushing about shouting for a plumber here and a carpenter there to put on the finishing touches up until an hour before Vice President Richard M. Nixon formally opened the fair. But it opened on time and in pretty good shape.

RADIOACTIVITY TESTED

Marin's Drinking Water Held Safe

Marin drinking water has a wide margin of safety as far as radioactivity is concerned, Dr. Carolyn Albrecht, Marin County health officer, announced today.

Results of recent tests of samples of water from reservoirs of the Marin Municipal Water District and the North Marin Water District, were disclosed by Dr. Albrecht.

She released the contents of a letter from Dr. Dell F. Dullum, state consultant in radiologic health.

Dr. Albrecht had requested the information.

The reply to her says, in part:

"The activity of these samples has varied from a high of about 100 micromicrocuries per liter in February and March of 1959, after showing a rather sudden increase in activity. Subsequent to March, the activity has gradually been decreasing down to a level of about 5 to 10 micromicrocuries per liter and it is expected the activity will remain at this level during the next months."

The letter also said that "there may be a slight increase in the fallout during the spring months of 1960.

Dr. Albrecht said the increase could be expected because of the rainy season. She said radioactive material is washed down to earth more quickly during heavy rains.

"The increased radioactivity of drinking water has been quite general throughout the state, and was due to the Russian Nuclear testing in the fall of 1958," the letter said.

Because of the suspension of tests, the letter said, "it is expected that the rate of fallout and the subsequent contamination . . . will continue to decrease or remain at the present level."

Dr. Dullum's letter also said that although "a total lifetime consumption of 10 micromicrocuries per liter is recommended" if there is "no appreciable activity of the water due to radium 226 and radium 228," the amount could be extended to 100 per liter.

The letter said the higher figure "applies to California waters, as it has been shown there is a very low level of radium 226 and radium 228 in California drinking water."

The amount could even increase to 600, Dr. Dullum said, "provided the activity due to radium 226, radium 228, Strontium-90, and lead 210 is at low levels. As it is known that the strontium and lead levels are also very low, the figure of 600 could actually be used as a safe lifetime level for drinking water in California."

Dr. Albrecht said the state report indicates Marin drinking water "is safe by a wide margin." She said samples of water were taken both by state and county officials "at various points at reservoirs."

Nixon Encounters Heckler While At Soviet Exhibition

MOSCOW (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon visited the Soviet agricultural and industrial exhibition today and got a warm reception, except for a lone heckler.

Nixon appeared at the show grounds—set up as a rival attraction of the U.S. exhibition—after meeting with first Dep. Premiers Anastas Mikoyan and Frol Kozlov.

About 5,000 Soviet visitors were at the agricultural show when they saw Nixon and his party. They began applauding vigorously.

At the agricultural hall Nixon began shaking hands with as many Russians as he could reach. Everyone was friendly until he reached the exhibition hall of the Uzbek Republic.

One of the spectators cried out that charges the Soviet Union had enslaved other nations were a Western provocation.

"Uzbeks are not suppressed but terrifically free," the man shouted.

Nixon listened attentively and told the man: "I'm in favor of free speech and I am glad you were able to talk."

Nixon had luncheon with Vladimir Matskevich, minister of agriculture, and they exchanged toasts for peace and friendship.

But Matskevich immediately launched into the subject of U.S. observance of "Captive Nations Week." The week is one for remembrance of nations under Communist domination.

"The Soviet people were surprised and alarmed that the Senate passed the captive peoples' resolution," Matskevich said. "We were prepared for a peaceful and friendly welcome for Mr. and Mrs. Nixon.

"These small clouds will not prevent our people from marching on to peace and friendship."

Herter Gives Berlin Pledge

BERLIN (UPI)—U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter promised West Berliners today the West will never accept a Soviet deadline for withdrawing its troops from the divided city.

Herter flew to the isolated city from Geneva for a six-hour visit to demonstrate western determination to hold Berlin in the face of Soviet threats.

Grid Star's Widow Wins Court Award

A San Anselmo widow and her two children, family of former professional football player Roy Barni who was shot to death in San Francisco in 1957, has been awarded $125,000 damages.

The award was made yesterday in San Francisco Superior Court for Mrs. Gloria Barni of 1670 San Anselmo avenue. She has two children, Pamela, 4, and Roy, 1.

San Anselmo attorney Robert P. Praetzel, who represented Mrs. Barni at a court hearing last week, says Judge Twain Michelson has just ruled that Mrs. Barni should get $75,000 and each of her two children $25,000 each for the loss of their husband and father.

Barni, who operated Barni's Huddle in San Francisco, was shot to death in late 1957 when he attempted to stop an argument between two men. James Invernezzi of San Francisco was convicted for the fatal shooting and is serving a prison term.

Attorney Praetzel said he would attempt to collect the money from Invernezzi as soon as he gets out of prison, in about a year.

U.S. Protests Plane Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has fired a strong protest at Red China and North Korea over the June 16 attack by MIG jets on a U.S. Navy patrol plane.

The State Department termed the incident "attempted murder over the high seas."

The government demanded that the Communists act immediately to prevent further attacks. It asked that those responsible be punished for the unprovoked attack over the Sea of Japan.

Borings Set At Possible College Site

Soil borings are to be made Monday on the proposed state college site in Novato, it was announced today by the state public works department.

George Marshall, secretary of the Novato Chamber of Commerce, reported that a telephone call from a department spokesman in Sacramento informed him that four 30-inch borings are to be made and that "this is a hurry-up deal and must be done right away."

The Freitas Ranch in West Novato is one of several proposed sites still in the running as a possible location for a new four-year state college for the North Bay counties.

County Files Action For Airport Site

Marin County went to court yesterday to condemn land near Richardson Bay Bridge, which county supervisors declared the county needs for an airport and landing facilities.

County Counsel Leland Jordan filed the suit in Marin Superior Court, asking the court to set a fair value on the land.

The county had made a tentative agreement with Robert Law of Commodore Aviation to acquire the land, and let Law lease it back, with the idea that the underwater landing strip would benefit the county. Approximately 25 acres are involved.

Cuban Prison Yields Arms

HAVANA (UPI) — A raiding squad commanded by the chief of police raided Havana's Principe Prison today and uncovered a store of hidden weapons ranging from Molotov cocktails and guns to icepicks fashioned into daggers.

Police said the surprise search was carried out under Chief Efigenio Ameijeiras' leadership after a tipster reported political prisoners and other inmates planned a wide series of disorders tomorrow, when the anniversary of Fidel Castro's 26th of July movement will be celebrated.

Earlier the government slapped a 12-hour ban on the sale of alcoholic beverages in preparation for the commemoration of Castro's revolutionary victory.

The latest official estimate said that 235,000 peasants already were in Havana for the huge celebration.

Marin Advisory Group On Rapid Transit Requested By District

Marin County's city councils are to select planning and engineering experts to make up an advisory group requested by the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

The request was made yesterday afternoon at a meeting of about 50 mayors, city managers, engineers, planners and other officials in the supervisors' chamber of the county courthouse.

"We want to take advantage of your know-how," said Kenneth M. Hoover, chief engineer for the district. "We're anxious for close coordination with this board and with technical people of the different cities in seeking the best solution—not necessarily what everybody wants, but the best."

He stressed that the advisory group would not make decisions but could provide local information and points of view and also serve to spread information throughout the county as to what was being done.

T. J. DeLasaux, one of two Marin County directors of the district, suggested that Marin has nine incorporated cities to be represented together with the supervisors and "10 people seems about right."

Later discussion brought out that both planning and engineering people would be needed, so it appears probable that the group will number closer to 20.

Representatives were present from San Rafael, Sausalito, Mill Valley, Larkspur, Ross and Fairfax, in addition to the county, leaving Corte Madera and Belvedere not represented. If Novato incorporates it should be represented, it was agreed.

Hoover and DeLasaux indicated their wish that at next meetings of city councils throughout the county, persons be named with whom district representatives might confer whenever plans dealt with their respective areas.

A question was put as to feasibility of monorail and Hoover said:

"That magic word 'monorail' is getting about to the point of retreading, they use it so much. The monorail is not a new device—the only real monorail has been in operation since 1902 in Germany over a river with no room in the valley and it runs 28 miles an hour, with characteristics against higher speed.

"However, there are variations of the suspended or supported types which may be more desirable."

Asked if there was any firm indication about routing, he said "not yet." What is sought, he said, is to integrate the automobile with a rapid transit system "leaving the automobile at its home base where it can best function."

LOW HUMIDITY, HIGH FIRE HAZARD REPORTED IN MARIN

At 6 a.m. this morning the moisture in the air at Mount Tamalpais registered a scant 2 per cent.

Anything under 25 per cent is considered hazardous. If the humidity drops below 15 per cent it is looked upon as definitely "out of the ordinary" in this area, according to Fran Penzotti, Marin County Fire Department lookout warden.

"I've seen it as low as 6 or 8 per cent a couple of times in the last couple of years," Penzotti said, "but never this low."

He added that Marin weekenders would do well to take extra fire precautions until the mosture content rises. The fire hazard is now extremely serious, he added.

The weekend weather forecast for the Bay Area calls for continued fair weather through the weekend except for morning fog near the ocean. High in San Rafael is expected to hit 86. Normal westerly winds are forecast.

Youth Catches Holdup Man

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Dick Hawkins, 17, drew his Boy Scout knife last night and chased down a burly holdup man who minutes earlier had robbed the gas station where the youth was working.

The robber, identified by police as Richard Layne Davis, 31, a San Quentin Prison parolee, broke his left leg leaping over a wall while trying to flee.

Hurricane Punishes Texas Coastal Cities

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Hurricane Debra smashed against Texas coast cities today with winds up to 100 miles an hour. Torrential rains and 6 foot tides flooded low areas and sent thousands of persons scurrying to higher ground.

The small but vicous hurricane, which developed suddenly in the Gulf of Mexico yesterday morning, hurled several small fishing vessels against jetties as 15-foot waves lashed the seacoast. One seaman was injured. Hundreds of other small craft sought shelter as hurricane warnings were hoisted over a wide sector of the Texas coast.

Damage in the Freeport area was estimated at one million dollars by Police Chief Barney Priest today. The hurricane damage was widespread but at many points appeared minor. Because much of the damage was due to rains and high tides, estimates could not be made accurately until the waters had subsided.

Orange, at the eastern edge of the hurricane's path, had recorded 9.77 inches of rain this morning and heavy downpours continued at most points in the path's storm. The Weather Bureau said local rains of 15 inches could be expected.

The highest winds of 100 m.p.h. were recorded when Debra hit Galveston Island during the early morning hours. The resort island was completely isolated by the hurricane as virtually all highways in the path of the storm's center were closed.

The storm, which by midmorning had moved northward to the eastern edge of Houston, was showing signs of losing some of its punch. The Weather Bureau said that the maximum wind gusts had dropped to 67 m.p.h.

Tips on Purchase and Home Care of Your Wardrobe

By BERT BROWN, Marin Cleaners

Before buying Long Coat ask some short Questions:

The Long Short coat, good last year, even better this year in the college or career wardrobe. It goes under many different names — the car coat, all weather coat, surcoat and storm coat.

Regardless of label names I wish to point out there are certain features to consider to get the greatest satisfaction from your purchase.

Is the outer fabric treated with a water-repellent finish? If so, is it treated with durable water repellent? I recommend you buy one treated with a durable water-repellent because when your dry cleaner re-treats it, the results will be better. What about the inner-lining, is it made of foam rubber, urethane foam or a plain multi-colored fiber bat?

Depending on garment construction, some coats with foam rubber inner-linings must be wet cleaned, multi-colored inner-linings may bleed to water in spot removal and stain the outer coating fabric.

Sometimes the lining in the coat limits its cleanability. The fur type pile fabrics used for linings have been improved greatly. They can be dry cleaned. All linings and inner-lining fabrics should be color fast to both dry cleaning and wet cleaning.

Examine the under side of the coating fabric. Does it have a rubber coating on the outer fabric? If so, the garment should be wet cleaned.

Many of the short coats are made of, or trimmed with, plastic which looks like leather. This simulated leather should be wet cleaned for best results. If a garment is trimmed with genuine leather, it will require special handling by your dry cleaner.

And don't forget the outer trim. Are the buttons, toggles, or decorative trim cleanable? Non-dry cleanable trim should not be attached permanently to the garment. It should be removed before dry cleaning.

More on your wardrobe Wednesday.

Beauty Tips from ME to YOU

You must know your skin type to properly care for it! There are four types: dry, oily, combination and normal. Which one are you? Dry — lusterless, quick to wrinkle or flake . . . Oily—a skin prone to sallowness, shine, blemishes is oily . . . the Combination skin is one with oily secretions at nose and chin and flakiness at brow and cheek . . . Normal skin is translucent, unblemished, dewy and vibrant . . .

The next few weeks let's take each type of skin and discuss its care . . . 1st, dry skin, always remove cosmetics with a creamy cleanser, wash your face once a day only . . . rinse well . . . before retiring always apply lubricants or normalizing lotion . . . try to have a few professional facials for special treatment and to inform you of your particular problems.

Hamilton Air Base Pays Tribute To Retiring General, Sergeants

Three master sergeants from Western Air Defense Force headquarters at Hamilton Air Force Base and Brig. Gen. Edwin L. Tucker, vice commander of the WADF since July, 1955, took places together today on the reviewing stand in formal observance of the general's retirement.

The general and the three master sergeants — Everett (Frank) Parker, Jack D. Kane, and William E. Everett— will retire next Friday.

This morning's formal review, featuring overpasses by Delta Dagger and Voodoo interceptors, was also held for the presentation of the first Oak Leaf Cluster to the Legion of Merit to Tucker.

The retiring master sergeants joined the reviewing stand at the request of the general.

Tucker, rated a pilot and aircraft observer and commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Force Reserve upon graduation from North Carolina State College in 1929, has held various Air Force assignments.

He was commander of the 30th Air Division (Defense) prior to his assignment at Hamilton.

Sergeant Kane is retiring after more than 25 years service. He began his military career with the 7th Cavalry at Ft. Bliss, Tex. He has served in the 82nd Field Artillery, the 26th Wagon company and the 250th Motor Transport company.

In March, 1939, he enlisted in the 4th Air Base group at March Field, and in 1951 became first sergeant of the 3rd Air Base Squadron there.

After becoming a warrant officer, he served the 4th Air Force and was assigned to the air attache in London. He returned to the state in April, 1952, and in August, 1953, reverted to his permanent rank of master sergeant and enlisted at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Married and the father of three children, Kane plans to work for an auto supply firm in San Rafael.

Sergeant Parker plans to move to Riverside where he began his military career in 1929. He has been at Hamilton since 1950, and prior to that was at March Air Force Base where he had enlisted with the 70th Service Squadron.

He has served at various air bases and outfits, including the 82nd Fighter Interceptor Squadron. In 1952, he joined the WADF Inspector General team with which he served until March, 1955, when he took over his WADF in the material section.

He will be advanced upon retirement to the rank of captain, his highest wartime rank.

Sergeant Everett, a management analysis technician with WADF, numbers 24 years of active duty and four of reserve service. After ROTC training he was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Infantry Reserve in 1931. In 1933, he was called to active duty to command Civilian Conservation Corps camps in northern Minnesota. He remained on active duty until July, 1939. In August, 1941, he was called to active duty again as a first lieutenant, and later commanded an anti-tank training center.

Later he organized the 4th Special Service Squadron and took it to Europe in 1942. Still later, serving with the 8th Air Force, he advanced to lieutenant colonel. While serving in France he received the Bronze Star.

He reverted to master sergeant when he enlisted in 1947, but he will retire at his highest wartime rank. He plans to move to Florida.

Ex-Marinite Wins Music Study Grant

A $3,000 scholarship permitting a year or more of study in Europe has been awarded to a 28-year-old former Marinite.

He is George J. Burt Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Burt of 51 Park avenue, Mill Valley. Now married and with a 2-year-old son, the younger Burt has recently been living in Berkeley after graduation from University of California and taking a master's degree in music from Mills College.

Burt plays several instruments and made money from performing on the saxaphone and clarinet while obtaining an education, but his scholarship from the Alfred and Lily Alice Hertz Memorial awards was for proficiency in composition.

He was one of seven Bay Area musicians and scholars who will be given help in continuing their studies.

Birth Control Data Favored

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Presidential study committee has recommended that the United States supply birth control information, if requested, to certain nations faced with the problem of overpopulation.

The recommendation is included in a report sent to Congress by President Eisenhower. The report deals with the broad topic of economic assistance to the free world's underdeveloped nations.

Eisenhower transmitted the document without comment on its various recommendations. He simply urged careful study.

Vicar Remains At Inverness

Rev. John Spear has announced that he will remain as full-time vicar at St. Columba's Episcopal Church at Inverness.

Permanence of his position was assured by the success of a recent financial compaign. Rt. Rev. Henry H. Shires, archdeacon, said the Inverness congregation has "done a wonderful job."

The diocese of the church said the response of the congregation made it possible for the retention of the present vicar by contributing funds over and above those provided by the diocese.

The campaign was led by Mrs. Robert Bruckman.

Odd Find

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—A worker in the University of Wisconsin's Bureau of Graduate Records came across two graduates with the same name and with the same birth date. On Sept. 12, 1924, Robert William Johnson was born in Staunton, Va., and on the same date in Milwaukee another Robert William Johnson was born. Both later received degrees from the university.

Marin Span Directors Must Not 'Carry Much Water'

Some weeks ago the Marin County Board of Supervisors unanimously endorsed the idea of a tourist information center at the Vista Point parking area just off the north end of Golden Gate Bridge.

The supervisors passed their resolution along to the Redwood Empire Assn. and the Golden Gate Bridge board asking similar endorsements from those two bodies.

After some considerable discussion the executive board of the R.E.A. endorsed the idea, again unanimously, and relayed the information to the Bridge Board with an urge to do likewise.

All the bridge board has done to date is "refer the matter to committee." Not another word has been heard from the direction of the Golden Gate save a couple of mild statements from Marin's two directors, Matt Graham and Leland Murphy that "We're for it."

Now the cat may be out of the bag.

When a couple of Marin business community representatives appeared before a bridge committee some days ago, one director is reported to have said straight out words to the effect that Marin shouldn't expect time of day from the bridge board since Marin County Supervisors endorsed the Golden Gate Authority proposal over the objections of the bridge board.

This would indicate that certain bridge directors go out of their way to discriminate against requests and suggestions emanating from Marin, as a matter of political reprisal.

Our two Marin directors ought to be in there scrapping for all they're worth against this kind of thing and in favor of recommendations and suggestions originating in Marin.

If you ask us, we would say that the Marin directors don't wield much influence — "don't carry much water" — down at the bridge, if Marin-born proposals get shelved so simply.

THEY WALKED OFF WITH THE SAFE

One man who thought he had a crackproof safe got a rude awakening recently.

As an added protection, this careful individual had his new safe built into the wall of his New Jersey home. Then he felt fully confident that when he went out his money, jewelry and securities were completely safe.

A couple of thieves, however, took a different point of view. After several vain attempts to open it, they agreed that the safe was a very good one. But they wouldn't let a seemingly impregnable safe stand in their way. They simply tore it out of the wall and took it with them.

There's nothing shy or backward about most evildoers of our day. They could not be more persistent, painstaking and thorough in seeing their fiendish objectives through to the finish.

Show as much zeal and stick-to-itiveness in championing the eternal truths of God and the human rights of man, and you will do a service to one and all.

"Who is he that can hurt you, if you be zealous of good?" (I Peter 3:13)

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Inflation Threat Must Be Resisted

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

"The price has gone up."

This expression has spread over the country like an epidemic with each participant hiding behind the skirts of inflation.

Our business people, including unions, are literally being mesmerized by this very expression. I heard it for the third time this week when I had my prescription filled. I flipped my lid and told the druggist, "people must stop using and practicing this destructive expression . . . The price has gone up."

But, of course, he was already unhappy because he had had it from the pharmaceutical representative.

So, the vicious circle continues on and on until John Q. Public is gouged for his last dime.

It is the duty of every American citizen to help fight inflation or we will have another depression far greater than the last one when my husband, a dentist, went to work with holes in his shoes; and, his attorney, with patches on the seat of his pants.

Teen-Age Activity List Worthwhile

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The other day I noticed a column in your good newspaper entitled, "Here Are Teen-Ager Activities For Week." I think this is a grand idea, although I don't know how long it has been going on.

I, for one, would like to see you blow up this idea a little bit and it might even be worthwhile to get some of the local youth agencies to do a little leg work on this for you.

WALTER LIPPMANN

Federal Government Should Play Role Of Fact Finder In Steel Strike

AMONG THE MANY big questions posed by the steel strike perhaps the most important is what should be the role of the Federal government. For there is much confusion about this.

The strike is taking place just as Congress is working on a law for the regulation of labor unions, a law which calls for comprehensive and far-reaching Federal intervention in the internal affairs of the unions. Yet on the steel strike there are many, including now the President himself, who want no Federal intervention and wish to see the issue settled by the test of economic power.

A month ago, at his press conference of June 17, he was asked this question by Mr. Raymond P. Brandt of the St. Louis Post Dispatch: "Both the steel management and the steel unions are using self-serving statistics which are in great conflict. Is there any way that government can bring out some impartial figures on profits and wages and productivity so that people can understand the issues and make their own decision?"

The President answered Mr. Brandt, saying, "Well, I think you have asked about the most intelligent question on that particular question, particular matter; and I haven't thought about it in this particular way . . . I don't know whether this would be helpful or not, but I'll take your suggestion and have it studied."

Last week, at his press conference on July 15, the President had had the matter studied. He had learned that "as far as a fact-finding board is concerned, I believe that all the facts are pretty well known . . . In all our reports, in the labor statistics and the commerce and the other figures that are published, some quarterly, some monthly, they are all there . . ."

Whoever did the studying of the question for the President did not understand the question, or he did not want the President to understand it. For while it may well be true that the "facts" are "all there" in some of the many reports that are published, how is the public to know, how is Congress to know, how are newspaper editors to know, which of the facts are important and relevant? The task of finding the facts that matter and of judging how they matter is a semi-judicial function. It cannot be done without a specialized inquiry by trained minds.

If there is no impartial tribunal to find the facts, then there can be no such thing as an enlightened public opinion. And if there is no enlightened opinion that can be brought to bear upon it, a strike of this magnitude must become a test of power in a whirl of propaganda and of prejudice.

WE LIVE IN a time when vital industries and services of the nation are in the hands of giant companies and giant unions.

We cannot entrust the interests of the nation to a combination of the companies and the unions, which is what we have had for some years until recently in the steel industry. Nor can we entrust the interests of the nation to a power struggle between the unions and the companies, however much this struggle be prettified by calling it "free bargaining."

In these great conflicts the national interest must be represented and asserted by the Federal government. The place to begin this is by a clarification of the contending claims. This alone may be enough to provide the basis of an opinion on which the government can exert its influence, and to which the public can rally.

Brave Souls Suggest Names For New High School At Terra Linda

AT LEAST WE may be getting somewhere. San Rafael's new high school south of Terra Linda may get a name after all.

Thus far it is referred to merely as "that new high school," or "new school at Terra Linda" or "San Rafael High II."

But this week a few of the braver souls have begun to hazard a few suggestions. Here are some samples. Lucas Valley High, Miwok High (after the Miwok Indians of Marin), Dulles High (after the late statesman), Mission High (since San Rafael is known as the Mission city).

Some energetic minded citizens were reported tramping through the area in search of some tree or bush like madrone or manzanita to give the school a name. But all they found was one old wild rose.

JUDGE N. CHARLES Brusatori of superior court noticed several jurors and even the witnesses waving their hands periodically, almost all afternoon the other day. Closer inspection showed that they were chasing flies that were buzzing all over the room.

What happened was that the county jail cooks were so good downstairs that the rich aroma whiffed upward into the courtroom. And the flies came with it. The judge's verdict: Either install screens or buy fly swatters for each juror and court attache.

GRAND JURORS are reported probing the alleged "misuse" of Aid to Needy Children funds. The allegation: Some women, married or otherwise, have children just to get the child support income.

LOOKS AS IF the judges will be coming out in robes prescribed by the state judicial council pretty soon. Although no one is saying so publicly, rumors have it that some rugged individualists are kicking because they do not want to see too much regimentation, like robes, wigs and beards.

SAN RAFAEL radio announcer Jerry Bennett is a local boy who made good. As student at Drake High, he trained under KTIM announcers Karl Barron and Bill Thompson. He's a full fledged announcer now at his old stomping grounds.

HAVE YOU noticed the size of the county recorder's office as drawn up at the new civic center site in Santa Venetia? They tell me the floor space is smaller than the existing recorder's office in the present courthouse.

ALL THE San Rafael police sergeants from the old regime have been given promotions or new jobs. Sgt. Jay Fletcher became a lieutenant. Sgt. Louis Foster is juvenile officer. Looks as if Sgt. Lincoln Borba is going to beef up the criminal investigation side as assistant inspector.

SACRAMENTO SIDELIGHT

Gobbledygook Not Confined To Washington; State Has It, Too

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Why don't people in government say what they mean?

You wonder when state officials come up with such decorated verbiage as: reincapsulate, ongoing program, criteria and methodology.

He introduced a bill simply telling the State Social Welfare Board, in adopting rules and regulations, to "strive for clarity of language which may be readily understood."

The bill got through the Assembly. It died in the Senate Committee on Governmental Efficiency.

SOCIAL WORKERS aren't the only offenders. Engineers, lawyers and educators, in particular, each have a highly-specialized jargon of their own. Often it requires translation.

For instance, a couple of days ago the State Division of Forestry put out a news release on "the timber build-up index as of July 2, 1959." It turned out to be the potential fire hazard as measured by moisture and other factors.

We didn't know it until the Department of Water Resources let it out that "uniformity of criteria and methodology is still a paramount objective of Congress." This had to do with who's responsible for what in the water field.

THE DEPARTMENT of Education, in a report, concluded that the best test of teacher education is the teacher. But it didn't put it that way. Instead:

"The best evaluation of programs of teacher education is an evaluation of the products of the programs who are in teaching positions."

A flood operations manual solemnly informed us that the main causes which may contribute to levee failure include "overtopping as a result of river water surface elevations in excess of levee height."

It was the State Disaster Office that informed the governor: "During October, approximately half of our 100-millicurie sources were reincapsulated into newly decaled capsules."

AND THE LEGISLATIVE Analyst's office noted:

"The idleness factor is that group of inmates not employed or taking part in some productive, educational treatment program so that they are left idle a good part of the time."

One of our favorites, though comes from the California Administrative Code:

"For the purposes of the rules and regulations contained in this chapter, the present tense includes the past and future tenses, and the future, the present; the masculine gender includes the feminine, and the feminine, the masculine; and the singular includes the plural and the plural the singular."

YOU explain it!

LATIN AMERICAN UNREST—III

Castro Enmity May Prolong Dictatorship Of Trujillo

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

THE DOMINICAN Republic and Cuba lie some 200 miles apart in the Caribbean. Theoretically, both are republics enjoying freedom of speech and thought. Actually, although for different reasons, both are dictatorships where a careless word or deed may have fatal results.

The enmity between the two could be the spark to alight the Caribbean and confront the United States with a crisis much closer to home than Berlin, Formosa or the Middle East.

In the Dominican Republic is the man twice the age of Castro, 67-year-old Generalissimo Rafael Leonidas Trujillo Molina, self-styled "benefactor," a man old in the intrigue and violence of Caribbean politics.

In Cuba there is the dreary echo of the firing squads which have cut down nearly 600 persons accused of crimes against the state. In a nation of only a little more than five million it seems an unusually high percentage of those whose opposition to a regime made it necessary for them to pay the final penalty.

Marrero was one of those who, while professing loyalty to Trujillo, still planned for a more democratic time after Trujillo's departure.

Earlier, last week, in the United States, he had talked of his plans and said then that if his words leaked back to Ciudad Trujillo "I'm a dead man."

SO VIOLENT DEATH is a stranger to neither country.

Nor is intrigue new against Trujillo. He has been an absolute dictator for 29 years, dating back to a time when Castro was but a baby, three years old.

But Castro is his chief villain now, and it was Trujillo's charges against Cuba that brought about the call for next month's meeting of the foreign ministers of the organization of American states (OAS) in Santiago, Chile.

There are many conflicts in the Trujillo story. Enmity between the Dominican Republic and Cuba dates far beyond Castro. Yet, today Trujillo finds himself perhaps the unwilling host to Fulgencio Batista, Cuba's ousted ex-dictator.

His is an undoubted dictatorship yet the Dominican Republic's record of hospitals, schools, sewage systems and general prosperity is far better than that of Haiti, the Negro republic with which it divides the island, and which now is sunk in poverty.

There is a growing feeling that the Dominican dictatorship may be drawing to a close. Yet, Castro, its enemy, may help to perpetuate it for a time. Landowners and other conservative Dominican groups have watched events in Cuba and are not anxious to see them duplicated in their country.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

When they brought in a gusher on his land, an elderly Indian in Oklahoma became a millionaire overnight, and immediately bought the most expensive automobile for sale in Tulsa. A few days later he limped back into the dealer's showroom, his face and hands covered with bruises and bandages. He wanted to buy another of those cars, he explained. "What happened to the other one?" gasped the dealer.

"Me drive him fine," explained the Indian. "Buy gallon white mule likker. Take coupla drinks. Step on gas. Trees and fences go by heap fast. Pretty soon see big bridge coming down road. Turn out to let big bridge pass. Splash! Car gone! I wan' another."

One of America's great real estate salesmen clinched the sale of a 10-acre estate in Springfield with this ingenious pitch: "Just think, Mr. Eustis, there are exactly ten different Springfields in the United States. They are stretched from Massachusetts to Oregon; from Minnesota to Florida. Relatives seeking to graft weekends will never even be able to find you!"

STIRS CONTROVERSY

A Church of England official has ruled that this statue of Christ isn't welcome—even as a gift. The 11-foot, sixton statue, by sculptor Sir Jacob Epstein, 79, is titled "Ecce Homo," Latin for "Behond the Man." The vicar of Britain's Selby Abbey asked Epstein to leave his statue to the abbey in his will. The sculptor offered it as a gift. And a storm of criticism followed. It now appears that the statue is without a home.

Church Slates First Service In Shady Lot

Three months of hard work and preparation will be climaxed tomorrow when the congregation of the new Southern Baptist Church of the San Geronimo Valley holds its first service in a shaded lot in Woodacre.

Site of that initial worship will be the lot on Castle Rock avenue behind the Marin County Fire Department's headquarters.

Services will continue to be conducted there until the congregation can locate a suitable building.

Heads San Geronimo Church

Sunday school will be held at 9:45 a.m. for classes of all ages with a nursery in a nearby home. The worship service will begin at 11 a.m. Time and place of an evening Bible study will be announced Sunday morning.

Youth Group Leaders Pay Novato Teen-Agers Visit

Three teen-agers of the Walther League, international youth group of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, will meet at 7 p.m., Aug. 1, with the Walther League and confirmation class at Grace Lutheran Church, 1787 Grant avenue, Novato.

They are James Haner of St. John's College, Winfield, Kans.; Bertha Spannaus of Valparaiso University, Valparaiso, Ind., and Jeanne Freudenberger of the University of Oklahoma, Norman, Okla., all trained to assist in analysis of local youth programs.

One of the group will participate in 8:30 and 11 a.m. worship services the following morning and Sunday School at 9:45 a.m. Their visit will end with a family night box supper and program at 7 p.m. on Aug. 4.

Guest Preacher

With Rev. Roy W. Herndon, pastor, on vacation, Chaplain Henry Carson of Ft. Barry will occupy the pulpit at the Bethel Baptist Church in Novato this Sunday for both the 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. services.

Poll Says No On Mixed Marriages

Although a large majority of respondents to a race bias questionnaire filled out by Novato Presbyterian Church members professed willingness to mingle with Negroes in casual social relationships, there was more than four-to -one opposition to mixed marriages.

This was disclosed in final results of questions answered by 201 of the 400 congregation members, announced by Francis Kempton of the church's committee on social education and action.

Dr. Edward L. Kessel, chairman of the committee which sent out and tabulated the questionnaires, said members answering "yes" in opposition to mixed marriages have "lined themselves up as opposed to God's nondiscriminating stand."

Questions in the final portion of the survey and how they were answered are as follows:

Would you willingly sit next to a Negro in public? 172 yes, 24 no.

Would you willingly shake hands with a Negro in public? 180 yes, 14 no.

Would you be embarrassed to be seen taking a Sunday afternoon drive in your community with a Negro family in their car? 80 yes, 101 no.

Would you be reluctant to have Negroes in your home as guests? 77 yes, 113 no.

Would you willingly have Negroes in your home as guests if this fact would be obvious to your neighbors? 120 yes, 59 no.

Have you ever had Negroes in your home as guests? 52 yes, 155 no.

Have you ever been entertained in the home of Negroes? 41 yes, 155 no.

Would you consider membership in the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People? 47 yes, 124 no.

Would you be willing to attend a social dinner at a public eating place when the party included both Negroes and other caucasians? 162 yes, 31 no.

Would you be willing to attend a social dinner at a public eating place if you were the only caucasian with a party of Negroes? 82 yes, 96 no.

As a single person, would you accept a date with a Negro of the opposite sex? 27 yes, 161 no.

Would you be more inclined to associate with a Negro couple than with a mixed couple having one party Negro and the other caucasian? 56 yes, 113 no.

Are you opposed to marriages between causacians and persons of obvious Negro ancestry? 159 yes, 38 no.

Are you opposed to marriages between caucasians and persons of known Negro ancestry who do not show their Negro heritage? 134 yes, 57 no.

Would your feeling change toward a close friend you had supposed to be caucasian if you learned that he had some Negro ancestry? 19 yes, 171 no.

Dr. Kessel said the results "indicate that many of our Christian citizens are, in some situations, ruled more by their racial prejudices than by logic or a desire to follow the teachings of Christ in their attitudes toward other men."

Interracial marriage, said Dr. Kessel, "is certainly not a sin when one recognizes that God considers all races to be equal."

The over-all results of the survey, Kessel said, show strong support for a permanent official commission on civil rights for Marin County and good acceptance of racial equality in the areas of church fellowship, employment and education.

The council meeting opens Monday and continues through Aug. 6.

Dr. Gill left San Anselmo last Sunday, planning to make brief stops in several South American cities before attending the council.

Dr. Gill was nominated as a delegate to the council by the Commission on Ecumenical Missions and Relations of the United Presbyterian Church in the USA.

Lutherans To Dedicate New Building

Peace Lutheran Church of Mill Valley will dedicate its new Christian education and activity building tomorrow at 9:45 a.m.

The building is located on Highway 1 between Mill Valley and Sausalito.

Rites tomorrow will mark the climax of three years of planning and work by the congregation.

Services will be highlighted by the opening of the doors by Arthur Strassburger, congregation president. Leaders of the various congregational agencies will then enter followed by the congregation.

Builder Harold Camping will turn over the keys to Russell Brown, building plans chairman, who will in turn present them to Rev. Robert K. Menzel, pastor.

Children will sing and the pastor will speak on "A word About Stones."

At 11 a.m. a service of praise will be held in the parish hall-chapel and will be followed by refreshments in the new building.

Parents and Sunday school children are seeking to raise more than $2,000 dedication day for purchase of needed folding partitions.

'THAT WAS A BIG WIN'- RIGNEY

Another Cliff-Hanger And Giants Increase N.L. Lead

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"That was a big one for us," declared San Francisco Manager Bill Rigney as his Giants rescued another cliff hanger to go 2½ games in front of the National League race.

The going was tough in last night's see-saw battle with the Chicago Cubs before Jimmy Davenport singled home Hobie Landrith in the last of the 10th inning for a 6-5 victory.

Coupled with the St. Louis victory over Los Angeles, the victory boosted the league lead of the transplanted New Yorkers. Ever since they came west they've been playing these cliff hangers, where you don't know what's going to happen until the last minute.

"That was the biggest one I've had in quite a while," declared third baseman Davenport of his winning hit off Don Elston, the Cubs' reliever. "He threw one a little low and inside, either a slider or a fast ball, it's hard to tell which."

The Cubs may be without the services of their star shortstop Ernie Banks today. He was spiked by Jackie Brandt in a play at second in the first inning last night and forced to leave the game in the next frame because of a cut on his left big toe.

Three home runs sparked the early action in the 3 hours and 46-minute contest before a full house of 22,865 fans.

The Giants scored single runs in the third and fourth. The first came as starting pitcher Johnny Antonelli singled home Hobie Landrith and the second when Landrith singled to score Orlando Cepeda.

Chicago went ahead 3-2 in the top of the fifth. Bobby Thomson homered to start the frame. Then Earl Averill walked and George Altman doubled him to third. Both scored when Landrith threw into left field trying a pickoff at third base. Before the inning was over, Antonelli was on his way to the showers but there was no more scoring.

BRANDT HOMERS

Brandt homered in the fifth and Davenport scored after his double and a single by Daryl Spencer. In the sixth Averill hit a two-run homer.

That's how things stood until the eighth when pinch hit singles by Leon Wagner and Willie Mays plus another by Brandt brought in the tying run. Mays had been sitting the game out because of a stiff neck.

Elston struck out the side in the ninth, but in the 10th he walked Landrith to open the inning. Danny O'Connell laid down a perfect sacrifice bunt and Mays was purposely walked. Brandt fanned but Davenport came through with the game-winning line drive single.

MARIN HUNTER, 73, GETS SEASON'S FIRST BUCK

Fred Hogeboom, 73-year-old retired San Quentin Prison correctional officer, started the deer season which opened this morning with a bang—and that bang from his rifle made what is believed to be the first deer kill in Marin County.

The resident of San Quentin Village, hunting with his stepson, Elmo Finnerty, felled a 135-pound, forked horn buck at approximately 6:15 a.m. at Greenbrae Hill, behind the prison. Finnerty had the first shot at the buck, but missed. Then Hogeboom felled the animal with a single shot through the neck from 100 yards.

It was the first deer kill reported to the Independent-Journal this morning.

Johnson To Meet Miteff August 14

LOUISVILLE (UPI) — Alonzo Johnson, a young man from Pennsylvania who cut his eye teeth on a ring rope, today was ready to take on Argentine heavyweight Alex Miteff after spoiling Willie Pastrano's comeback hopes by an unanimous decision.

Subbing for Miteff, the former barber from Braddock, Pa., stalked the Miami, Fla., boxer for most of the 10 rounds last night and rang up an impressive, if close, decision by shrugging off Pastrano's fast punching.

Neither fighter was ever down in the nationally-televised bout.

The win by the better-conditioned Johnson, ranked seventh by the NBA, was his 13th straight and ran his record to 18-1. For Pastrano, now ranked eighth by Ring Magazine, it was another disappointment in his comeback attempts.

Johnson, a fixture in gyms at the tender age of 12 but who didn't get serious about swapping leather until his early teens, will meet Miteff in New York's Madison Square Garden, Aug. 14.

Norton will be a senior this fall. "He's tough and fast," Titchenal said. "All he needs is experience."

Services Today For Coach Tatum

Tatum, 46, who was named Coach of the Year in 1953 while at the University of Maryland, died here Thursday night of a virus infection.

His wife, Edna, hospitalized with the same type of virus which claimed her husband, was not expected to attend the services.

The Chapel Hill Methodist Church was the scene of the services for the 240-pound Tatum, one of the nation's most successful coaches.

Tatum, who had hoped this season might be "my best ever," died from a virus attack that overwhelmed his vital organs. He entered the hospital last Saturday.

Sports Shop Wins Li'l Loop Playoff

Paul Giampoli's three-run homer and Mark Maas' three-hit, 13-strikeout pitching led the Taveggia-Brusati Sports Shop team to a 4-3 victory over Cerutti Brothers last night in the San Rafael American Little League. The win clinched the league's second half championship for T and B. The Cerutti team won the first half championship, so now the co-champs will meet in a best-of-4-three-game series for the undisputed title.

Mrs. Moore Okay; Archie To Resume Title Go Drills

Moore was assured yesterday that his wife, Joan, was recovering satisfactorily from an operation last Monday for removal of a non-malignant growth.

"I spoke to Joan for the first time," Moore said yesterday, "and she's okay now."

The fight was originally scheduled for July 15 and was first set back to July 29 when Moore suffered a bruised heel.

Chisox Have Edge In Pennant Chase

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

If the American League race is going to wind up in one of those close shaves, look for the White Sox to win it by a whisker.

That's how they've been winning all along.

There's an old baseball adage which says the team that wins the one-run games usually cops the pennant. And if that's the case, get ready to mail those World Series ticket orders in care of Comiskey Park.

Al Lopez' crew scored their 22nd one-run victory of the season by shading the Baltimore Orioles, 2-1, last night to remain in first place by half a game over the second-place Cleveland Indians.

It marked the 27th time this year the light-hitting White Sox were involved in a one-run game and of all those contests, they have been on the short end in only five of them.

Cleveland licked Washington, 5-2; Detroit beat New York, 4-2, and Kansas City won its fifth straight game by defeating Boston, 3-1.

In the National League, the Giants increased their lead to 2½ games by beating the Cubs, 6-5, in 10 innings; the Cardinals nipped the Dodgers, 2-1; the Braves blanked the Pirates, 8-0, and the Phillies edged the Reds, 2-1.

YANKEE-KILLER

Southpaw Don Mossi of the Tigers beat the Yankees for the fifth straight time while dropping the world champions below the .500 mark again, eight games off the pace.

Johnny Kucks scattered nine hits in stopping the Red Sox and pitching the A's to their ninth victory in 11 games. Big Frank Sullivan started for Boston and yielded all of Kansas City's runs during the 5⅓ innings he worked, including a homer by Dick Williams in the fifth. Kucks is now 4-6 and Sullivan 6-6.

PODRES BEATEN

Johnny Podres of the Dodgers was sailing along with a 1-0 lead when the Cardinals chased him and won the game with two runs in the eighth. Singles by Don Blasingame, Alex Grammas, Bill White and Gino Cimoli combined to hand Podres his seventh loss. Ernie Broglio gained his fifth victory although Lindy McDaniel pitched the last two innings and held Los Angeles hitless.

Southpaw Juan Pizarro struck out 12 Pittsburgh batters and pitched a four-hitter in leading Milwaukee to victory. Joe Adcock belted a two-run homer off loser Harvey Haddix in the first inning, then drove in another run in a four-run fifth inning rally.

A two-run pinch homer by Carl Sawatski in the ninth brought the Phillies their victory over the Reds.

ALMANAC

Today is Saturday, July 25, the 206th day of the year, with 159 more days to follow in 1959.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The evening stars are Jupiter, Saturn, Venus, and Mars.

On this date in history:

In 1866, Ulysses S. Grant became the first American officer to receive the rank of general of the United States Army.

In 1878, the first Chinese diplomatic mission to the U. S. arrived in Washington.

In 1909, a French pilot landed in Dover, England, and was believed the first visitor to set foot in England who did not come by water.

In 1934, Austrian Chancellor Engelberg Dollfuss was assassinated by Adolf Hitler's Nazi black guards.

In 1943, Dictator Benito Mussolini refused to sign a letter of resignation and was immediately taken into custody by Italian troops.

In 1956, shortly before midnight the luxury liners Andrea Doria and the Stockholm collided 45 miles off Nantucket.

Gate Tickets Are Extended

Current commutation ticket books will be good for passage over the Golden Gate Bridge through Sept. 10 as result of anguished motorists' protests and a decision in Santa Rosa yesterday by the district board.

The new commutation system effective July 1 provided for an over-all time limit of two consecutive calendar months for 52 rides, 12 rides more than the former books. Users complained that this was an unreasonable situation with a chance that some tickets would be wasted, also that car pools are handicapped by non-transferability of books.

So the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District board voted to extend the time for use of tickets through the tenth day of the third month after purchase. Nothing was done, however, about the no-transfer feature.

The board was told ticket sales were up 10 per cent this month.

dates," DeLasaux said that route study is to be completed by Oct. 1. Complete plans should be ready by May 1, 1960, he declared.

"You must have the route ready right now!" exclaimed Fusselman. "I never saw that kind of speed."

"No, we have some ideas, but they aren't final," said Hoover. "I think there can be reasonable selection of route by then—it will be open to modification right up to final construction."

Asked Fusselman, "Have you arrived at a way of crossing the Golden Gate yet?"

Hoover said negotiations have been in progress with the Golden Gate Bridge District, which has set up certain requirements to be met in asking a right-of-way over the bridge.

"The committee was most cooperative," DeLasaux put in. "With the present board I think you'll find that we'll run into no obstacles."

"If you do not come to a final definite agreement with the bridge directors your time schedule is going to be out of kilter," said Fusselman. "It might have an effect on your bond issue. If there's conflict, you'll never carry the bond issue."

Financing cannot yet be closely estimated, Hoover said, partly because "we don't know enough about financial return to see how much may be self-supporting. Anything to reduce the general bonding would make it more palatable to everybody."

Novato 4-H Girl's Lamb Attract's High Fair Bid

Other Marin 4-H youngsters walking off with honors from the fair were Martin Baccaglio, Jone Young, Michael Cullins, Mary Linda Baccaglio, Linda Wright, John Pronzini, Sandra Pronzini, Terry Tomasini and Frank Smaw. All are from Novato except Tomasini, who is from Nicasio.

Joan's lamb brought a bid of $1.25 a pound, second highest of the day, from Al Tomasini who bought the animal for the Novato branch of the First National Bank. Highest price of the fair thus far went to Tom Stammer, Future Farmer from Sebastopol, whose lamb brought $1.60 a pound.

Selling crossbred Yorkshire and Duroc hogs at the auction were Jone Young, Michael Cullins, Mary Linda Baccaglio and Linda Wright.

John's score for the fair was two first, three second and two third place ribbons.

Better Not To Force Son To Play In Little League If He Refuses

Mrs. F. N. "My husband was a baseball star in college. Our son did not inherit his talents. The boy was on a Little League team this spring and worked himself sick trying to make good. He had bad dreams at night. Sometimes after a game he couldn't keep his dinner down. He was the worst player on the team, and he knew it. He has begged us not to make him play in the Little League next year. What should we do?"

Reply. Don't make him play. Little League is good for many boys. It is a nightmare for others. Only harm comes when those who lack ability are forced into it. Let your son find his own sports interests. He needs things in which he can succeed. Don't push him into more failure. In the future he should take part in competitive games only when he wants to.

Mrs. L. S. "We're getting our daughter some new clothes for school. She's a junior in high school. Wouldn't it save time, trouble and money if the schools returned to the simplified or uniform dress regulations they had years ago? Would many oppose the return?"

Reply. Yes, many people would. Most of our teachers and school administrators are opposed to uniform dress regulations. They remember the struggles they had enforcing the rules. They became policemen, not teachers. I suggest you discuss this with your principal.

Mrs. R.D. "I'm flying across country next week with our 18-month-old baby. How can I prepare her for the trip? Is air travel really easier for children than surface travel?"

Reply. It is easier because it is quicker. Help her get used to safety belts by playing games with a belt and a chair at home. Take along her favorite playthings. Explain ahead of time what will happen. Then she won't be so frightened. Many airlines let passengers with babies get on the planes first. Ask about it. The stewardesses will help you. They're used to little ones. Chances are your girl will have a wonderful trip.

Error In Polio Clinic News Story Pays Off

On Wednesday the I-J explained that the clinic had been planned for next Tuesday but due to the error one would be held Wednesday night, in order not to disappoint anyone. Another clinic will be held Tuesday, as planned, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Figures compiled by Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, show that a total of 222 injections were administered at the hurry-up Wednesday clinic—159 to persons 20 years of age or older, 46 to those between five and 19 years, and 17 to youngsters of four or younger.

JAPANESE FASHION MODEL WINS MISS UNIVERSE TITLE

LONG BEACH (UPI) — A classic Japanese beauty, whose sole ambition is "to make a lovely wife," today wore the crown of Miss Universe — the first Asian winner in the pageant's eight-year history.

She has black hair and eyes, stands five feet, six inches tall, weighs 120 pounds, and measures 37-23-38.

Runnersup, in order, were:

Miss Norway, Jorunn Kristiansen, 18; Miss United States, Terry Lynn Huntingdon, 19; Miss England, Pamela Ann Searle, 21, and Miss Brazil, Vera Ribeiro, 19.

Kayo Claims His Accusers Resorting To Falsehoods

"Falsehoods and perjury" by his accusers have been charged by Terrance (Kayo) Hallinan in a petition to Marin Superior Court seeking revelation of statements to Marin authorities by James Thalhamer Jr. and others concerning a Hallinan-Thalhamer conflict in Greenbrae May 29.

Young Hallinan says that during the affair "I did nothing illegal and was not only justified but required to prevent an illegal assault upon Dick Llewellyn."

OFFICIALS NAMED

Authorities alleged as having information to support this, in contrast with information later given to a grand jury and in depositions, are Chief Howard Clark of the Larkspur police, W. O. Weissich, Marin County district attorney, Inspector Donald E. Midyett, and Sheriff Louis Mountanos of Marin County.

Hallinan, 22-year-old University of California student living in Ross and son of Attorney Vincent Hallinan, is scheduled for Marin County trial Sept. 1 on a charge of felonious assault on Thalhamer, an 18-year-old Fairfax high school student.

As result of one punch at the Greenbrae bowling alley Thalhamer suffered a broken jaw but Hallinan's petition contends that accounts of the affair have not only differed as between Thalhamer and Hallinan but also between what Thalhamer and his companions told Marin authorities soon afterward and what they later said before the grand jury and in depositions.

Hallinan's petition gives his own side of the story, which he claims would be supported by revelation of statements made to Marin authorities by Thalhamer, Adelbert Smith and Thalhamer's brother George. These statements, says the petition, "will serve to disclose the falsehood and perjury of their testimony both before the grand jury and in depositions."

As background of the May 29 event, Hallinan in his petition contends that his companion Llewellyn, while a resident in 1957 at the Sunny Hills orphanage, had defended a smaller boy against bullying by Smith and a companion with the result that Llewellyn struck Smith.

As result of consequent "ill will" by Smith against Llewellyn, Thalhamer in company of Smith is alleged by Hallinan to have threatened Llewellyn. When Hallinan stepped in, he says, seeking to make peace, Thalhamer "drew his fist back with the obvious intention of striking me. . . . Given less than a second to estimate what to do, I struck out in self-defense and hit him in the face, using no more force than was necessary to protect myself and to prevent him from first striking me."

Subsequently, says Hallinan, the Thalhamers and their parents "conspired to misrepresent the incident," to conceal the motive, to make Hallinan's attack seem unwarranted, "to stir up public hatred" and to "extort an unconscionable sum" ($220,000 damages has been asked).

2 APARTMENT BUILDINGS AUTHORIZED

Permits were issued last week for $471,395 in new construction in unincorporated Marin County.

The permits included those for two apartment buildings of six units each on Leafwood drive, Novato, of Kaehler Construction Co.; a $5,200 stable for Dr. Kirk D. Garretson of 255 Van Winkle drive, Sleepy Hollow; 20 new dwellings and eight swimming pools.

Martinez Bridge Bids Favorable

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown announced yesterday favorable construction bids on the Benicia Martinez Bridge will make it possible to build the whole project at once.

To Review Reports

The Tiburon Sanitary District directors will review engineering reports on the proposed admission of the Hilarita Housing Project into the district at its meeting Aug. 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the Tiburon boulevard district offices, according to secretary Robert A. Sterling.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Hurt Scout Rescued

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Rescue squads carried a 16-year-old Explorer Scout, William MacDonald of Denver, to safety yesterday after he had been burned and knocked unconscious by a lightning bolt on 13,000-foot Pawnee Pass west of Boulder.

Demo Peace Reigns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler was reported today to have assured Democratic congressional leaders that he was not engaging in a personal feud with them.

He offered an olive branch in an hour-long talk yesterday with Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson. Those two were the unmistakeable if unnamed targets of his recent prodding of the Democratic-controlled Congress.

Rayburn described the discussion as "a very friendly conversation" in which all three agreed that none of them is trying to divide the party.

Kidnap Story Hoax

CHICAGO, Ill. (UPI) — New Jersey socialite Jacqueline Gay Hart, her tale of a cross-country kidnapping an admitted hoax, went into hiding today.

The blonde, 21-year-old beauty confessed yesterday she made up the dramatic details of her abduction from a Newark, N.J., airport and the forced auto ride to Chicago's lakefront Grant Park.

She then went into seclusion, leaving unanswered many key questions.

Long, Truman Talk

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., (UPI)— Louisiana's vacationing Gov. Earl Long confers with former President Truman today about the prospects of a Symington-Kennedy Democratic ticket for 1960.

Long arrived in nearby Kansas City early today, nearing the last leg of a whirlwind vacation trip that took him through Texas and Colorado before arriving here. Long said he had several political issues to talk over with Truman and especially wanted to sound out the former chief executive on presidential candidates.

Water Meet Slated

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — State director of water resources Harvey O. Banks will call a statewide conference "within two months" on water shortage threats to some areas of California.

Horse Bill Backed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House judiciary subcommittee yesterday approved a bill prohibiting mechanized roundups of wild horses on public lands in the western states.

French Hit Algerians

ALGIERS (UPI) — A huge French task force drew first blood today in its drive against a major Algerian rebel base in the rugged Kabyllia Mountains 60 miles east of here.

"Several dozen" rebels were reported killed, wounded and captured as advance patrols of the French force caught up with and battled isolated units from the main body of the 5,000-man nationalist shadow army.

Strike Idles 578,000

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — The number of workers idled by the 11-day-old nationwide steel strike has reached 578,000.

Approximately 500,000 of these are United Steelworkers who struck the basic steel industry at midnight July 14.

The other 78,000 are employes in allied industries that have been forced to curtail operations because of the strike.

Trapped Cons Safe

SUSANVILLE — Twenty trapped convicts had to be rescued and all logging operations were halted in one national forest because of an outbreak of lightning-set forest fires.

Today planes and men still battled fires in Amador and Lassen counties.

One in Amador, 22 miles east of the Mother Lode town of Jackson, trapped 20 Folsom prison convicts for two hours yesterday. The convicts from the Folsom Vallecito Honor Camp had to take refuge in a circle created by tanks of borate solution dropped from four planes, rushed to the scene from Sonora. Then other ground crewmen made an escape path.

X15 Passes Test

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, (AP) — The Air Force reports the X15 rocket plane passed its final test yesterday and is ready for its first powered flight — possibly within the next two weeks.

The black, missile-like craft was filled with tons of fuel on a captive flight yesterday. The 70-minute test was designed to check how fast the plane could jettison its 18,000-pound fuel load and its characteristics at its gross weight of 32,000 pounds. The flight was made with the X15 hanging beneath the wing of a big B 52 jet bomber.

Liberace Rift Ends

George, the violinist, and Lee, the piano-playing fellow with the candelabrum, publicly patched up their rift over dinner Thursday night at the hotel where George and his orchestra play.

Goldfine Faces Quiz

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Bernard Goldfine, handed a suspended sentence on contempt of Congress charges, today faced the prospect of another appearance before House investigators.

The gift-giving Boston textile tycoon indicated that this time he would be "very pleased" to answer the 18 questions which led to the contempt charge.

JUST DON'T KNOCK CABLE CARS, KOZLOV

"It is dirty and the air is bad," he told American newsmen today while awaiting a visit from Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

FCC Orders Interstate Phone Rate Cut

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A federal agency has issued an order calculated to save Americans 50 million dollars in long distance telephone charges each year.

The Federal Communications Commission late yesterday ordered the Bell Telephone System to reduce its rates by this amount on calls of more than 300 miles in distance.

However, the order affects only telephone calls between states.

The FCC said specific rates would be announced in the near future and would be in effect about mid-September of this year.

Incorporation Foes Meet In Novato

A property owners' meeting has been scheduled for 8 tonight to protest the proposed incorporation of Novato.

The meeting will be held at the home of Henry Lautrup, 1530 Armstrong avenue.

In a circular that has been distributed in the area, it is claimed that the number of property owners opposing incorporation equal those who signed the petitions asked for an incorporation election.

Three Sentenced For Drunk Driving

Three drunken drivers were sentenced Thursday in Marin Municipal Court by Judge Harold J. Haley.

Edward B. Newman, 31, of C-17, Hilarita Housing, Tiburon, must spend five days in jail and pay a $250 fine for drunken driving on Tiburon road last May 29. He had a prior conviction in December of 1952. Newman works for a publishing firm.

A 19-year-old sailor, Raymond Dennis Crews of 68 Greenbrae Boardwalk, paid a $250 fine for drunken driving in Larkspur last Saturday. Larkspur police caught him at Sir Francis Drake boulevard near Highway 101. The young sailor must also spend five days in jail for reckless driving.

Martin Francis Tarpey Jr., 39, of San Rafael, who works in a car lot, drew one year probation and a $250 fine. His license is suspended for 90 days. Tarpey was caught at Third street and Tamalpais avenue in San Rafael on July 14.

Richmond Tries New Safety Plan

RICHMOND (UPI)—The Richmond Civic Center Safety Committee has a new way to promote safe working conditions in and around civic center buildings.

Before each meeting, committee members tour the buildings and pick up printed forms that have been given to workers earlier. The forms provide space for the worker to list hazards in his area.

When the meeting begins, committee members have specific tasks before them.

168 BILLS VETOED

Governor Lauds Record Compiled By Legislature

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown laid aside his bill-signing pen today to praise the 1959 Legislature for a "memorable record of new and valuable legislation."

"Seldom in the history of California or any other state has a Legislature compiled such a fine record of service to the people," Brown said in a statement.

ACTION COMPLETED

The governor yesterday completed action on the 2,363 measures sent him by the Legislature which adjourned June 10. He signed 2,195 bills and vetoed 168.

Most of the veto announcement — 125 — came yesterday, last day in the 30-day bill-signing period.

The totals fall short of any record.

"This Legislature passed fewer bills than its predecessor," Brown noted, "but I think it leaves a far more memorable record of new and valuable legislation behind it."

PRECEDENT SET

Brown pointed to precedent he set in issuing statements on each bill acted upon.

The statements came fast and furious yesterday as he acted on more than 130 measures, among them proposals to wipe out the crime of vagrancy and to give the Senate the right to confirm all of his major appointments.

He said he vetoed the vagrancy bill because it removed police control from certain dangerous conduct, although he said the legislation had a laudable purpose.

Brown refused to sign the confirmation measure, he said, because it would weaken executive power.

The governor had acted on most major legislation before yesterday's deadline, including a 2¼ billion-dollar state budget, 220 million in new taxes, higher worker benefits, fair employment practices, a proposed bond issue for statewide water development and other new programs.

Other measures he vetoed yesterday included:

ASSEMBLY BILLS:

Required arrested persons to be booked within three hours or be released from custody.

Allowed unrestricted issuance of beer and wine licenses to bona fide public eating places.

Increased time pupils could be expelled from school from two weeks to 50 days.

SENATE BILLS:

Increased state subventions to local agencies for community mental health services.

Nixon vs. Khrushchev On TV Tomorrow

The Nixon-Khrushchev talks in Moscow, taken on video tape, will be beamed over television channel 4 tomorrow night at 7, KRON-TV has announced.

Mono Street Ark Dwellers' Deadline Near

Four ark dwellers on Sausalito's underwater Mono street have until midnight tonight to vacate their houseboats under a ruling handed down by Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court yesterday.

The judge yesterday turned down the ark owners' latest plea for a writ of mandamus, which would have forced the city of Sausalito to allow the ark owners to tie up to the city sewer lines. Ted Rosenak, attorney for the ark dwellers, argued that the ark owners want to tie up to city lines, but that the city will not permit it.

City Atty. John Ehlen contends that the arks are on city property, and the city cannot permit them to tie onto city lines while the houseboats are encroaching on city land.

If the ark owners fail to move out by tonight, the city will probably seek a contempt of court proceeding against the residents.

Insurance Agents Elect President

George Hall of Novato has been named president of the North Marin Assn. of Insurance Agents, succeeding Donal Swan.

Other new officers are David Fredenberg, vice president, and Paul Terry, secretary. Terms of office will expire July 1, 1960.

Sewer Defects Claimed In Harbor Point Project

Marin County and the developers of Harbor Point Subdivision 1 in southern Marin went to court yesterday, seeking almost $20,000 damages for alleged defects in the subdivision's sewer facilities.

The county and Marin Land Co. are suing Richardson Bay Sanitary District; Charles O. Prince, doing business as Morrow Underground Construction Co.; and several other defendants including the sanitary district engineer.

According to the suit, the county paid Prince and Morrow Underground Construction Co. for completing the sewer jobs in 1957, after engineers J. C. Oglesby, J. Warren Nute, and the sanitary district certified that the lines were in order.

But in June of 1957, Nute served notice that the sewer lines had been damaged by other contractors during installation of other improvements.

The county alleges that the Marin Land Co. had to make the repairs at a cost of about $20,000. The county and the land company are suing for damages in Marin Superior Court.

Among the defendants named are Prince and his construction firm; Action Electric Co. Inc., which put in electrical lines; Associated Pipe Line Inc.; and Pacific Gas and Electric, which installed gas lines.

MUSCLE AND balance are needed to propell logs around timber pond at Cloverdale. Logging is Redwood Empire's industry and building is Marin's number one industry. Thus the two are closely linked, and the steps of the process from tall timber to redwood planked Marin houses are complicated and interesting.

COFFEEBERRY (Rhamnus californica) — The Coffeeberry is a common evergreen shrub of the Coast Ranges. It usually grows from 4 to 6 ft. tall. Its leaves, from ½ to 1 in. wide, vary with the location. They are small and thick in dry habitats, and large and thin in moist, shady situations. Its small greenish flowers are inconspicuous. The ¼ to ⅜ inch berries turn from green to red to black as they ripen. (From "Out-of-Doors in Marin, copyright M. F. Austin.)

MARIN ET CETERA

By Harry Craft

Underwater Picture Window Used To Spot Swim Flaws

"Watching a swimmer from above the water is like looking at an iceberg—you only see the smallest part. The most important swimming action takes place beneath the surface."

So saith Ann Curtis Cuneo from whose submarine observation room I was able to view under water the disporting of mermaids, without benefit of diving gear, holding my nose or even getting my hair wet.

This low level observatory at the former Olympic champion's swimming school out Las Gallinas way is a sort of cross between the sponsor's booth in a broadcasting studio and a front row seat at the aquarium, where performers blow bubbles and make faces at you through the glass. It is part of the school's unique equipment for detecting and correcting flaws in the modus operandi of would-be Weismullers and Curtises.

Located below the ground and immediately adjacent to the deeper stem section of the "T" built pool it is about the size of a large walk-in clothes closet. Its outlook commands a generous expanse of underwater action from bottom to surface.

In this observation post I came to the conclusion that humans are not nearly as far removed from their piscatorial origin as they imagine. Deprived of fins, tails and gills by a process of evolution, they still retain a few of the characteristics of live mackerel—undulence, specific gravity and fishy-eyed stares.

Youngsters cavorted past me like oversize guppies in a goldfish bowl. It is fortunate, I thought, that man's submersion is limited by the length of time he can hold his breath. Otherwise, a few generations hence might find some of our species returning to the element from which it is said life began.

Teaching people to use inherent talents is one of the purposes of the Ann Curtis School of Swimming. While children are numerous among the pupils and adapt themselves naturally I was surprised to learn that not a few adults are learning for the first time to break the water barrier.

Many of them are folks whose early dunkings resulted in fear complexes through an unfortunate experience. Their treatment is mainly psychological and requires great patience. Biggest bugaboo is the fear of deep water. They may swim calmly and comfortably at chest depth but put them where soundings are six feet or more and they panic.

To allay the fears of the timorous and the short-winded until they develop confidence and endurance a large part of the Curtis pool was constructed so that they may reach bottom and surface simultaneously if need be, and still have a respectable length course to paddle from shore to shore.

Among children, says Ann Curtis, girls are quicker to attain perfection of stroke. Boys are generally less concerned with grace of movement, more apt to get sidetracked in horseplay and water buffoonery, until they engage in competitive swimming and learn the value of smoothness, posture and timing.

Ann has four children of her own. All of them, except David who is only 3 months old, are excellent swimmers. From what I gather they grew up in the water from the time they were two years old. Carol, 7, and Sue, 4½, performed for us like water nymphs before our underwater viewing screen. At that age I was on a diet of waterwings and wading pools.

"You've trained them well," I commented.

"Who did, then?"

MANY TWINNED THINGS

Many twinned things are fair to see,
When standing in columnal wise,
A tree near an adjacent tree,
Doric pillars beneath the skies.

In khaki, jeans or business suits,
Crowned by a sturdy trunk above,
Below them sandals, shoes or boots,
Idling, braced to lift or shove,

What is more vital to the gaze
Than the rocky, up-and-standing span,
Among earth's multifarious ways,
Of the two legs of a stalwart man?

SUMMER COMPLAINT

Other motorists don't scare me much,
Not even when they signal wrong, or lamely;
And I'm not worried about trucks and such;
I stop, or duck, or swerve, then proceed gamely.

Yet all in all, I feel no keen dislike.
But I would sooner meet with Beelzebub

His Nine Years' Work A Milestone

Pastor Leaves Marin A Church As He Steps To Executive Post

By LARRY LOVETTE

The Rev. Robert K. Menzel, 40-year-old pastor of Peace Lutheran Church at Tennessee Valley Road and Highway 1 near Tamalpais Valley, is a man of tremendous energy and determination. He has been the guiding light in the tremendous growth of his church from a non-existent congregation in 1950 to its present adult membership of 250.

Much has transpired in the intervening years.

But as is the case with successful young executives in private industry, the Rev. Menzel has been "kicked upstairs" to an executive position at the Concordia Lutheran College in Portland, Ore., and next Sunday he will deliver his farewell sermon.

BORN IN RENO, Nevada in 1919, he comes from solid Lutheran stock. His father was a Lutheran "circuit rider," covering the miles of the Nevada wastelands as he carried the Word of God from settlement to setllement.

When he was still an infant, his parents moved to California, settling near Fairfield, where young Menzel was graduated from Green Valley school. Then the family moved to the East Bay, where he attended high school at the Lutheran Concordia College not far from Mills College in East Oakland.

It was while attending Concordia that he first met John Ehlen, Sausalito city attorney, who at the time was also studying for the ministry. Ehlen is now one of the church's parishioners.

"This was a critical time of my life," Rev. Menzel reflects. "When I graduated I decided to take time out to decide what I wanted to do in the future."

DURING THE SAME period, his family moved to the Santa Cruz area and young Menzel became in succession a plumber's helper, piano mover and salesman just long enough to become sure that his course was to follow his father's footsteps and become a minister.

"I entered the Lutheran Concordia Seminary in St. Louis and graduated in 1944," he recalls. "I was sent back to the Bay Area where I started a congregation among workers at the Hunters Point Naval Shipyard in San Francisco. We used a store building which had also been made available for American Legion meetings."

He recalls with a smile that a regular chore was Sunday morning clean up that often turned up some relics of a legion party the night before that would not have been fitting for a church service.

It was about this time, too, that Rev. Menzel met and married Clara Koenig whom he had met in St. Louis. The following year, Larry, the first of their children was born at their Santa Cruz home.

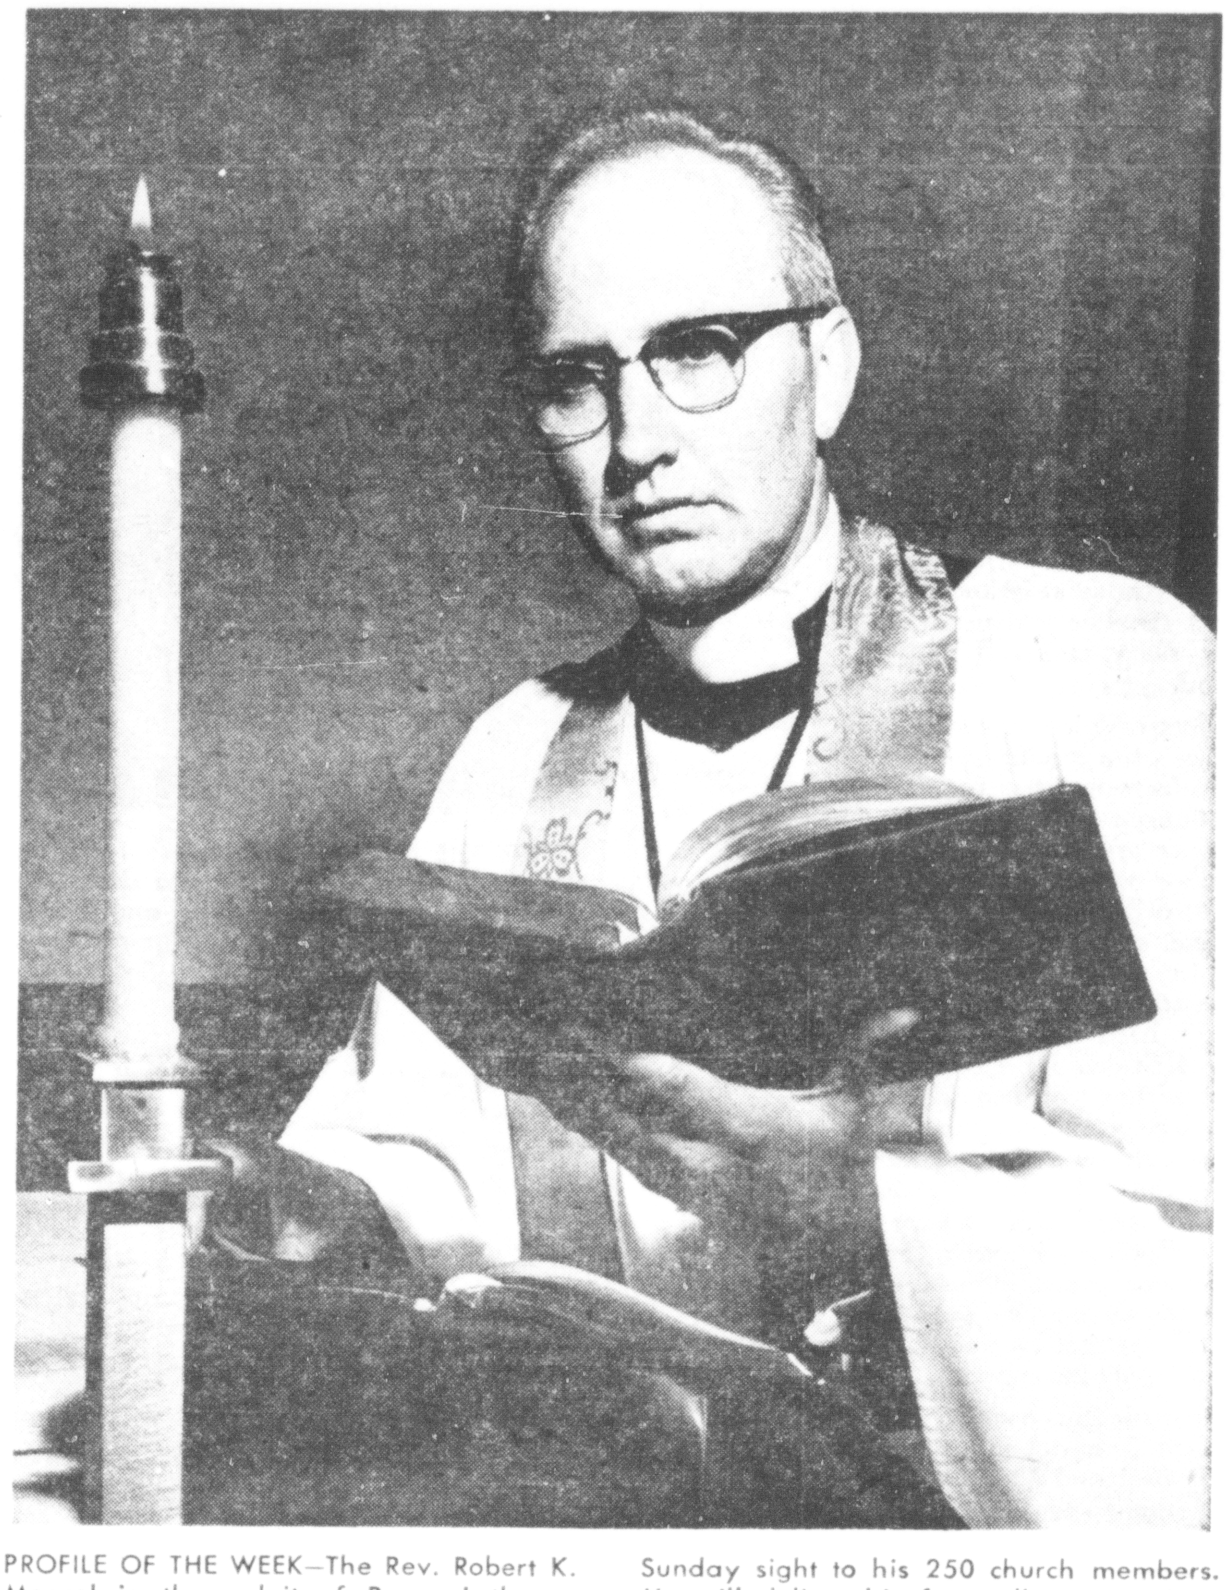
After a successful two years at Hunters Point, the Rev. Menzel and his family traveled south to Santa Maria where he was placed in charge of a small mission. During his four years there, he started a new mission at Lompoc. It was also in Santa Maria that their daughter Beth was born.

THEN IN 1950, he was returned to the bay area with instructions to found a new Lutheran church in southern Marin.

"There was no nucleus of any kind here," he said, "so I started by ringing doorbells until I had made 3,000 calls throughout southern Marin."

Within a month, the first service was conducted on June 11, 1950 in the library of the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley with 19 persons present.

The road was not easy. "Church organization in Marin is very difficult," he points out. "There is no cohesion — just scattered clusters of people plus the fact that the county has one of the lowest ratios of church membership to population in the state."



PROFILE OF THE WEEK—The Rev. Robert K. Menzel in the pulpit of Peace Lutheran Church near Tamalpais Valley is a familiar Sunday sight to his 250 church members. He will deliver his farewell sermon Aug. 2. (Independent-Journal photo).

BUT BY 1951, the church had become organized and purchased about five acres of land at its present site. Construction of a building was started almost immediately, with 47 members of the congregation supplying much of the labor. When the building was dedicated in November 1952, the congregation had 75 members.

The Menzel family had increased to five by this time with young Christopher being born at their Tamalpais Valley home.

It soon became apparent that the all-purpose structure was inadequate.

Accordingly, plans were started in mid-1956 for a second building which would be used for a Sunday School, Christian education and activity building, nursery and possibly a kindergarten, with facilities including a kitchen.

Following a fund campaign through 1958, ground was broken for the new structure last Jan. 11. Dedication is set for tomorrow.

The construction has been financed entirely by voluntary gifts.

"We feel that church support must come from a love of Christ," Rev. Menzel explains earnestly. "Each of our structures was built without aid from any kind of fund-raising drive—no tickets, sales, rummages or dinners."

"YOU KNOW," he says sagely, "you have to raise people before you can raise money."

Rev. Menzel is doubly proud of tomorrow's events since not only will the new building be dedicated but the original structure will be re-dedicated for church use exclusively.

"Until now," he notes, "we have had some 200 folding chairs for the congregation or Sunday school as the occasion warranted—a not very satisfactory arrangement. "But," he added, "through the help and cooperation of our good Presbyterian friends in Larkspur, we have these solid oak pews now which fit our needs perfectly."

HE NOTED that the Larkspur church was enlarging and had sold the pews. "And there wasn't a Sunday they were not in use," he said. "They were moved out of Larkspur on Monday and were in place here ready for a service the following Sunday."

The refurbished building also has carpeted aisles, a new pulpit, chancel and communion rail.

"And a mighty big addition will arrive in October when a new 14-rank classic organ, now being built in Germany, will be installed," he notes proudly.

During the recent Lutheran National Convention in San Francisco, the Rev. Menzel handled feature news coverage, continuing his public relations activity in the church which he has done since 1951.

His promotion first became known in May when he was notified that he was to join the faculty of the Lutheran Concordia College in Portland, Ore., occupying the chair of religion and history. In addition, he will also direct public relations for the seminary and be in charge of re-

NEW WING of the Peace Lutheran Church will be dedicated tomorrow. It was built under the guidance of the Rev. Menzel, who has worked tirelessly to erect the church buildings and to gather 250 members to the church.

A stereo system for the home requires two loudspeaker systems. "I don't have room for two big speaker systems in my home," is a commonly heard phrase. Fortunately, the manufacturers of high quality loudspeakers have been hard at work designing and building a new breed of loudspeaker systems. Because of their engineering and hard work, we are now able to offer small speaker systems with very deep and full range sound.

Electro-Voice, one of the nation's top quality speaker manufacturers, has recently introduced the REGAL III speaker system. This is a 3 speaker wide range system beautifully packaged in a cabinet so small that it will fit in your bookcase. It measures 12½" deep by 13½" high by 24" wide. The REGAL III gives you bass so low you can feel it . . . bass you would expect from a conventional speaker three times the size. It gives you balanced, full-range, flat response without attenuation or peaks. Would be ideal as an economical "first" system, an "add-on" or in a pair for stereo.

Acoustically-correct enclosure is matched to specially-designed 12-inch Low Frequency speaker for exceptional extension of bass response and unusual dynamic range . . . without sacrificing efficiency and without the need for unusually-large amplifier power.

Luxurious furniture-crafted enclosure is finished on all four sides for placement anywhere on shelf or floor.

The REGAL III 3-way system in enclosure, ready to use, is priced at only $147.50 complete.

Another of the new Electro-Voice additions is the ESQUIRE 200, an economical version of the Regal III. The ESQUIRE 200 is also a 3 speaker system in a modern enclosure for only $111.

At Catania Sound we have these new Electro-Voice speakers set up for your listening pleasure. Come in for a demonstration. You will be amazed at the full range, clear sound that these compact speakers produce.

The Rev. Menzel is happy that his church has been built without fund-raising drives. "We feel that church support must come from a love of Christ," he says.

cruitment. The college is one of nine Lutheran preparatory schools of junior college standing.

He is scheduled to report in Portland about Aug. 15.

HE IS SCHEDULED to deliver his farewell sermon Aug. 2. He says that his temporary replacement will be Chaplain (Colonel) Herman Heuer, chief of chaplains of the 6th Army at the Presidio, San Francisco.

The Rev. Menzel declares that his motivating force is to "speak the truth in love" and to "speak and act to help others."

He has good reason, too, to be grateful for help from another source for his family.

In 1948, a few months after their daughter was born in Santa Maria, it was gradually detected that the youngster was a polio victim and when the family moved to Marin, specialized care was required.

"We are extremely grateful to the polio foundation," the Rev. Menzel said: "The entire treatment, including three operations at Marin General Hospital were taken care of by the foundation. Without it, she would have been a hopeless cripple. She now walks without impairment."

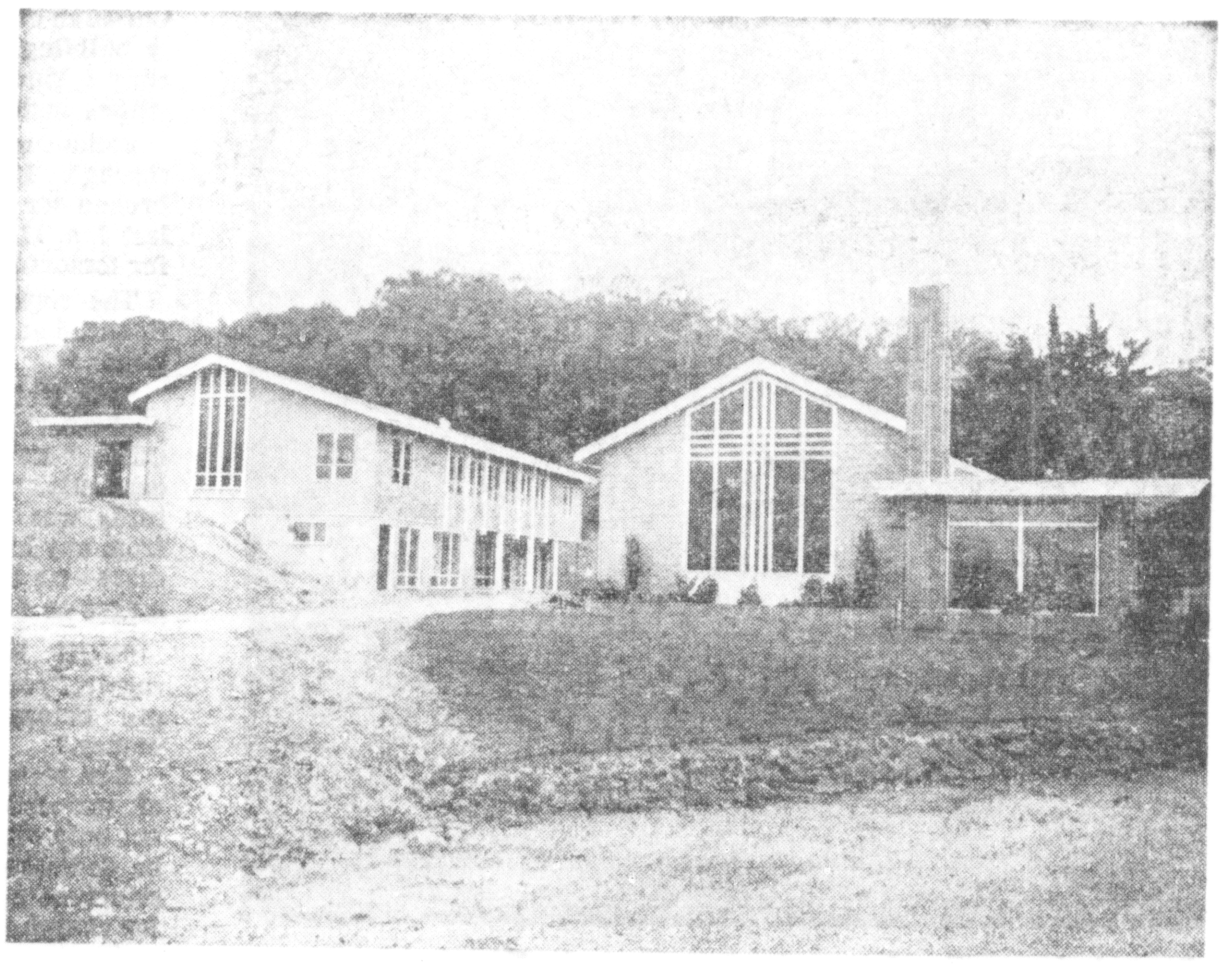
Now a resident of 59 Meadow road, in the Sutton Manor section of Mill Valley, Rev. Menzel finds time for a myriad of activities, and counts others with which he has been associated.

Closely identified with social service, he has been a member of the Family Service Agency board and took part in the decision to move it from Marin City to San Rafael; he founded the Marin County Chaplains Group which provides chaplain service at hospitals; he has served as assistant to the Lutheran chaplain at San Quentin prison since 1951; served on the board of the Lutheran Childrens Friend Society of California in the San Francisco headquarters; founder and past president of the Northern California chapter of the National Religious Publicity Council.

IN ADDITION, he has contributed to the Christian Century, the American Lutheran and other denominational journals.

Speaking of his congregation, Rev. Menzel explains some of his philosophy when he says, "the Christian life is a growth process. One of the functions of the congregation is to help one another in growing together as Christians."

Certainly, the Rev. Menzel's philosophy has been demonstrated in the material growth of Peace Lutheran Church. The church structures are a monument to his determination, courage and faith in himself and his fellow man.



IN HIS NINE years as pastor of Peace Lutheran Church the Rev. Menzel has seen this large and modern church rise from its barren site. New wing will be dedicated tomorrow. (Independent-Journal photos)

BEACH FLEA (Orchestoidea sp.)—Beach Fleas or Sand Hoppers are found in great numbers on every sandy beach where much seaweed is present, for they feed on kelp and other plants and animals washed up by the tide. They are not fleas and they do not bite, but their jumping habits have earned them the name. They are usually white with some orange, and may be an inch or more in length. They burrow into the moist sand head first, digging down 6 inches or a foot. (From "Out-of-Doors in Marin," copyrighted by M. F. Austin.)

PLEASING PATTERNS of pebbles and colorful tiles are pushed into mosaic base to form ash trays for patio use. Nothing says you can't use them indoors, of course. The Belvedere Guild II of Sunny Hills has produced a stack of them for their patio booth at the Grape Festival. (Independent-Journal photos).

Shells, Pebbles Are Framed For Decoration On The Patio

If you have been looking around for something to decorate your patio walls then Belvedere Guild II of Sunny Hills may have come up with an answer.

The women down Belvedere way have been working for several months to create what they call shell pictures and mosaic ash trays or glass coasters.

ALL THEIR pictures feature natural decorative pieces —mostly shells and pebbles with a few colorful bits of tile mixed in for a brighter splash. All of their pieces are quite easy to make, and the excuse of collecting fine pebble and shell specimens can lead to several pleasant trips to Marin beaches.

You'll have to find some wooden picture frames to make the shell pictures, and then mix up a mosaic base, or grout, to hold the bits you have collected. When the grout is poured in and smoothed inside the frame you can begin pushing gently each shell or pebble into it. A pair of tweezers is handy for this operation.

NATURE NOTES

LITHE WEASEL TURNS INTO WHITE ERMINE IN WINTER

Few people are fortunate enough to see weasels, lithe carnivores, in the wild, but those that do will agree that this family (Mustelidae) includes some of nature's most graceful animals. While this family consists of the marten, fisher, the various weasels, mink, wolverine, otters and the skunks it will be seen that they have general features in common.

The longtail weasel and the mink are both residents of Marin County. They are long-bodied animals with short legs, small heads, short rounded ears and scent glands. The mink is usually a dark brown with a white chin patch and a slightly bushy tail. It averages 13 to 17 inches in length and will be found in an area close to water. The longtail weasel is smaller, averaging nine to eleven inches in body length, and has yellowish-white underparts with a distinct black tip on the tail. It will be found in a more varied land habitat than the mink.

Despite their small size the weasels are amazingly strong, aggressive animals, and won't hesitate to attack much larger animals. They feed on fresh meat and prefer to do their own killing. Although well able to take care of themselves weasels make use of their grace and speed in a manner that will make your infrequent glimpse a short one.

The weasels' scent glands are similar to those of the skunks but are not used as a defensive measure in the manner of skunks.

The economic importance placed on their fur has made the weasel constant prey of trappers. The ermine furpiece, if genuine, is the weasel in its winter coat. In the colder regions they turn white in winter, retaining the black tip on the tail.

HEAD CUTTER, lower right, holds up the end of the power saw to be sure it is level as he and his partner prepare to make a back-cut on a 10-foot redwood tree. The tree will fall away from the two men because a V-shaped cut has been made on the far side.

Logs For 'Marin Living'

Redwood Industry Drops Timber To Build Your Hillside Home

The redwood and fir forests of the Redwood Empire to our north are merely beautiful vistas to many Marinites. To others they are vacation areas providing fishing and hunting, camping, and swimming.

But to a major segment of of our population these forests are bread and butter.

Not many Marin residents actually work in the forests, felling trees or cutting lumber. But home building and construction is Marin's major industry. All of the redwood used in Marin's new homes and buildings and about 90 per cent of the other lumber used in these structures come from the forests of our sister counties. Not only that, but 100 per cent of the masonite hardboard we use so extensively is made just a county away in Ukiah, and this too is a wood product.

So the lumber industry is an important part of Marin's economy. In addition we have a few small (by comparison) lumber stands and a few sawmills in our county.

But to some of the northern counties, lumber is the major foundation of economic existence.

THE REDWOOD Region forest industry, for example, employs more than 26,000 persons with a payroll in excess of $115,000,000 per year. The logs cut in the eight counties total about 2½ billion board feet, half of the production of the whole state of California.

Just one lumber company, Union Lumber Company pays 6½ per cent of the total county taxes paid to Mendocino County and 36 per cent of all city taxes paid in the city of Fort Bragg. Its payroll pours $4,500,000 per year into the county's economy and adds another $1,500,00 in purchase of local services and materials.

Across the county in Ukiah, the Masonite operation distributes a $3,500,000 annual payroll and pays 5 per cent of the total county taxes. So from just these two firms, Mendocino County gets 10½ per cent of all its income.

There is only one Masonite operation in the Redwood Region, but there are many other major lumber firms, some as large or larger than Union. In addition, there are hundreds of smaller forest owners and sawmill operators who make lumbering the No. 1 industry from here to the Oregon border.

Lumbering has changed in the last 30 years. Prior to that, proper logging procedure was to fell all trees in an area, strip the bark off of them, set the whole area on fire to burn up the scrap and get the unwanted trees out of the way. After the fire subsided the woodsmen would go into the burn area and drag out the downed trees which survived the fire. The result was devastation. Left were neither young trees nor seeds to reforest the logged area.

CONSCIENTIOUS lumbermen, like those in Union Lumber, were concerned about this situation early in the 1920s. Union established a nursery in which millions of trees were grown from seed and transplanted.

But about 10 years later the whole project was abandoned. It was found that nature, with man's help, did a much better job. And a new concept of logging was born — selective cutting.

Individual trees were marked for cutting. There were the full grown or "ripe" trees as well as the old "over ripe" ones. They were felled carefully so as not to damage younger, immature trees around them.

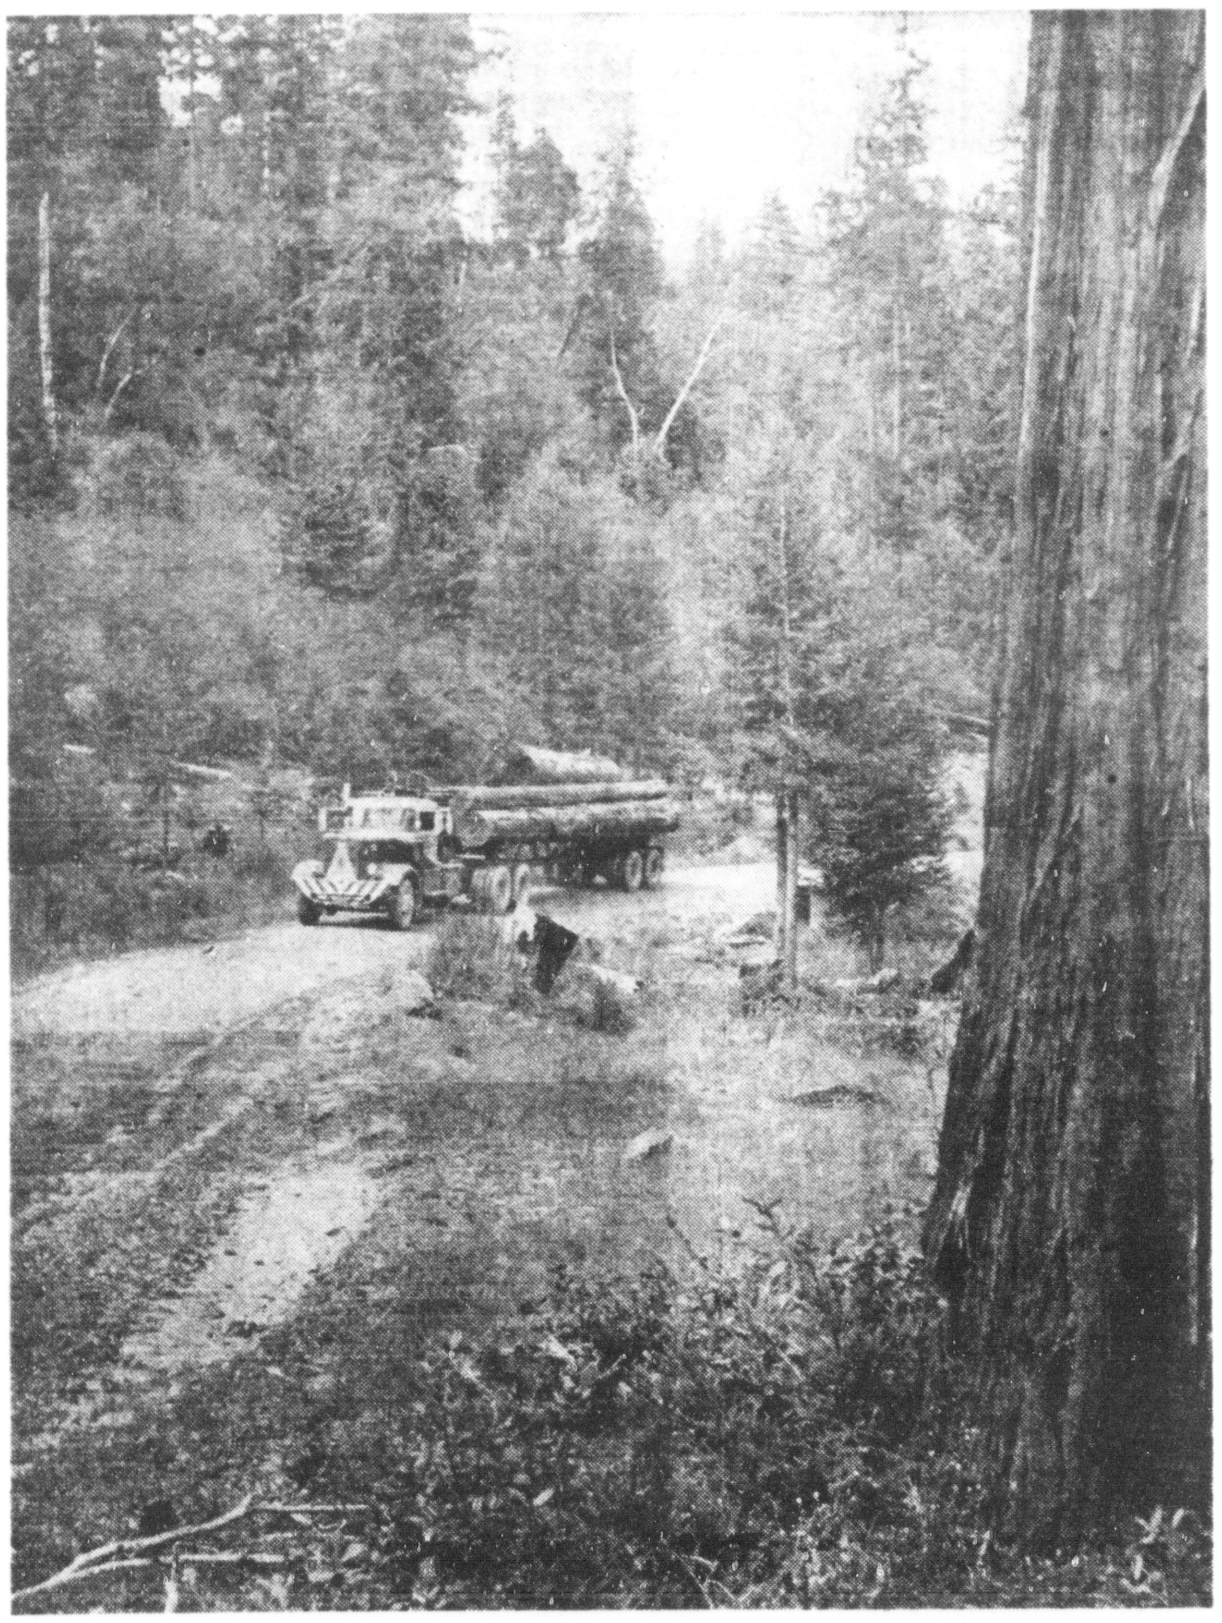
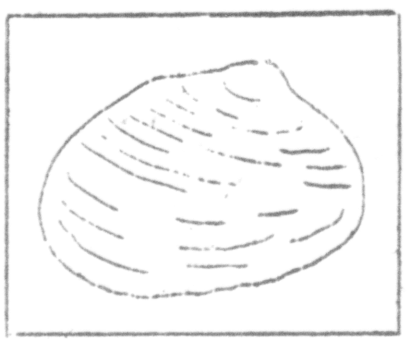
BILL VAN SICKLE of the Union Lumber Co., stands beside an aged "big wheel" with which the loggers used to pull huge logs out of the forest. It is a part of the lumber company's museum in Fort Bragg.

LIKE THE OLD TIME "big wheel," today's "arch" is a mobile hoist which runs on tractor treads instead of wheels to pull the big logs out of the forest and to the truck loading areas.



HUGE TRUCKS travel the 36-mile long private road of the Masonite Company carrying loads of logs for lumber or pulp. Such trucks are a familiar sight to travelers between Marin and the Oregon border.



CLAM—There are many kinds of clams along the coast—some smooth-shelled, some rough; some long and narrow like jack-knives, others thick and heart-shaped; some as big as the 7 in. Geoducks found at Dillon's Beach, some tiny and fragile; some living in mud, others buried in the sand, and still others boring holes in rocks. Many clams are white shelled, some are gray, and some show colored patterns and markings. If you walk across a mud flat at low tide, as at Bolinas Bay, you may see the clams squirt water. Clams are widely used for food. (From "Out-of Doors in Marin," copyrighted by M. F. Austin.)

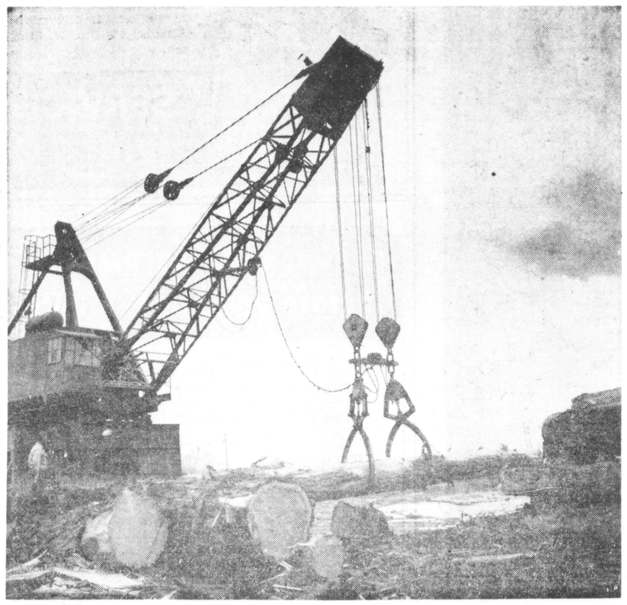
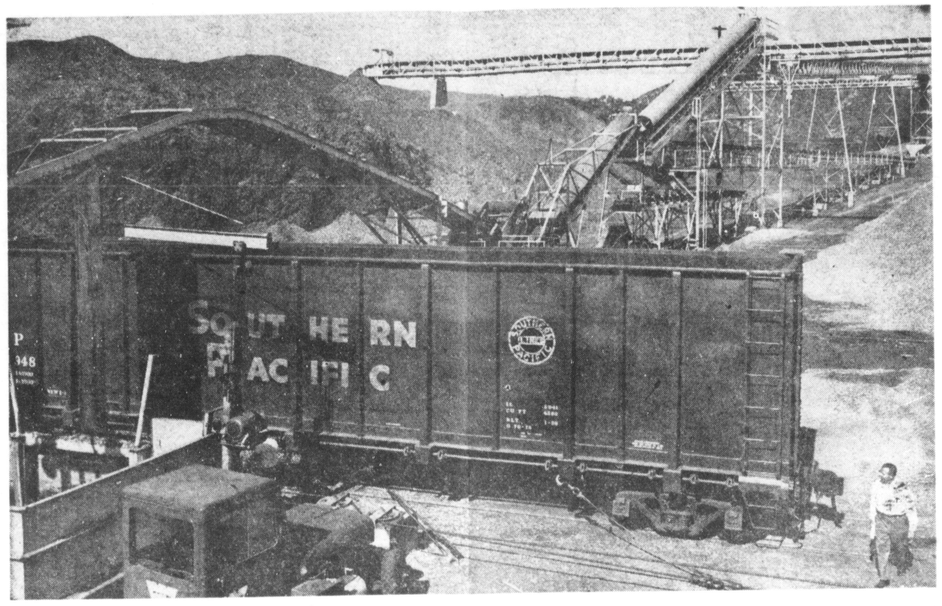
THIS IS THE BARKER in action. The redwood log is whirling on the Union Lumber Company's barker. A thousand gallons of water per minute shoots out of the nozzle (upper center) at a pressure of 1,400 to 1,500 pounds per square inch, literally blasting the bark from the log. This one is almost finished.



HUGE CRANE picks logs off of the trucks and stacks them, then can move them from the piles to the barker or reload them for a trip to the veneer plant at Union Lumber Co.



WOOD CHIPS from two dozen lumber mills pile up in the yard of Masonite Corp. in Ukiah waiting to be turned into harboard. The overhead conveyor belt system shown here, carries the chips from the specially designed railroad cars or trucks to the stock piles and from the stockpiles into the plant.

LOGGING

of the tree in which it is expected to fall. Then a straight back-cut is made on the opposite side. A metal wedge driven into the back-cut topples the tree in the desired direction.

Removal of the big trees let in more light and air, as well as providing more water for the smaller trees. They grow faster under these better conditions. So shortly—20 or 30 years or so—a second harvest would be possible. This is called tree farming.

The tractor is the major development that has made this possible because it can go into the woods and pull out the harvested trees.

PEELING OF the redwood trees previously had taken place by hand in the woods. But now the "barker," a high pressure water jet system, literally blasts the bark off the trees.

Then the bare logs go to the sawmills where they are first squared up and then sawed into various sized boards, sorted, seasoned and shipped to Marin or wherever they are destined.

The seasoning is very important. For example, a single redwood plank, one inch thick, 12 inches wide and 20 feet long will have as much as 8.4 gallons of water in it. If it goes into your house with any sizeable part of that remaining, you're in for trouble.

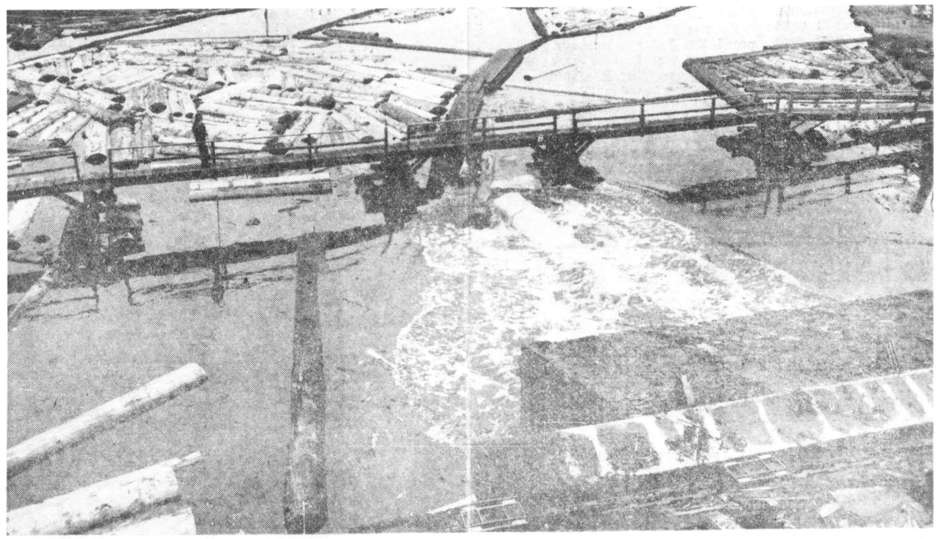
Once upon a time all of the parts that were trimmed off the logs in the cutting were waste material and just burned up. But now Masonite is making use of them.

When Masonite was established in 1951, the plan was to cut its own trees to make chips to make hardboard. To get them out of the mountain easily, Masonite built a $4,000,000 private road 36 miles long from Ukiah, through the redwood and connecting to Highway 28 along the Novarro River.

Now, however, the hardboard firm is buying mill cuttings and is not harvesting trees specifically to make its product. Instead their trees are sold to sawmills or pulp plants. The wood which formerly went to the burner from two dozen mills is now used annually. This is equivalent to the quantity of timber that can be grown on 150,000 acres of good forest land.

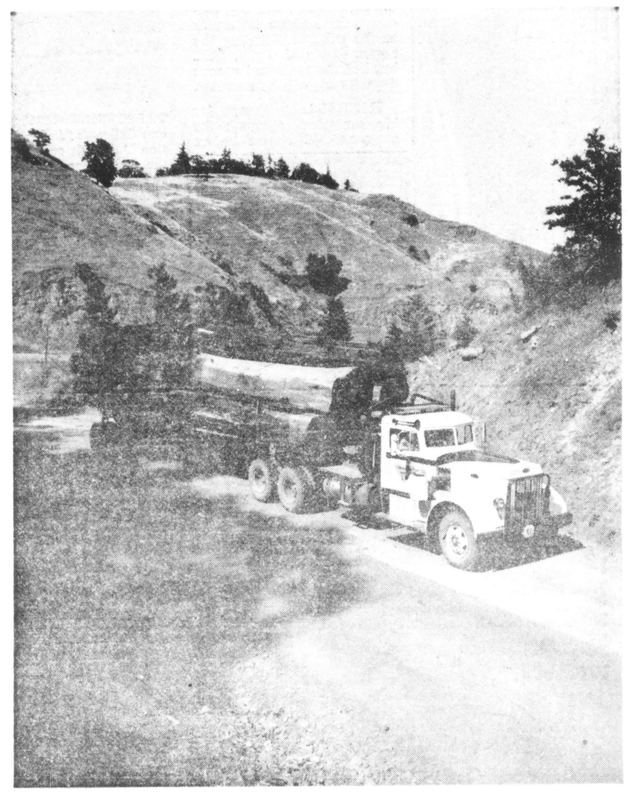
ONE OF the questions most often asked lumbermen is why the forests are not opened more freely to the public. Their answer is always the same, "public irresponsibility." A fire can wipe out a timber stand or a sawmill and its equipment. People just aren't careful enough.

Even so, the people in the industry do everything they safely can to accommodate the public. Areas are set aside for activities like Boy Scout and other organizational camps. Some of the more beautiful areas are purposely not logged so that they will be a scenic attraction.



THE LOG POND at Union Lumber Co. in Fort Bragg is just behind the barker. All of the logs here have had the bark removed. A newly barked log can be seen in the foam as it emerged from the barker. Other logs after barking are rolled onto the chain in foreground and carried into the sawmill out of the picture on the right. (Most photos by I-J photographer Richard Steinheimer; some courtesy of Redwood Region Conservation Council.)

THAT STACK of wood chips behind the loader is as high as a three story building. Scoop on this loader at the Masonite plant can hold five cubic yards.



REDWOOD LOGS move slowly up the roadways of the forest regions. One of these redwood logs seems to have been peeled, but it was probably done accidentally. Most logs are now brought into the mill before the bark is removed.

Dominican's Chorus To Sing Oratorio

In keeping with the worldwide observance of the 200th anniversary of the death of George Frederick Handel, the Dominican Summer Session Chorus this year will present "Judas Maccabeus." Selected passages from the oratorio will be sung at a public concert on Friday, July 31, at 8 p.m. in Angelico Hall, Dominican College.

Winifred Baker will conduct the summer choral group for the seventh year. The chorus is composed of teachers attending the college for credit, or just auditing. Members of the Winifred Baker Chorale, a volunteer group of mixed voices which meets during the regular school year, are combining with the summer chorus for the second year.

Thirteen Franciscan students of theology from Old Mission Santa Barbara are attending classes at Dominican College this summer, and nine of them will take part in the oratorio. They, and other Franciscan students at their mission, have formed a choral group known as the "Padre Choristers." They are directed by Father Pierre Etchelecu, a composer himself, and their principal interest is to keep alive early sacred and secular music of California.

THE CHORISTERS have made three recordings: Christmas at Mission Santa Barbara, Music of the California Missions, and Peace and Blessing. The last is the prayer of St. Francis as arranged by Father Owen Da Silva.

Soloists for the coming oratorio presentation include: sopranos, Annette Brophy Jacobs, former Juilliard and Dominican voice major, soloist with the Salt Lake City Mormon Choir, and a member for a year of the Trapp Family Singers tour; Sister M. Amata, O.P., and Sister Joan Marie, C.S.J.O., both teachers of music at Dominican.

The Rev. Robert Despars, principal and music director of Bishop Manogue High School of Reno, will sing the tenor solo, and the baritone solo will be sung by Byron Jones, San Rafael High School choir director, and opera and oratorio soloist in the Bay Area.

Laila Gabriel, Dominican College graduate, will be at the piano, and Sister M. Francesca, O.P., organ instructor at the college, will play the organ. Sister M. Cyril, O.P., head of the radio and speech department, will be narrator.

HANDEL is best known for his oratorios, although he composed 42 operas before writing the great "Messiah." The favorite theme of earlier oratorio writers was the Passion of Christ, but Handel developed the epic oratorio and is credited with 15 grand oratorios.

Mrs. Baker has chosen the Judas Maccabeus because it is a very late work, and shows maturity. It has rousing choruses—including a Hallelujah, and some of Handel's most famous arias and duets, such as "O lovely peace."

Although a native of Germany, Handel settled in England when he was 27. He had been appointed court conductor in Hanover in 1710, and when the elector of Hanover became King George I of England, Handel went along as a member of the King's court. He became an English subject 14 years later.

He was 61 when he composed the Judas Maccabeus. Author of the libretto was Rev. Thomas Morrell. This collaboration lasted until the close of Handel's career.

Oratorio themes are dignified, and, as in the coming concert number, usually Biblical. The mood and story are carried completely by the singers and accompaniment.

If you are tired of either unadulterated criticism or half-informed opinions about the Soviet Union, you will find Irving R. Levine's book most refreshing. With the perceptiveness of a veteran newsman, he looks at the USSR and its people from all angles. The government's successes and failures are weighed in both statistical and human terms, but Levine knows how to present numerical facts so they make enlightening, as well as interesting reading.

The bulk of the manuscript was written in Moscow, and he was permitted to bring it out uncensored. Just how the Soviet leaders feel about it is anybody's guess, but they certainly cannot complain that he loads his statistics or that he paints a negative picture—or a rosy one, either.

In each of the 26 chapters, he surveys one aspect of Soviet life. The Stalin and post-Stalin regimes are clearly presented, and Levine goes into some details on how the Soviet Union is actually giving more power to trade unions and collectives. However, he also shows how the Communist Party keeps tabs on local operations through party members.

If the reader is looking for assurance that the Russian people are disgruntled and ripe for a new revolution, he will be greatly disappointed. Levine has talked with thousands of Russians and has found that, while they may complain openly or resist certain government policies, they are also loyal to their government.

The instigation for the book was the flood of mail from American listeners to his NBC broadcasts from Moscow. The photographs are as unusual and frank as his analysis of this still mysterious nation.

If the book were to be distributed in Moscow, it would probably not be a best seller —any more than an Englishman's book about America would be. Peoples all over the world are peculiarly sensitive to an outsider's view of themselves.

New Book Is Complete Guide To 160 Garden Perennials

"Bear's Breeches, Sneezewort, Wolfsbane, Goutweed, Marsh Mallow, Basket of Gold, Windflower, Lads-Love, Maygowan, Rampion, Maybells, Sweet William, Dutchman's Breeches, Witches'-thimbles, Baby's breath, Irishman's Wig, Coral Bells, Money-plant, Wakerobin, Cherry Pie . . ."

These were some of the perennials grandmother cherished, and her garden was as colorful as her vocabulary. Today's garden enthusiast may call them Acanthus, Achillea, Aconitum, etc but he cherishes them as tenderly because he knows that a minimum of effort on his part will bring the reward of years of pleasure. Many will grow well in Marin gardens.

Charles H. Potter's new book, Perennials in the Garden For Lasting Beauty, published by Criterion ($6.95), is a complete guide to raising these and more than 140 other perennials. Out of long professional experience, Mr. Potter covers clearly, and in detail, preparation and care of the soil, early care and transplanting of seedlings, propagation, mulching and storage, and preventative measures against pests, diseases and nutrient deficiencies. For small plot or large, he describes how to plan for color, proportion and succession of blooms, and advises which perennials do best in which part of the garden. He also adds a section for the amateur interested in growing perennials for profit.

The heart of the book is a detailed, encyclopedic treatment of over 160 perennials, covering all sections of the country. Each is listed by botanical and popular name, with full description, popular subspecies, descriptions of how and where to use them, information on culture, methods of propogation, and diseases and pests to guard against.

An extensive glossary of common botanical terms, a detailed seed germination chort, pest and disease control charts, diagrams of garden plans, a comprehensive planting guide, and a full index add to the permanent reference value of the book, which is illustrated with 40 full-color photographs.

Charles H. Potter has been a retail florist and designer, a greenhouse grower, manager of a wholesale florist business. Editor of the "Oregon Flower Grower," he writes also for garden departments of many newspapers and magazines. His earlier book "Beneath the Greenhouse Roof," was a choice of the Garden Book Club. Mr. Potter lives and gardens enthusiastically in Milwaukee, Ore.

EVERYTHING IS SOMEWHERE, by Vasiliu; The John Day Company, for youngest readers.

Variations on a cosmic theme in terms of the tangibles and intangibles of a child's world confirm the snug, safe feeling that, "Everything is somewhere." Nice big letters for beginning readers.

Tired Of Your House's Arrangement?

Ten Rules For Moving Furniture
(Cheer Up, Dad, It Could Be Worse)

Rearranging furniture probably is the best substitute for moving into new and bigger quarters, most housewives will attest.

This never-ending game of "put it there, dear" or "no, better move it back over there" is one that always involves the man of the house—aching back or not.

And to keep father from getting hurt — nothing will keep him from getting mad—it might be worthwhile here to list some of the basic rules for lifting.

THE RULES, intended to provide protection against muscular strains and pains as well as serious injury, have been set forth by the moving experts of one of the nation's leading household moving organizations, and are those taught to company movers.

The 10 rules to injury-free, accident-free lifting follow:

1. Make sure you have a clear path as well as a safe path before you begin to lift. Know where you are moving the object in question and clear any obstacles out of the way (scatter rugs, end tables, children's toys, etc.)

2. If possible, plan your steps so that you'll avoid recently polished floors. If that isn't possible, make certain you are wearing rubber-soled and rubber-heeled shoes to prevent you from sliding. If floor runners are not secure, either move them out of the way or fasten them down.

3. SIZE UP the load. Place your feet close to the base of the article you are lifting—about 12 or 18 inches apart. Make sure your footing is secure.

4. Bend the knees outward and straddle the load as best you can. As you crouch, keep your back as straight as possible. Place one hand under the object, the other firmly on the opposite side, and keep the load close to your body as you lift it off the floor.

5. AS YOU RISE to a standing position, push up with your legs. The more pressure you can take off your back, the better off you'll be. The lower portion of your body should rise along with the object being lifted.

6. If you have to change directions after you have assumed an upright position, do it by moving your feet first. Do not twist your body around while the load is in your arms.

7. Adjust the object in your arms so that your line of vision is free. Be extra careful when carrying an object you cannot see over or around.

8. TO LOWER the object to the floor, bend your knees first, keep your back straight, and lower the object, with the arm and leg muscles doing the work.

9. Rst between each lifting assignment. Don't try to lift anything heavy when you're tired. That's when you're prone to injury.

10. If you're doubtful about being able to lift an object alone, don't do it. Get some help first.

SCALLOP (Pecten sp.)—Scallop shells, with their wing-like "ears" are found on nearly every beach. They swim through the water with a jerky motion by clapping their two shells together. The large round muscle that closes the shells is a delicious sea food which is sold in our fish markets. (From "Out-of-Doors in Marin," copyrighted by M. F. Austin.)

YARD STORAGE shelter is a double locker that has a roof overhang on both sides for protection from the sun and rains. The unit has four doors on each side, and is designed for simplicity and economy of construction. It holds yard tools, patio chairs and relieves the strain on indoor closet space.

Storage Space A Sad Story? Construct Shelter In Yard

What's the story on storage at your house?

In many homes, the story has a simple plot and a sad ending. The garage and utility room are crammed full of garden tools and outdoor equipment, while the car sits in the driveway.

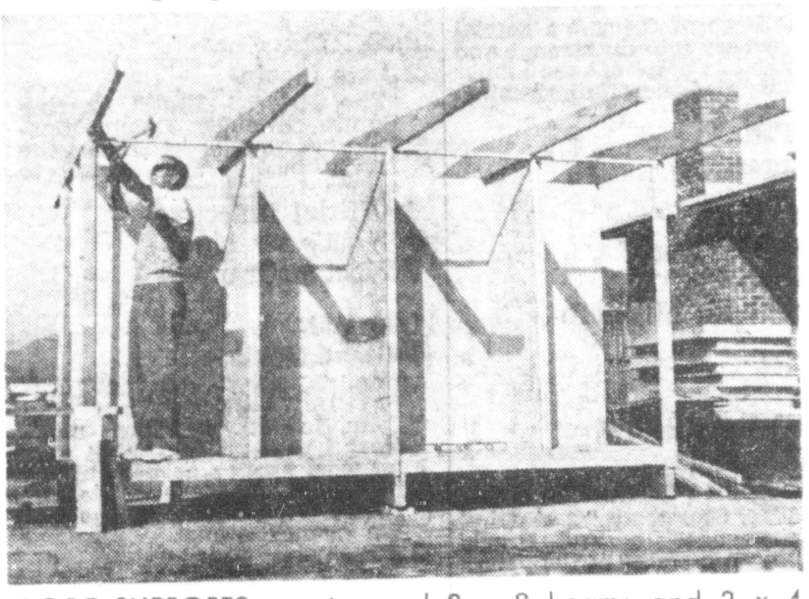
Even if things aren't quite this desperate, you could probably use a storage structure somewhere in the back yard. It would provide an orderly place for the barbecue brazier, lawn mower, rakes, shovels, and fertilizer bags which are drifting around the house and garage.

A WEST COAST architect has designed a yard storage shelter which has style and utility. It is small enough to be built by a talented home handyman, but large enough to give all that miscellaneous gear a home of its own. The shelter is almost like having an extra half basement, only it's more convenient.

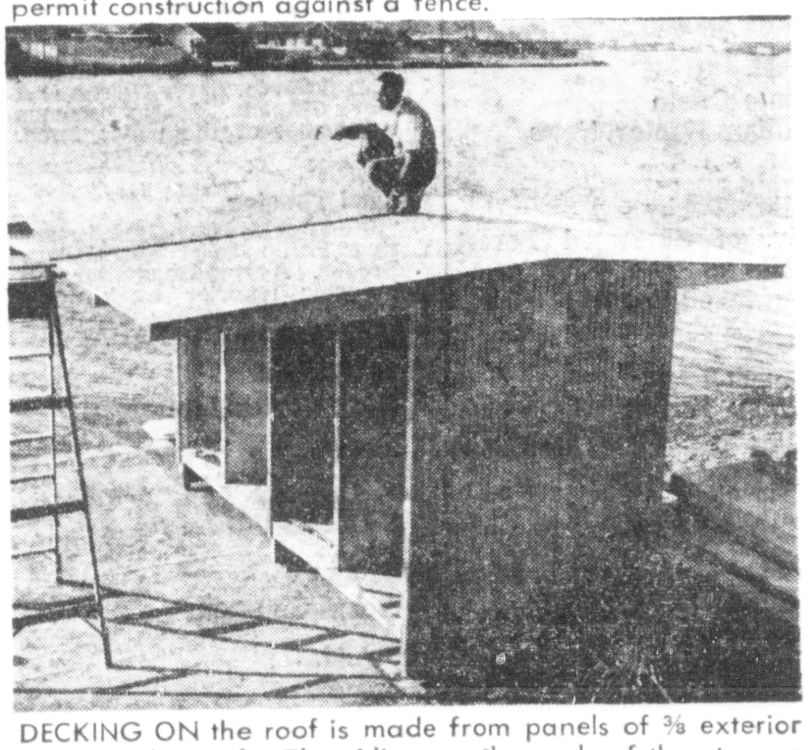
It could be put up almost anywhere in the yard, garden, patio, or along a walkway. It is also an ideal pool-side storage house. In a small yard, one overhang could be omitted, and it could be built directly against a fence or the house.

The unit makes sense because it puts all lawn, garden, pool and patio equipment right out where it is most often used. It can be tightly locked to protect valuable equipment from intruders.

The 4x8-foot shelter is designed with emphasis on simple construction. By following a construction plan which is available, an experienced amateur carpenter could build it in a couple of weekends. However, if you have no wood-working talent, don't attempt this one as a first-time project unless you get some experienced help.



ROOF SUPPORTS are tapered 2 x 8 beams and 2 x 4 blocking. One of the roof overhangs can be omitted to permit construction against a fence.



DECKING ON the roof is made from panels of ⅜ exterior type fir plywood. The siding on the ends of the storage shelter is plywood also.

THE UNIT is designed on a four-foot module to utilize standard size exterior-type fir plywood panels. The 2x6 floor framing rests upon four concrete piers.

Because of the structural rigidity provided by the fir plywood ends and partitions, an economical 2x2 lumber framework can be used. Texture One-Eleven, the vertically grooved plywood, is specified for siding on both ends of the unit.

The cantilevered roof is achieved by covering tapered 2x8 beams with ⅜" exterior fir plywood. The overhang provides protection against the sun and rain.

The ¾" fir plywood doors have built-in shelves for storage of small articles. The height of the shelves inside the unit can be varied to suit the dimensions of chaise longues and other lawn furniture.

KRON Spotlights S.F. Alcoholism

SAN FRANCISCO — San Francisco's role as the drinkingest town in the drinkingest of all the 49 states will be portrayed Friday from 8 to 9 p.m. on "The Alcoholic City," to be seen on KRON-TV (Channel 4).

Statistics pointing up the report of the Health Council of the United Community Fund—including the fact that one of four adult men in San Francisco is a problem drinker—that alcoholism is one of the city's two most pressing health problems will be presented and documented.

OTHER FACTS to be documented:

San Francisco's alcoholic consumption for people over 15 years of age is an estimated 35 gallons per year per capita. The state average is 30 gallons per capita.

And San Francisco's suicide rate is six times that of Boston, with authorities attributing a large percentage of the self-destruction to alcohol and its problems.

With Tom Mullahey, KRON-TV's director of public affairs acting as moderator, a group of experts on various phases of the question will examine the problem.

They will attempt to answer such questions as:

Why does San Francisco lead the list?

What kind of research on the causes is being done and what are the results?

How big is the problem and how does it affect the public?

What are the health, personal, cultural and law enforcement problems?

Finally, just what is being done about it and what should be done?

TV Reruns Glut Summer Schedule

By VERNON SCOTT

Sultry summer heat has wilted coaxial cables to the tune of 62 repeat TV series, highest in history.

This plethora of second-runs is diluted by only 14 continuing first-run series and 10 new programs. Small wonder, then, that ratings on all three networks have plummeted.

Nothing, but nothing, frustrates the average televiewer more than tuning in a favorite show only to realize, midway through the action, that he has seen the program before.

IN THE FINAL June ratings for the regular season the top 10 shows were "Gunsmoke," "Have Gun, Will Travel," "Danny Thomas Show," "Rifleman," "Wagon Train," "Wyatt Earp," "Peter Gunn," "77 Sunset Strip," "Father Knows Best" and "Playhouse 90." Each and every one is beaming reruns during the hot months.

The rerun gimmick was started several seasons back when Groucho Marx decided to take a summer vacation. Instead of losing his audience during the dog days, he replaced his comedy-quiz show with "The Best of Groucho," taken from the previous season's airings.

LAWRENCE WELK continues with his "live" champagne music, and the "Summer Chevy Show" is all new. "Peck's Bad Girl" is one of the few new situation comedies to reach home viewers during the summer hiatus.

Most of the old standbys will continue reruns until September or October when they will resume with new sequences. But it's a long wait. A batch of brand new fall shows also are waiting in the wings for cool weather and vacationers to return home.

Back lots, western streets and the special "ranches" used for shooting westerns are crowded, dusty and teaming with saddle-sore cowboy-actors.

But weep ye not for these losers. They are sure to crop up as "Summer replacement repeats" for the next five years.

TV WRITING GRANT WINNERS—Winners of the first CBS television network writing grants-in-aid of $5,000 each are shown as they met for the first time at the network's New York headquarters. Chosen from thousands of applicants for the grants were these four writers and a fifth who will receive his award when he comes to New York next month. They are (from left) Brock Brower, Chapel Hill, N. C.; Ellen Currie, New York, Eve Merriam, New York and Helene Hanff, New York. The fifth winner, John Pfeiffer of New Hope, Pa., is on an archaeological expedition in Colorado.

EVEN NIKITA ENVIOUS AT U.S. FAIR OPENING

MOSCOW (AP) — The American National Exhibition in Moscow opened last night and drew envious praise from the first Soviet visitor—Nikita Khrushchev.

"There are good things here, and we envy you for them," the Soviet Premier said at the dedication ceremonies. "They are things that Russia will have."

Workmen were rushing about shouting for a plumber here and a carpenter there to put on the finishing touches up until an hour before Vice President Richard M. Nixon formally opened the fair. But it opened on time and in pretty good shape.

Tomales Bay swimmers were warned today to stay in shoal water and keep a sharp lookout as result of capture early this morning of a record-size white bonito shark believed to be of the man-eating type.

The 750-pound shark was caught by a Marshall restaurant owner out looking for something more tasty in the way of sea bass. The warning was issued by Ranger Bill Fairbanks, state park attendant at Tomales Bay State Park.

As to the shark, you can go have a look for yourself.

It will be displayed on the wharf adjacent to Tony's Seafood Restaurant in Marshall on State Highway 1.

Tony Konatich, owner of the restaurant and a resident of the area for about 35 years, was up bright and early with his drift net. The net picked up the shark about 200 yards off Indian Beach at the north tip of the park and almost opposite Marshall.

His catch was more than he'd bargained for, and the net ripped, but Konatich was able to hold the shark and get it back to the wharf. He hauled the big fish in and strung it at the end of a boom.

White sharks are not considered uncommon in Tomales Bay during the summer season but local residents believe this is the largest ever caught actually within the bay—bigger ones have been found outside, however. Konatich caught two 500-pounders last summer, according to his son, Felix.

Though white sharks are known to have attacked humans, this hasn't happened so far in Tomales Bay. Felix Konatich said it was a white bonito which recently attacked a California swimmer.

Ranger Fairbanks aims to keep the accident record clear.

"I would personally advise swimmers to stay in shallow water and to keep their eyes open," he said. This advice was given to all who passed the park checking station.

No special precautions because of sharks are considered necessary for the beach at Stinson Beach State Park, a park official said today. This is because lifeguards are regularly warning swimmers to keep inside the breakers because of undertow.

Water within the breakers is usually only about waist-deep, which is felt to preclude danger of sharks in that area, the official said.

RADIOACTIVITY TESTED

Marin's Drinking Water Held Safe

Marin drinking water has a wide margin of safety as far as radioactivity is concerned, Dr. Carolyn Albrecht, Marin County health officer, announced today.

Results of recent tests of samples of water from reservoirs of the Marin Municipal Water District and the North Marin Water District, were disclosed by Dr. Albrecht.

She released the contents of a letter from Dr. Dell F. Dullum, state consultant in radiologic health.

Dr. Albrecht had requested the information.

The reply to her says, in part:

"The activity of these samples has varied from a high of about 100 micromicrocuries per liter in February and March of 1959, after showing a rather sudden increase in activity. Subsequent to March, the activity has gradually been decreasing down to a level of about 5 to 10 micromicrocuries per liter and it is expected the activity will remain at this level during the next months."

The letter also said that "there may be a slight increase in the fallout during the spring months of 1960.

Dr. Albrecht said the increase could be expected because of the rainy season. She said radioactive material is washed down to earth more quickly during heavy rains.

"The increased radioactivity of drinking water has been quite general throughout the state, and was due to the Russian Nuclear testing in the fall of 1958," the letter said.

Because of the suspension of tests, the letter said, "it is expected that the rate of fallout and the subsequent contamination . . . will continue to decrease or remain at the present level."

Dr. Dullum's letter also said that although "a total lifetime consumption of 10 micromicrocuries per liter is recommended" if there is "no appreciable activity of the water due to radium 226 and radium 228," the amount could be extended to 100 per liter.

The letter said the higher figure "applies to California waters, as it has been shown there is a very low level of radium 226 and radium 228 in California drinking water."

The amount could even increase to 600, Dr. Dullum said, "provided the activity due to radium 226, radium 228, Strontium-90, and lead 210 is at low levels. As it is known that the strontium and lead levels are also very low, the figure of 600 could actually be used as a safe lifetime level for drinking water in California."

Dr. Albrecht said the state report indicates Marin drinking water "is safe by a wide margin." She said samples of water were taken both by state and county officials "at various points at reservoirs."

Nixon Encounters Heckler While At Soviet Exhibition

MOSCOW (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon visited the Soviet agricultural and industrial exhibition today and got a warm reception, except for a lone heckler.

About 5,000 Soviet visitors were at the agricultural show when they saw Nixon and his party. They began applauding vigorously.

At the agricultural hall Nixon began shaking hands with as many Russians as he could reach. Everyone was friendly until he reached the exhibition hall of the Uzbek Republic.

One of the spectators cried out that charges the Soviet Union had enslaved other nations were a Western provocation.

"Uzbeks are not suppressed but terrifically free," the man shouted.

Nixon listened attentively and told the man: "I'm in favor of free speech and I am glad you were able to talk."

Nixon had luncheon with Vladimir Matskevich, minister of agriculture, and they exchanged toasts for peace and friendship.

But Matskevich immediately launched into the subject of U.S. observance of "Captive Nations Week." The week is one for remembrance of nations under Communist domination.

"The Soviet people were surprised and alarmed that the Senate passed the captive peoples' resolution," Matskevich said. "We were prepared for a peaceful and friendly welcome for Mr. and Mrs. Nixon.

Herter Gives Berlin Pledge

BERLIN (UPI)—U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter promised West Berliners today the West will never accept a Soviet deadline for withdrawing its troops from the divided city.

Herter flew to the isolated city from Geneva for a six-hour visit to demonstrate western determination to hold Berlin in the face of Soviet threats.

U.S. Protests Plane Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has fired a strong protest at Red China and North Korea over the June 16 attack by MIG jets on a U.S. Navy patrol plane.

The government demanded that the Communists act immediately to prevent further attacks. It asked that those responsible be punished for the unprovoked attack over the Sea of Japan.

Grid Star's Widow Wins Court Award

A San Anselmo widow and her two children, family of former professional football player Roy Barni who was shot to death in San Francisco in 1957, has been awarded $125,000 damages.

The award was made yesterday in San Francisco Superior Court for Mrs. Gloria Barni of 1670 San Anselmo avenue. She has two children, Pamela, 4, and Roy, 1.

San Anselmo attorney Robert P. Praetzel, who represented Mrs. Barni at a court hearing last week, says Judge Twain Michelson has just ruled that Mrs. Barni should get $75,000 and each of her two children $25,000 each for the loss of their husband and father.

Barni, who operated Barni's Huddle in San Francisco, was shot to death in late 1957 when he attempted to stop an argument between two men. James Invernezzi of San Francisco was convicted for the fatal shooting and is serving a prison term.

Attorney Praetzel said he would attempt to collect the money from Invernezzi as soon as he gets out of prison, in about a year.

Borings Set At Possible College Site

Soil borings are to be made Monday on the proposed state college site in Novato, it was announced today by the state public works department.

George Marshall, secretary of the Novato Chamber of Commerce, reported that a telephone call from a department spokesman in Sacramento informed him that four 30-inch borings are to be made and that "this is a hurry-up deal and must be done right away."

The Freitas Ranch in West Novato is one of several proposed sites still in the running as a possible location for a new four-year state college for the North Bay counties.

Youth Catches Holdup Man

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Dick Hawkins, 17, drew his Boy Scout knife last night and chased down a burly holdup man who minutes earlier had robbed the gas station where the youth was working.

The robber, identified by police as Richard Layne Davis, 31, a San Quentin Prison parolee, broke his left leg leaping over a wall while trying to flee.

County Files Action For Airport Site

Marin County went to court yesterday to condemn land near Richardson Bay Bridge, which county supervisors declared the county needs for an airport and landing facilities.

County Counsel Leland Jordan filed the suit in Marin Superior Court, asking the court to set a fair value on the land.

The county had made a tentative agreement with Robert Law of Commodore Aviation to acquire the land, and let Law lease it back, with the idea that the underwater landing strip would benefit the county. Approximately 25 acres are involved.

Cuban Prison Yields Arms

HAVANA (UPI) — A raiding squad commanded by the chief of police raided Havana's Principe Prison today and uncovered a store of hidden weapons ranging from Molotov cocktails and guns to icepicks fashioned into daggers.

Police said the surprise search was carried out under Chief Efigenio Ameijeiras' leadership after a tipster reported political prisoners and other inmates planned a wide series of disorders tomorrow, when the anniversary of Fidel Castro's 26th of July movement will be celebrated.

Earlier the government slapped a 12-hour ban on the sale of alcoholic beverages in preparation for the commemoration of Castro's revolutionary victory.

The latest official estimate said that 235,000 peasants already were in Havana for the huge celebration.

Marin Advisory Group On Rapid Transit Requested By District

Marin County's city councils are to select planning and engineering experts to make up an advisory group requested by the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

The request was made yesterday afternoon at a meeting of about 50 mayors, city managers, engineers, planners and other officials in the supervisors' chamber of the county courthouse.

"We want to take advantage of your know-how," said Kenneth M. Hoover, chief engineer for the district. "We're anxious for close coordination with this board and with technical people of the different cities in seeking the best solution—not necessarily what everybody wants, but the best."

He stressed that the advisory group would not make decisions but could provide local information and points of view and also serve to spread information throughout the county as to what was being done.

T. J. DeLasaux, one of two Marin County directors of the district, suggested that Marin has nine incorporated cities to be represented together with the supervisors and "10 people seems about right."

Later discussion brought out that both planning and engineering people would be needed, so it appears probable that the group will number closer to 20.

Representatives were present from San Rafael, Sausalito, Mill Valley, Larkspur, Ross and Fairfax, in addition to the county, leaving Corte Madera and Belvedere not represented. If Novato incorporates it should be represented, it was agreed.

Hoover and DeLasaux indicated their wish that at next meetings of city councils throughout the county, persons be named with whom district representatives might confer whenever plans dealt with their respective areas.

A question was put as to feasibility of monorail and Hoover said:

"That magic word 'monorail' is getting about to the point of retreading, they use it so much. The monorail is not a new device—the only real monorail has been in operation since 1902 in Germany over a river with no room in the valley and it runs 28 miles an hour, with characteristics against higher speed.

Asked if there was any firm indication about routing, he said "not yet." What is sought, he said, is to integrate the automobile with a rapid transit system "leaving the automobile at its home base where it can best function."

LOW HUMIDITY, HIGH FIRE HAZARD REPORTED IN MARIN

At 6 a.m. this morning the moisture in the air at Mount Tamalpais registered a scant 2 per cent.

Anything under 25 per cent is considered hazardous. If the humidity drops below 15 per cent it is looked upon as definitely "out of the ordinary" in this area, according to Fran Penzotti, Marin County Fire Department lookout warden.

"I've seen it as low as 6 or 8 per cent a couple of times in the last couple of years," Penzotti said, "but never this low."

He added that Marin weekenders would do well to take extra fire precautions until the mosture content rises. The fire hazard is now extremely serious, he added.

The weekend weather forecast for the Bay Area calls for continued fair weather through the weekend except for morning fog near the ocean. High in San Rafael is expected to hit 86. Normal westerly winds are forecast.

Hurricane Punishes Texas Coastal Cities

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Hurricane Debra smashed against Texas coast cities today with winds up to 100 miles an hour. Torrential rains and 6 foot tides flooded low areas and sent thousands of persons scurrying to higher ground.

The small but vicous hurricane, which developed suddenly in the Gulf of Mexico yesterday morning, hurled several small fishing vessels against jetties as 15-foot waves lashed the seacoast. One seaman was injured. Hundreds of other small craft sought shelter as hurricane warnings were hoisted over a wide sector of the Texas coast.

Damage in the Freeport area was estimated at one million dollars by Police Chief Barney Priest today. The hurricane damage was widespread but at many points appeared minor. Because much of the damage was due to rains and high tides, estimates could not be made accurately until the waters had subsided.

Orange, at the eastern edge of the hurricane's path, had recorded 9.77 inches of rain this morning and heavy downpours continued at most points in the path's storm. The Weather Bureau said local rains of 15 inches could be expected.

The highest winds of 100 m.p.h. were recorded when Debra hit Galveston Island during the early morning hours. The resort island was completely isolated by the hurricane as virtually all highways in the path of the storm's center were closed.

The storm, which by midmorning had moved northward to the eastern edge of Houston, was showing signs of losing some of its punch. The Weather Bureau said that the maximum wind gusts had dropped to 67 m.p.h.

Tips on Purchase and Home Care of Your Wardrobe

By BERT BROWN, Marin Cleaners

Before buying Long Coat ask some short Questions:

The Long Short coat, good last year, even better this year in the college or career wardrobe. It goes under many different names — the car coat, all weather coat, surcoat and storm coat.

Regardless of label names I wish to point out there are certain features to consider to get the greatest satisfaction from your purchase.

Is the outer fabric treated with a water-repellent finish? If so, is it treated with durable water repellent? I recommend you buy one treated with a durable water-repellent because when your dry cleaner re-treats it, the results will be better. What about the inner-lining, is it made of foam rubber, urethane foam or a plain multi-colored fiber bat?

Depending on garment construction, some coats with foam rubber inner-linings must be wet cleaned, multi-colored inner-linings may bleed to water in spot removal and stain the outer coating fabric.

Sometimes the lining in the coat limits its cleanability. The fur type pile fabrics used for linings have been improved greatly. They can be dry cleaned. All linings and inner-lining fabrics should be color fast to both dry cleaning and wet cleaning.

Examine the under side of the coating fabric. Does it have a rubber coating on the outer fabric? If so, the garment should be wet cleaned.

Many of the short coats are made of, or trimmed with, plastic which looks like leather. This simulated leather should be wet cleaned for best results. If a garment is trimmed with genuine leather, it will require special handling by your dry cleaner.

And don't forget the outer trim. Are the buttons, toggles, or decorative trim cleanable? Non-dry cleanable trim should not be attached permanently to the garment. It should be removed before dry cleaning.

More on your wardrobe Wednesday.

Hamilton Air Base Pays Tribute To Retiring General, Sergeants

Three master sergeants from Western Air Defense Force headquarters at Hamilton Air Force Base and Brig. Gen. Edwin L. Tucker, vice commander of the WADF since July, 1955, took places together today on the reviewing stand in formal observance of the general's retirement.

The general and the three master sergeants — Everett (Frank) Parker, Jack D. Kane, and William E. Everett— will retire next Friday.

This morning's formal review, featuring overpasses by Delta Dagger and Voodoo interceptors, was also held for the presentation of the first Oak Leaf Cluster to the Legion of Merit to Tucker.

Tucker, rated a pilot and aircraft observer and commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Force Reserve upon graduation from North Carolina State College in 1929, has held various Air Force assignments.

He was commander of the 30th Air Division (Defense) prior to his assignment at Hamilton.

Sergeant Kane is retiring after more than 25 years service. He began his military career with the 7th Cavalry at Ft. Bliss, Tex. He has served in the 82nd Field Artillery, the 26th Wagon company and the 250th Motor Transport company.

In March, 1939, he enlisted in the 4th Air Base group at March Field, and in 1951 became first sergeant of the 3rd Air Base Squadron there.

After becoming a warrant officer, he served the 4th Air Force and was assigned to the air attache in London. He returned to the state in April, 1952, and in August, 1953, reverted to his permanent rank of master sergeant and enlisted at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Married and the father of three children, Kane plans to work for an auto supply firm in San Rafael.

Sergeant Parker plans to move to Riverside where he began his military career in 1929. He has been at Hamilton since 1950, and prior to that was at March Air Force Base where he had enlisted with the 70th Service Squadron.

He has served at various air bases and outfits, including the 82nd Fighter Interceptor Squadron. In 1952, he joined the WADF Inspector General team with which he served until March, 1955, when he took over his WADF in the material section.

He will be advanced upon retirement to the rank of captain, his highest wartime rank.

Sergeant Everett, a management analysis technician with WADF, numbers 24 years of active duty and four of reserve service. After ROTC training he was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Infantry Reserve in 1931. In 1933, he was called to active duty to command Civilian Conservation Corps camps in northern Minnesota. He remained on active duty until July, 1939. In August, 1941, he was called to active duty again as a first lieutenant, and later commanded an anti-tank training center.

Later he organized the 4th Special Service Squadron and took it to Europe in 1942. Still later, serving with the 8th Air Force, he advanced to lieutenant colonel. While serving in France he received the Bronze Star.

He reverted to master sergeant when he enlisted in 1947, but he will retire at his highest wartime rank. He plans to move to Florida.

Ex-Marinite Wins Music Study Grant

A $3,000 scholarship permitting a year or more of study in Europe has been awarded to a 28-year-old former Marinite.

He is George J. Burt Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Burt of 51 Park avenue, Mill Valley. Now married and with a 2-year-old son, the younger Burt has recently been living in Berkeley after graduation from University of California and taking a master's degree in music from Mills College.

Burt plays several instruments and made money from performing on the saxaphone and clarinet while obtaining an education, but his scholarship from the Alfred and Lily Alice Hertz Memorial awards was for proficiency in composition.

He was one of seven Bay Area musicians and scholars who will be given help in continuing their studies.

Burt is preparing to sail for Europe soon from New York with his family and his intention is to spend at least a year in Austria.

SALISBURY, N.C. (UPI)—Sheriff Arthur J. Shumping, who is on a diet so he can play on the law enforcement officers baseball team next month, said yesterday "I've joined the rabbit family. Nothing but lettuce and carrots."

Birth Control Data Favored

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Presidential study committee has recommended that the United States supply birth control information, if requested, to certain nations faced with the problem of overpopulation.

The recommendation is included in a report sent to Congress by President Eisenhower. The report deals with the broad topic of economic assistance to the free world's underdeveloped nations.

Eisenhower transmitted the document without comment on its various recommendations. He simply urged careful study.

Vicar Remains At Inverness

Rev. John Spear has announced that he will remain as full-time vicar at St. Columba's Episcopal Church at Inverness.

Permanence of his position was assured by the success of a recent financial compaign, Rt. Rev. Henry H. Shires, archdeacon, said the Inverness congregation has "done a wonderful job."

The diocese of the church said the response of the congregation made it possible for the retention of the present vicar by contributing funds over and above those provided by the diocese.

The campaign was led by Mrs. Robert Bruckman.

Odd Find

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—A worker in the University of Wisconsin's Bureau of Graduate Records came across two graduates with the same name and with the same birth date. On Sept. 12, 1924, Robert William Johnson was born in Staunton, Va., and on the same date in Milwaukee another Robert William Johnson was born. Both later received degrees from the university.

Marin Span Directors Must Not 'Carry Much Water'

Some weeks ago the Marin County Board of Supervisors unanimously endorsed the idea of a tourist information center at the Vista Point parking area just off the north end of Golden Gate Bridge.

The supervisors passed their resolution along to the Redwood Empire Assn. and the Golden Gate Bridge board asking similar endorsements from those two bodies.

After some considerable discussion the executive board of the R.E.A. endorsed the idea, again unanimously, and relayed the information to the Bridge Board with an urge to do likewise.

All the bridge board has done to date is "refer the matter to committee." Not another word has been heard from the direction of the Golden Gate save a couple of mild statements from Marin's two directors, Matt Graham and Leland Murphy that "We're for it."

Now the cat may be out of the bag:

When a couple of Marin business community representatives appeared before a bridge committee some days ago, one director is reported to have said straight out words to the effect that Marin shouldn't expect time of day from the bridge board since Marin County Supervisors endorsed the Golden Gate Authority proposal over the objections of the bridge board.

This would indicate that certain bridge directors go out of their way to discriminate against requests and suggestions emanating from Marin, as a matter of political reprisal.

Our two Marin directors ought to be in there scrapping for all they're worth against this kind of thing and in favor of recommendations and suggestions originating in Marin.

If you ask us, we would say that the Marin directors don't wield much influence — "don't carry much water" — down at the bridge, if Marin-born proposals get shelved so simply.

THEY WALKED OFF WITH THE SAFE

One man who thought he had a crackproof safe got a rude awakening recently.

As an added protection, this careful individual had his new safe built into the wall of his New Jersey home. Then he felt fully confident that when he went out his money, jewelry and securities were completely safe.

A couple of thieves, however, took a different point of view. After several vain attempts to open it, they agreed that the safe was a very good one. But they wouldn't let a seemingly impregnable safe stand in their way. They simply tore it out of the wall and took it with them.

There's nothing shy or backward about most evildoers of our day. They could not be more persistent, painstaking and thorough in seeing their fiendish objectives through to the finish.

Show as much zeal and stick-to-itiveness in championing the eternal truths of God and the human rights of man, and you will do a service to one and all.

SACRAMENTO SIDELIGHT

Gobbledygook Not Confined To Washington; State Has It, Too

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Why don't people in government say what they mean?

You wonder when state officials come up with such decorated verbiage as: reincapsulate, ongoing program, criteria and methodology.

He introduced a bill simply telling the State Social Welfare Board, in adopting rules and regulations, to "strive for clarity of language which may be readily understood."

The bill got through the Assembly. It died in the Senate Committee on Governmental Efficiency.

SOCIAL WORKERS aren't the only offenders. Engineers, lawyers and educators, in particular, each have a highly-specialized jargon of their own. Often it requires translation.

For instance, a couple of days ago the State Division of Forestry put out a news release on "the timber build-up index as of July 2, 1959." It turned out to be the potential fire hazard as measured by moisture and other factors.

We didn't know it until the Department of Water Resources let it out that "uniformity of criteria and methodology is still a paramount objective of Congress." This had to do with who's responsible for what in the water field.

THE DEPARTMENT of Education, in a report, concluded that the best test of teacher education is the teacher. But it didn't put it that way. Instead:

"The best evaluation of programs of teacher education is an evaluation of the products of the programs who are in teaching positions."

A flood operations manual solemnly informed us that the main causes which may contribute to levee failure include "overtopping as a result of river water surface elevations in excess of levee height."

It was the State Disaster Office that informed the governor: "During October, approximately half of our 100-millicurie sources were reincapsulated into newly decaled capsules."

AND THE LEGISLATIVE Analyst's office noted:

"The idleness factor is that group of inmates not employed or taking part in some productive, educational treatment program so that they are left idle a good part of the time."

One of our favorites, though comes from the California Administrative Code:

"For the purposes of the rules and regulations contained in this chapter, the present tense includes the past and future tenses, and the future, the present; the masculine gender includes the feminine, and the feminine, the masculine; and the singular includes the plural and the plural the singular."

YOU explain it!

Inflation Threat Must Be Resisted

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

"The price has gone up."

This expression has spread over the country like an epidemic with each participant hiding behind the skirts of inflation.

Our business people, including unions, are literally being mesmerized by this very expression. I heard it for the third time this week when I had my prescription filled. I flipped my lid and told the druggist, "people must stop using and practicing this destructive expression . . . The price has gone up."

But, of course, he was already unhappy because he had had it from the pharmaceutical representative.

So, the vicious circle continues on and on until John Q. Public is gouged for his last dime.

It is the duty of every American citizen to help fight inflation or we will have another depression far greater than the last one when my husband, a dentist, went to work with holes in his shoes; and, his attorney, with patches on the seat of his pants.

Teen-Age Activity List Worthwhile

EDITOR,

The other day I noticed a column in your good newspaper entitled, "Here Are Teen-Ager Activities For Week." I think this is a grand idea, although I don't know how long it has been going on.

I, for one, would like to see you blow up this idea a little bit and it might even be worthwhile to get some of the local youth agencies to do a little leg work on this for you.

Federal Government Should Play Role Of Fact Finder In Steel Strike

AMONG THE MANY big questions posed by the steel strike perhaps the most important is what should be the role of the Federal government. For there is much confusion about this.

The strike is taking place just as Congress is working on a law for the regulation of labor unions, a law which calls for comprehensive and far-reaching Federal intervention in the internal affairs of the unions. Yet on the steel strike there are many, including now the President himself, who want no Federal intervention and wish to see the issue settled by the test of economic power.

A month ago, at his press conference of June 17, he was asked this question by Mr. Raymond P. Brandt of the St. Louis Post Dispatch: "Both the steel management and the steel unions are using self-serving statistics which are in great conflict. Is there any way that government can bring out some impartial figures on profits and wages and productivity so that people can understand the issues and make their own decision?"

The President answered Mr. Brandt, saying, "Well, I think you have asked about the most intelligent question on that particular question, particular matter; and I haven't thought about it in this particular way . . . I don't know whether this would be helpful or not, but I'll take your suggestion and have it studied."

Last week, at his press conference on July 15, the President had had the matter studied. He had learned that "as far as a fact-finding board is concerned, I believe that all the facts are pretty well known . . . In all our reports, in the labor statistics and the commerce and the other figures that are published, some quarterly, some monthly, they are all there . . ."

Whoever did the studying of the question for the President did not understand the question, or he did not want the President to understand it. For while it may well be true that the "facts" are "all there" in some of the many reports that are published, how is the public to know, how is Congress to know, how are newspaper editors to know, which of the facts are important and relevant? The task of finding the facts that matter and of judging how they matter is a semi-judicial function. It cannot be done without a specialized inquiry by trained minds.

If there is no impartial tribunal to find the facts, then there can be no such thing as an enlightened public opinion. And if there is no enlightened opinion that can be brought to bear upon it, a strike of this magnitude must become a test of power in a whirl of propaganda and of prejudice.

WE LIVE IN a time when vital industries and services of the nation are in the hands of giant companies and giant unions.

We cannot entrust the interests of the nation to a combination of the companies and the unions, which is what we have had for some years until recently in the steel industry. Nor can we entrust the interests of the nation to a power struggle between the unions and the companies, however much this struggle be prettified by calling it "free bargaining."

In these great conflicts the national interest must be represented and asserted by the Federal government. The place to begin this is by a clarification of the contending claims. This alone may be enough to provide the basis of an opinion on which the government can exert its influence, and to which the public can rally.

A few days later he limped back into the dealer's showroom, his face and hands covered with bruises and bandages. He wanted to buy another of those cars, he explained. "What happened to the other one?" gasped the dealer.

"Me drive him fine," explained the Indian. "Buy gallon white mule likker. Take coupla drinks. Step on gas. Trees and fences go by heap fast. Pretty soon see big bridge coming down road. Turn out to let big bridge pass. Splash! Car gone! I wan' another."

Brave Souls Suggest Names For New High School At Terra Linda

AT LEAST WE may be getting somewhere. San Rafael's new high school south of Terra Linda may get a name after all.

Thus far it is referred to merely as "that new high school," or "new school at Terra Linda" or "San Rafael High II."

But this week a few of the braver souls have begun to hazard a few suggestions. Here are some samples. Lucas Valley High, Miwok High (after the Miwok Indians of Marin), Dulles High (after the late statesman), Mission High (since San Rafael is known as the Mission city).

Some energetic minded citizens were reported tramping through the area in search of some tree or bush like madrone or manzanita to give the school a name. But all they found was one old wild rose.

JUDGE N. CHARLES Brusatori of superior court noticed several jurors and even the witnesses waving their hands periodically, almost all afternoon the other day. Closer inspection showed that they were chasing flies that were buzzing all over the room.

What happened was that the county jail cooks were so good downstairs that the rich aroma whiffed upward into the courtroom. And the flies came with it. The judge's verdict: Either install screens or buy fly swatters for each juror and court attache.

GRAND JURORS are reported probing the alleged "misuse" of Aid to Needy Children funds. The allegation: Some women, married or otherwise, have children just to get the child support income.

LOOKS AS IF the judges will be coming out in robes prescribed by the state judicial council pretty soon. Although no one is saying so publicly, rumors have it that some rugged individualists are kicking because they do not want to see too much regimentation, like robes, wigs and beards.

SAN RAFAEL radio announcer Jerry Bennett is a local boy who made good. As student at Drake High, he trained under KTIM announcers Karl Barron and Bill Thompson. He's a full fledged announcer now at his old stomping grounds.

HAVE YOU noticed the size of the county recorder's office as drawn up at the new civic center site in Santa Venetia? They tell me the floor space is smaller than the existing recorder's office in the present courthouse..

ALL THE San Rafael police sergeants from the old regime have been given promotions or new jobs. Sgt. Jay Fletcher became a lieutenant. Sgt. Louis Foster is juvenile officer. Looks as if Sgt. Lincoln Borba is going to beef up the criminal investigation side as assistant inspector.

LATIN AMERICAN UNREST—III

Castro Enmity May Prolong Dictatorship Of Trujillo

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

THE DOMINICAN Republic and Cuba lie some 200 miles apart in the Caribbean. Theoretically, both are republics enjoying freedom of speech and thought. Actually, although for different reasons, both are dictatorships where a careless word or deed may have fatal results.

The enmity between the two could be the spark to alight the Caribbean and confront the United States with a crisis much closer to home than Berlin, Formosa or the Middle East.

In the Dominican Republic is the man twice the age of Castro, 67-year-old Generalissimo Rafael Leonidas Trujillo Molina, self-styled "benefactor," a man old in the intrigue and violence of Caribbean politics.

In Cuba there is the dreary echo of the firing squads which have cut down nearly 600 persons accused of crimes against the state. In a nation of only a little more than five million it seems an unusually high percentage of those whose opposition to a regime made it necessary for them to pay the final penalty.

Marrero was one of those who, while professing loyalty to Trujillo, still planned for a more democratic time after Trujillo's departure.

Earlier, last week, in the United States, he had talked of his plans and said then that if his words leaked back to Ciudad Trujillo "I'm a dead man."

SO VIOLENT DEATH is a stranger to neither country.

Nor is intrigue new against Trujillo. He has been an absolute dictator for 29 years, dating back to a time when Castro was but a baby, three years old.

But Castro is his chief villain now, and it was Trujillo's charges against Cuba that brought about the call for next month's meeting of the foreign ministers of the organization of American states (OAS) in Santiago, Chile.

There are many conflicts in the Trujillo story. Enmity between the Dominican Republic and Cuba dates far beyond Castro. Yet, today Trujillo finds himself perhaps the unwilling host to Fulgencio Batista, Cuba's ousted ex-dictator.

His is an undoubted dictatorship yet the Dominican Republic's record of hospitals, schools, sewage systems and general prosperity is far better than that of Haiti, the Negro republic with which it divides the island, and which now is sunk in poverty.

There is a growing feeling that the Dominican dictatorship may be drawing to a close. Yet, Castro, its enemy, may help to perpetuate it for a time. Landowners and other conservative Dominican groups have watched events in Cuba and are not anxious to see them duplicated in their country.

STIRS CONTROVERSY

A Church of England official has ruled that this statue of Christ isn't welcome—even as a gift. The 11-foot, six-ton statue, by sculptor Sir Jacob Epstein, 79, is titled "Ecce Homo," Latin for "Behond the Man." The vicar of Britain's Selby Abbey asked Epstein to leave his statue to the abbey in his will. The sculptor offered it as a gift. And a storm of criticism followed. It now appears that the statue is without a home.

Church Slates First Service In Shady Lot

Three months of hard work and preparation will be climaxed tomorrow when the congregation of the new Southern Baptist Church of the San Geronimo Valley holds its first service in a shaded lot in Woodacre.

Site of that initial worship will be the lot on Castle Rock avenue behind the Marin County Fire Department's headquarters.

Services will continue to be conducted there until the congregation can locate a suitable building.

Early in June the First Baptist Church of Novato, sponsors of the new church, called Rev. Charles W. Hedrick as pastor of the new congregation. He is a former pastor of the Mayersville Baptist Church, Mayersville, Miss., a graduate of Mississippi College, and a student of Golden Gate Seminary at Mill Valley.

Sunday school will be held at 9:45 a.m. for classes of all ages with a nursery in a nearby home. The worship service will begin at 11 a.m. Time and place of an evening Bible study will be announced Sunday morning.

One of the group will participate in 8:30 and 11 a.m. worship services the following morning and Sunday School at 9:45 a.m. Their visit will end with a family night box supper and program at 7 p.m. on Aug. 4.

Poll Says No On Mixed Marriages

Although a large majority of respondents to a race bias questionnaire filled out by Novato Presbyterian Church members professed willingness to mingle with Negroes in casual social relationships, there was more than four-to -one opposition to mixed marriages.

This was disclosed in final results of questions answered by 201 of the 400 congregation members, announced by Francis Kempton of the church's committee on social education and action.

Dr. Edward L. Kessel, chairman of the committee which sent out and tabulated the questionnaires, said members answering "yes" in opposition to mixed marriages have "lined themselves up as opposed to God's nondiscriminating stand."

Questions in the final portion of the survey and how they were answered are as follows:

Would you willingly sit next to a Negro in public? 172 yes, 24 no.

Would you willingly shake hands with a Negro in public? 180 yes, 14 no.

Would you be embarrassed to be seen taking a Sunday afternoon drive in your community with a Negro family in their car? 80 yes, 101 no.

Would you be reluctant to have Negroes in your home as guests? 77 yes, 113 no.

Would you willingly have Negroes in your home as guests if this fact would be obvious to your neighbors? 120 yes, 59 no.

Have you ever had Negroes in your home as guests? 52 yes, 155 no.

Have you ever been entertained in the home of Negroes? 41 yes, 155 no.

Would you consider membership in the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People? 47 yes, 124 no.

Would you be willing to attend a social dinner at a public eating place when the party included both Negroes and other caucasians? 162 yes, 31 no.

Would you be willing to attend a social dinner at a public eating place if you were the only caucasian with a party of Negroes? 82 yes, 96 no.

As a single person, would you accept a date with a Negro of the opposite sex? 27 yes, 161 no.

Would you be more inclined to associate with a Negro couple than with a mixed couple having one party Negro and the other caucasian? 56 yes, 113 no.

Are you opposed to marriages between causacians and persons of obvious Negro ancestry? 159 yes, 38 no.

Are you opposed to marriages between caucasians and persons of known Negro ancestry who do not show their Negro heritage? 134 yes, 57 no.

Would your feeling change toward a close friend you had supposed to be caucasian if you learned that he had some Negro ancestry? 19 yes, 171 no.

Dr. Kessel said the results "indicate that many of our Christian citizens are, in some situations, ruled more by their racial prejudices than by logic or a desire to follow the teachings of Christ in their attitudes toward other men."

Interracial marriage, said Dr. Kessel, "is certainly not a sin when one recognizes that God considers all races to be equal."

The over-all results of the survey, Kessel said, show strong support for a permanent official commission on civil rights for Marin County and good acceptance of racial equality in the areas of church fellowship, employment and education.

The council meeting opens Monday and continues through Aug. 6.

Dr. Gill left San Anselmo last Sunday, planning to make brief stops in several South American cities before attending the council.

Dr. Gill was nominated as a delegate to the council by the Commission on Ecumenical Missions and Relations of the United Presbyterian Church in the USA.

Lutherans To Dedicate New Building

Peace Lutheran Church of Mill Valley will dedicate its new Christian education and activity building tomorrow at 9:45 a.m.

The building is located on Highway 1 between Mill Valley and Sausalito.

Rites tomorrow will mark the climax of three years of planning and work by the congregation.

Services will be highlighted by the opening of the doors by Arthur Strassburger, congregation president. Leaders of the various congregational agencies will then enter followed by the congregation.

Builder Harold Camping will turn over the keys to Russell Brown, building plans chairman, who will in turn present them to Rev. Robert K. Menzel, pastor.

Children will sing and the pastor will speak on "A word About Stones."

At 11 a.m. a service of praise will be held in the parish hall-chapel and will be followed by refreshments in the new building.

Parents and Sunday school children are seeking to raise more than $2,000 dedication day for purchase of needed folding partitions.

'THAT WAS A BIG WIN'- RIGNEY

Another Cliff-Hanger And Giants Increase N.L. Lead

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"That was a big one for us," declared San Francisco Manager Bill Rigney as his Giants rescued another cliff hanger to go 2½ games in front of the National League race.

The going was tough in last night's see-saw battle with the Chicago Cubs before Jimmy Davenport singled home Hobie Landrith in the last of the 10th inning for a 6-5 victory.

Coupled with the St. Louis victory over Los Angeles, the victory boosted the league lead of the transplanted New Yorkers. Ever since they came west they've been playing these cliff hangers, where you don't know what's going to happen until the last minute.

"That was the biggest one I've had in quite a while," declared third baseman Davenport of his winning hit off Don Elston, the Cubs' reliever. "He threw one a little low and inside, either a slider or a fast ball, it's hard to tell which."

The Cubs may be without the services of their star shortstop Ernie Banks today. He was spiked by Jackie Brandt in a play at second in the first inning last night and forced to leave the game in the next frame because of a cut on his left big toe.

Three home runs sparked the early action in the 3 hours and 46-minute contest before a full house of 22,865 fans.

The Giants scored single runs in the third and fourth. The first came as starting pitcher Johnny Antonelli singled home Hobie Landrith and the second when Landrith singled to score Orlando Cepeda.

Chicago went ahead 3-2 in the top of the fifth. Bobby Thomson homered to start the frame. Then Earl Averill walked and George Altman doubled him to third. Both scored when Landrith threw into left field trying a pickoff at third base. Before the inning was over, Antonelli was on his way to the showers but there was no more scoring.

BRANDT HOMERS

Brandt homered in the fifth and Davenport scored after his double and a single by Daryl Spencer. In the sixth Averill hit a two-run homer.

That's how things stood until the eighth when pinch hit singles by Leon Wagner and Willie Mays plus another by Brandt brought in the tying run. Mays had been sitting the game out because of a stiff neck.

Elston struck out the side in the ninth, but in the 10th he walked Landrith to open the inning. Danny O'Connell laid down a perfect sacrifice bunt and Mays was purposely walked. Brandt fanned but Davenport came through with the game-winning line drive single.

MARIN HUNTER, 73, GETS SEASON'S FIRST BUCK

Fred Hogeboom, 73-year-old retired San Quentin Prison correctional officer, started the deer season which opened this morning with a bang—and that bang from his rifle made what is believed to be the first deer kill in Marin County.

The resident of San Quentin Village, hunting with his stepson, Elmo Finnerty, felled a 135-pound, forked horn buck at approximately 6:15 a.m. at Greenbrae Hill, behind the prison. Finnerty had the first shot at the buck, but missed. Then Hogeboom felled the animal with a single shot through the neck from 100 yards.

It was the first deer kill reported to the Independent-Journal this morning.

Johnson To Meet Miteff August 14

LOUISVILLE (UPI) — Alonzo Johnson, a young man from Pennsylvania who cut his eye teeth on a ring rope, today was ready to take on Argentine heavyweight Alex Miteff after spoiling Willie Pastrano's comeback hopes by an unanimous decision.

Subbing for Miteff, the former barber from Braddock, Pa., stalked the Miami, Fla., boxer for most of the 10 rounds last night and rang up an impressive, if close, decision by shrugging off Pastrano's fast punching.

Neither fighter was ever down in the nationally-televised bout.

The win by the better-conditioned Johnson, ranked seventh by the NBA, was his 13th straight and ran his record to 18-1. For Pastrano, now ranked eighth by Ring Magazine, it was another disappointment in his comeback attempts.

Sprinter Norton To Play Football

SAN JOSE (AP) — Football Coach Bob Titchenal of San Jose State College said today Ray Norton, currently the top sprinter in the United States, will play football for the Spartans this fall.

Norton, considered a cinch for the 1960 Olympic Games, hopes to take a crack at professional football, Titchenal said.

Norton will be a senior this fall. "He's tough and fast," Titchenal said. "All he needs is experience."

Services Today For Coach Tatum

Tatum, 46, who was named Coach of the Year in 1953 while at the University of Maryland, died here Thursday night of a virus infection.

His wife, Edna, hospitalized with the same type of virus which claimed her husband, was not expected to attend the services.

The Chapel Hill Methodist Church was the scene of the services for the 240-pound Tatum, one of the nation's most successful coaches.

Tatum, who had hoped this season might be "my best ever," died from a virus attack that overwhelmed his vital organs. He entered the hospital last Saturday.

8 Cities Talk Of Third Big League

NEW YORK (AP)—An "exploratory" meeting on a third major league was held here yesterday with eight cities represented. What was developed was not revealed.

Houston, Toronto, Denver, Minneapolis, St. Paul, New York and Dallas-Fort Worth had representatives at the meeting. It was called by Bill Shea, chairman of the committee in New York that is spearheading the drive for a third major league.

Sports Shop Wins Li'l Loop Playoff

Paul Giampoli's three-run homer and Mark Maas' three-hit, 13-strikeout pitching led the Taveggia-Brusati Sports Shop team to a 4-3 victory over Cerutti Brothers last night in the San Rafael American Little League. The win clinched the league's second half championship for T and B. The Cerutti team won the first half championship, so now the co-champs will meet in a best-of-three-game series for the undisputed title.

Falcons Win Tiburon Peninsula Li'l Loop

The Falcon team, with a season record of 14 wins and 4 losses, is the winner in the major league division of the Tiburon Peninsula Little League, according to President Francis L. Hevern.

Second in team standings are the Octopi. The Lions are third with the Seals in fourth spot.

San Anselmo '9' Seeks 8th Straight Victory

Undefeated Ongaro Plumbing of San Anselmo, hottest semi-professional baseball club in Marin County, goes after its eighth victory tomorrow against the Johnson Tamales team of San Francisco at San Anselmo's Memorial Park.

Lefty Bobby DeRosa, winner of all the San Anselmo team's seven victories, will start on the mound. Game time is 1:30 p.m.

Two other semi-pro games are scheduled in Marin County.

The Tiburon Pelicans play host to the Teamsters Union of San Francisco starting at 2:30 p.m. with Fred Thurman slated to start on the hill for Manager Eddie Vigno's Pelicans.

Vigno has announced four big games on Tiburon's schedule for August. The Pelicans will play a Saturday night, Sunday afternoon series with the Reno Garage team at Reno on Aug. 8-9. Then the Pelicans return to their home base on August 16 for what should be Marin's "Game of the Year" against the Ongaro Plumbers on Aug. 16. Those rivals will meet a second time Aug. 23 at San Anselmo.

Mrs. Moore Okay; Archie To Resume Title Go Drills

Moore was assured yesterday that his wife, Joan, was recovering satisfactorily from an operation last Monday for removal of a non-malignant growth.

"I spoke to Joan for the first time," Moore said yesterday, "and she's okay now."

The fight was originally scheduled for July 15 and was first set back to July 29 when Moore suffered a bruised heel.

Chisox Have Edge In Pennant Chase

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

If the American League race is going to wind up in one of those close shaves, look for the White Sox to win it by a whisker.

That's how they've been winning all along.

There's an old baseball adage which says the team that wins the one-run games usually cops the pennant. And if that's the case, get ready to mail those World Series ticket orders in care of Comiskey Park.

Al Lopez' crew scored their 22nd one-run victory of the season by shading the Baltimore Orioles, 2-1, last night to remain in first place by half a game over the second-place Cleveland Indians.

It marked the 27th time this year the light-hitting White Sox were involved in a one-run game and of all those contests, they have been on the short end in only five of them.

Cleveland licked Washington, 5-2; Detroit beat New York, 4-2, and Kansas City won its fifth straight game by defeating Boston, 3-1.

In the National League, the Giants increased their lead to 2½ games by beating the Cubs, 6-5, in 10 innings; the Cardinals nipped the Dodgers, 2-1; the Braves blanked the Pirates, 8-0, and the Phillies edged the Reds, 2-1.

YANKEE-KILLER

Southpaw Don Mossi of the Tigers beat the Yankees for the fifth straight time while dropping the world champions below the .500 mark again, eight games off the pace.

Johnny Kucks scattered nine hits in stopping the Red Sox and pitching the A's to their ninth victory in 11 games. Big Frank Sullivan started for Boston and yielded all of Kansas City's runs during the 5⅓ innings he worked, including a homer by Dick Williams in the fifth. Kucks is now 4-6 and Sullivan 6-6.

PODRES BEATEN

Johnny Podres of the Dodgers was sailing along with a 1-0 lead when the Cardinals chased him and won the game with two runs in the eighth. Singles by Don Blasingame, Alex Grammas, Bill White and Gino Cimoli combined to hand Podres his seventh loss. Ernie Broglio gained his fifth victory although Lindy McDaniel pitched the last two innings and held Los Angeles hitless.

Southpaw Juan Pizarro struck out 12 Pittsburgh batters and pitched a four-hitter in leading Milwaukee to victory. Joe Adcock belted a two-run homer off loser Harvey Haddix in the first inning, then drove in another run in a four-run fifth inning rally.

A two-run pinch homer by Carl Sawatski in the ninth brought the Phillies their victory over the Reds.

ALMANAC

Today is Saturday, July 25, the 206th day of the year, with 159 more days to follow in 1959.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The evening stars are Jupiter, Saturn, Venus, and Mars.

On this date in history:

In 1866, Ulysses S. Grant became the first American officer to receive the rank of general of the United States Army.

In 1909, a French pilot landed in Dover, England, and was believed the first visitor to set foot in England who did not come by water.

In 1943, Dictator Benito Mussolini refused to sign a letter of resignation and was immediately taken into custody by Italian troops.

In 1956, shortly before midnight the luxury liners Andrea Doria and the Stockholm collided 45 miles off Nantucket.

Gate Tickets Are Extended

Current commutation ticket books will be good for passage over the Golden Gate Bridge through Sept. 10 as result of anguished motorists' protests and a decision in Santa Rosa yesterday by the district board.

The new commutation system effective July 1 provided for an over-all time limit of two consecutive calendar months for 52 rides, 12 rides more than the former books. Users complained that this was an unreasonable situation with a chance that some tickets would be wasted, also that car pools are handicapped by non-transferability of books.

So the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District board voted to extend the time for use of tickets through the tenth day of the third month after purchase. Nothing was done, however, about the no-transfer feature.

The board was told ticket sales were up 10 per cent this month.

dates," DeLasaux said that route study is to be completed by Oct. 1. Complete plans should be ready by May 1, 1960, he declared.

"You must have the route ready right now!" exclaimed Fusselman. "I never saw that kind of speed."

"No, we have some ideas, but they aren't final," said Hoover. "I think there can be reasonable selection of route by then—it will be open to modification right up to final construction."

Asked Fusselman, "Have you arrived at a way of crossing the Golden Gate yet?"

Hoover said negotiations have been in progress with the Golden Gate Bridge District, which has set up certain requirements to be met in asking a right-of-way over the bridge.

"The committee was most cooperative," DeLasaux put in. "With the present board I think you'll find that we'll run into no obstacles."

"If you do not come to a final definite agreement with the bridge directors your time schedule is going to be out of kilter," said Fusselman. "It might have an effect on your bond issue. If there's conflict, you'll never carry the bond issue."

Financing cannot yet be closely estimated, Hoover said, partly because "we don't know enough about financial return to see how much may be self-supporting. Anything to reduce the general bonding would make it more palatable to everybody."

Novato 4-H Girl's Lamb Attract's High Fair Bid

Other Marin 4-H youngsters walking off with honors from the fair were Martin Baccaglio, Jone Young, Michael Cullins, Mary Linda Baccaglio, Linda Wright, John Pronzini, Sandra Pronzini, Terry Tomasini and Frank Smaw. All are from Novato except Tomasini, who is from Nicasio.

Joan's lamb brought a bid of $1.25 a pound, second highest of the day, from Al Tomasini who bought the animal for the Novato branch of the First National Bank. Highest price of the fair thus far went to Tom Stammer, Future Farmer from Sebastopol, whose lamb brought $1.60 a pound.

John's score for the fair was two first, three second and two third place ribbons.

Hurt Airman Doing Well

An Air Force sergeant injured Thursday night when his car hit two horses was reported today to be in "excellent" condition at Letterman Army Hospital.

A hospital spokesman said T/Sgt. Phillip Victor Monroy, 28, of headquarters, Western Air Defense Force, at Hamilton Air Force Base, suffered only a superficial cut to his right eye, and that his sight will not be impaired.

Monroy's car hit two horses belonging to Fabian Bob of 1470 South Novato boulevard, Novato. One horse was killed outright, and the other was destroyed by a veterinarian.

The Belvedere Volunteer Firemen will hold their annual beer bust for all Belvedere men next Friday at 8 p.m. in the firehouse, according to Stanley V. Dick, president of the Volunteer Firemens Assn.

The old fashioned "bring your own mug" evening will feature a "Dutch-lunch" and a chance to inspect the city's fire fighting equipment.

The event traditionally is held to stimulate interest in the firemen's ball, to be held this year Aug 21 at the Corinthian Yacht Club.

The 20 volunteers boast three third generation members. They are William, Scott and Robert McLean, sons of former fire chief Sandy McLean. Host for the evening will be Lawrence (Bunk Mersereau.

Better Not To Force Son To Play In Little League If He Refuses

Mrs. F. N. "My husband was a baseball star in college. Our son did not inherit his talents. The boy was on a Little League team this spring and worked himself sick trying to make good. He had bad dreams at night. Sometimes after a game he couldn't keep his dinner down. He was the worst player on the team, and he knew it. He has begged us not to make him play in the Little League next year. What should we do?"

Reply. Don't make him play. Little League is good for many boys. It is a nightmare for others. Only harm comes when those who lack ability are forced into it. Let your son find his own sports interests. He needs things in which he can succeed. Don't push him into more failure. In the future he should take part in competitive games only when he wants to.

Mrs. L. S. "We're getting our daughter some new clothes for school. She's a junior in high school. Wouldn't it save time, trouble and money if the schools returned to the simplified or uniform dress regulations they had years ago? Would many oppose the return?"

Reply. Yes, many people would. Most of our teachers and school administrators are opposed to uniform dress regulations. They remember the struggles they had enforcing the rules. They became policemen, not teachers. I suggest you discuss this with your principal.

Mrs. R.D. "I'm flying across country next week with our 18-month-old baby. How can I prepare her for the trip? Is air travel really easier for children than surface travel?"

Reply. It is easier because it is quicker. Help her get used to safety belts by playing games with a belt and a chair at home. Take along her favorite playthings. Explain ahead of time what will happen. Then she won't be so frightened. Many airlines let passengers with babies get on the planes first. Ask about it. The stewardesses will help you. They're used to little ones. Chances are your girl will have a wonderful trip.

JAPANESE FASHION MODEL WINS MISS UNIVERSE TITLE

LONG BEACH (UPI) — A classic Japanese beauty, whose sole ambition is "to make a lovely wife," today wore the crown of Miss Universe — the first Asian winner in the pageant's eight-year history.

She has black hair and eyes, stands five feet, six inches tall, weighs 120 pounds, and measures 37-23-38.

Miss Norway, Jorunn Kristiansen, 18; Miss United States, Terry Lynn Huntingdon, 19; Miss England, Pamela Ann Searle, 21, and Miss Brazil, Vera Ribeiro, 19.

Error In Polio Clinic News Story Pays Off

On Wednesday the I-J explained that the clinic had been planned for next Tuesday but due to the error one would be held Wednesday night, in order not to disappoint anyone. Another clinic will be held Tuesday, as planned, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Figures compiled by Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, show that a total of 222 injections were administered at the hurry-up Wednesday clinic—159 to persons 20 years of age or older, 46 to those between five and 19 years, and 17 to youngsters of four or younger.

Kayo Claims His Accusers Resorting To Falsehoods

"Falsehoods and perjury" by his accusers have been charged by Terrance (Kayo) Hallinan in a petition to Marin Superior Court seeking revelation of statements to Marin authorities by James Thalhamer Jr. and others concerning a Hallinan-Thalhamer conflict in Greenbrae May 29.

Young Hallinan says that during the affair "I did nothing illegal and was not only justified but required to prevent an illegal assault upon Dick Llewellyn."

OFFICIALS NAMED

Authorities alleged as having information to support this, in contrast with information later given to a grand jury and in depositions, are Chief Howard Clark of the Larkspur police, W. O. Weissich, Marin County district attorney, Inspector Donald E. Midyett, and Sheriff Louis Mountanos of Marin County.

Hallinan, 22-year-old University of California student living in Ross and son of Attorney Vincent Hallinan, is scheduled for Marin County trial Sept. 1 on a charge of felonious assault on Thalhamer, an 18-year-old Fairfax high school student.

As result of one punch at the Greenbrae bowling alley Thalhamer suffered a broken jaw but Hallinan's petition contends that accounts of the affair have not only differed as between Thalhamer and Hallinan but also between what Thalhamer and his companions told Marin authorities soon afterward and what they later said before the grand jury and in depositions.

Hallinan's petition gives his own side of the story, which he claims would be supported by revelation of statements made to Marin authorities by Thalhamer, Adelbert Smith and Thalhamer's brother George. These statements, says the petition, "will serve to disclose the falsehood and perjury of their testimony both before the grand jury and in depositions."

As background of the May 29 event, Hallinan in his petition contends that his companion Llewellyn, while a resident in 1957 at the Sunny Hills orphanage, had defended a smaller boy against bullying by Smith and a companion with the result that Llewellyn struck Smith.

As result of consequent "ill will" by Smith against Llewellyn, Thalhamer in company of Smith is alleged by Hallinan to have threatened Llewellyn. When Hallinan stepped in, he says, seeking to make peace, Thalhamer "drew his fist back with the obvious intention of striking me. . . . Given less than a second to estimate what to do, I struck out in self-defense and hit him in the face, using no more force than was necessary to protect myself and to prevent him from first striking me."

Subsequently, says Hallinan, the Thalhamers and their parents "conspired to misrepresent the incident," to conceal the motive, to make Hallinan's attack seem unwarranted, "to stir up public hatred" and to "extort an unconscionable sum" ($220,000 damages has been asked).

2 APARTMENT BUILDINGS AUTHORIZED

Permits were issued last week for $471,395 in new construction in unincorporated Marin County.

The permits included those for two apartment buildings of six units each on Leafwood drive, Novato, of Kaehler Construction Co.; a $5,200 stable for Dr. Kirk D. Garretson of 255 Van Winkle drive, Sleepy Hollow; 20 new dwellings and eight swimming pools.

Martinez Bridge Bids Favorable

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown announced yesterday favorable construction bids on the Benicia Martinez Bridge will make it possible to build the whole project at once.

To Review Reports

The Tiburon Sanitary District directors will review engineering reports on the proposed admission of the Hilarita Housing Project into the district at its meeting Aug. 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the Tiburon boulevard district offices, according to secretary Robert A. Sterling.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Hurt Scout Rescued

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Rescue squads carried a 16-year-old Explorer Scout, William MacDonald of Denver, to safety yesterday after he had been burned and knocked unconscious by a lightning bolt on 13,000-foot Pawnee Pass west of Boulder.

Demo Peace Reigns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler was reported today to have assured Democratic congressional leaders that he was not engaging in a personal feud with them.

He offered an olive branch in an hour-long talk yesterday with Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson. Those two were the unmistakeable if unnamed targets of his recent prodding of the Democratic-controlled Congress.

Rayburn described the discussion as "a very friendly conversation" in which all three agreed that none of them is trying to divide the party.

Kidnap Story Hoax

Long, Truman Talk

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., (UPI)— Louisiana's vacationing Gov. Earl Long confers with former President Truman today about the prospects of a Symington-Kennedy Democratic ticket for 1960.

Long arrived in nearby Kansas City early today, nearing the last leg of a whirlwind vacation trip that took him through Texas and Colorado before arriving here. Long said he had several political issues to talk over with Truman and especially wanted to sound out the former chief executive on presidential candidates.

Water Meet Slated

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — State director of water resources Harvey O. Banks will call a statewide conference "within two months" on water shortage threats to some areas of California.

Horse Bill Backed

French Hit Algerians

ALGIERS (UPI) — A huge French task force drew first blood today in its drive against a major Algerian rebel base in the rugged Kabyllia Mountains 60 miles east of here.

"Several dozen" rebels were reported killed, wounded and captured as advance patrols of the French force caught up with and battled isolated units from the main body of the 5,000-man nationalist shadow army.

Strike Idles 578,000

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — The number of workers idled by the 11-day-old nationwide steel strike has reached 578,000.

Approximately 500,000 of these are United Steelworkers who struck the basic steel industry at midnight July 14.

The other 78,000 are employes in allied industries that have been forced to curtail operations because of the strike.

Trapped Cons Safe

SUSANVILLE — Twenty trapped convicts had to be rescued and all logging operations were halted in one national forest because of an outbreak of lightning-set forest fires.

Today planes and men still battled fires in Amador and Lassen counties.

One in Amador, 22 miles east of the Mother Lode town of Jackson, trapped 20 Folsom prison convicts for two hours yesterday. The convicts from the Folsom Vallecito Honor Camp had to take refuge in a circle created by tanks of borate solution dropped from four planes, rushed to the scene from Sonora. Then other ground crewmen made an escape path.

X15 Passes Test

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, (AP) — The Air Force reports the X15 rocket plane passed its final test yesterday and is ready for its first powered flight — possibly within the next two weeks.

The black, missile-like craft was filled with tons of fuel on a captive flight yesterday. The 70-minute test was designed to check how fast the plane could jettison its 18,000-pound fuel load and its characteristics at its gross weight of 32,000 pounds. The flight was made with the X15 hanging beneath the wing of a big B 52 jet bomber.

Liberace Rift Ends

George, the violinist, and Lee, the piano-playing fellow with the candelabrum, publicly patched up their rift over dinner Thursday night at the hotel where George and his orchestra play.

Goldfine Faces Quiz

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Bernard Goldfine, handed a suspended sentence on contempt of Congress charges, today faced the prospect of another appearance before House investigators.

The gift-giving Boston textile tycoon indicated that this time he would be "very pleased" to answer the 18 questions which led to the contempt charge.

JUST DON'T KNOCK CABLE CARS, KOZLOV

"It is dirty and the air is bad," he told American newsmen today while awaiting a visit from Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

FCC Orders Interstate Phone Rate Cut

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A federal agency has issued an order calculated to save Americans 50 million dollars in long distance telephone charges each year.

The Federal Communications Commission late yesterday ordered the Bell Telephone System to reduce its rates by this amount on calls of more than 300 miles in distance.

However, the order affects only telephone calls between states.

Incorporation Foes Meet In Novato

A property owners' meeting has been scheduled for 8 tonight to protest the proposed incorporation of Novato.

In a circular that has been distributed in the area, it is claimed that the number of property owners opposing incorporation equal those who signed the petitions asked for an incorporation election.

Three Sentenced For Drunk Driving

Three drunken drivers were sentenced Thursday in Marin Municipal Court by Judge Harold J. Haley.

Edward B. Newman, 31, of C-17, Hilarita Housing, Tiburon, must spend five days in jail and pay a $250 fine for drunken driving on Tiburon road last May 29. He had a prior conviction in December of 1952. Newman works for a publishing firm.

A 19-year-old sailor, Raymond Dennis Crews of 68 Greenbrae Boardwalk, paid a $250 fine for drunken driving in Larkspur last Saturday. Larkspur police caught him at Sir Francis Drake boulevard near Highway 101. The young sailor must also spend five days in jail for reckless driving.

Martin Francis Tarpey Jr., 39, of San Rafael, who works in a car lot, drew one year probation and a $250 fine. His license is suspended for 90 days. Tarpey was caught at Third street and Tamalpais avenue in San Rafael on July 14.

Richmond Tries New Safety Plan

RICHMOND (UPI)—The Richmond Civic Center Safety Committee has a new way to promote safe working conditions in and around civic center buildings.

Before each meeting, committee members tour the buildings and pick up printed forms that have been given to workers earlier. The forms provide space for the worker to list hazards in his area.

When the meeting begins, committee members have specific tasks before them.

168 BILLS VETOED

Governor Lauds Record Compiled By Legislature

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown laid aside his bill-signing pen today to praise the 1959 Legislature for a "memorable record of new and valuable legislation."

"Seldom in the history of California or any other state has a Legislature compiled such a fine record of service to the people," Brown said in a statement.

ACTION COMPLETED

The governor yesterday completed action on the 2,363 measures sent him by the Legislature which adjourned June 10. He signed 2,195 bills and vetoed 168.

Most of the veto announcement — 125 — came yesterday, last day in the 30-day bill-signing period.

The totals fall short of any record.

"This Legislature passed fewer bills than its predecessor," Brown noted, "but I think it leaves a far more memorable record of new and valuable legislation behind it."

PRECEDENT SET

Brown pointed to precedent he set in issuing statements on each bill acted upon.

The statements came fast and furious yesterday as he acted on more than 130 measures, among them proposals to wipe out the crime of vagrancy and to give the Senate the right to confirm all of his major appointments.

He said he vetoed the vagrancy bill because it removed police control from certain dangerous conduct, although he said the legislation had a laudable purpose.

Brown refused to sign the confirmation measure, he said, because it would weaken executive power.

The governor had acted on most major legislation before yesterday's deadline, including a 2¼ billion-dollar state budget, 220 million in new taxes, higher worker benefits, fair employment practices, a proposed bond issue for statewide water development and other new programs.

Other measures he vetoed yesterday included:

ASSEMBLY BILLS:

Required arrested persons to be booked within three hours or be released from custody.

Allowed unrestricted issuance of beer and wine licenses to bona fide public eating places.

SENATE BILLS:

Increased state subventions to local agencies for community mental health services.

Nixon vs. Khrushchev On TV Tomorrow

The Nixon-Khrushchev talks in Moscow, taken on video tape, will be beamed over television channel 4 tomorrow night at 7, KRON-TV has announced.

Mono Street Ark Dwellers' Deadline Near

Four ark dwellers on Sausalito's underwater Mono street have until midnight tonight to vacate their houseboats under a ruling handed down by Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court yesterday.

The judge yesterday turned down the ark owners' latest plea for a writ of mandamus, which would have forced the city of Sausalito to allow the ark owners to tie up to the city sewer lines. Ted Rosenak, attorney for the ark dwellers, argued that the ark owners want to tie up to city lines, but that the city will not permit it.

City Atty. John Ehlen contends that the arks are on city property, and the city cannot permit them to tie onto city lines while the houseboats are encroaching on city land.

If the ark owners fail to move out by tonight, the city will probably seek a contempt of court proceeding against the residents.

Insurance Agents Elect President

George Hall of Novato has been named president of the North Marin Assn. of Insurance Agents, succeeding Donal Swan.

Sewer Defects Claimed In Harbor Point Project

Marin County and the developers of Harbor Point Subdivision 1 in southern Marin went to court yesterday, seeking almost $20,000 damages for alleged defects in the subdivision's sewer facilities.

The county and Marin Land Co. are suing Richardson Bay Sanitary District; Charles O. Prince, doing business as Morrow Underground Construction Co.; and several other defendants including the sanitary district engineer.

According to the suit, the county paid Prince and Morrow Underground Construction Co. for completing the sewer jobs in 1957, after engineers J. C. Oglesby, J. Warren Nute, and the sanitary district certified that the lines were in order.

But in June of 1957, Nute served notice that the sewer lines had been damaged by other contractors during installation of other improvements.

The county alleges that the Marin Land Co. had to make the repairs at a cost of about $20,000. The county and the land company are suing for damages in Marin Superior Court.

Among the defendants named are Prince and his construction firm; Action Electric Co. Inc., which put in electrical lines; Associated Pipe Line Inc.; and Pacific Gas and Electric, which installed gas lines.

Corte Madera Pastor On Trip

Rev. Clarence Haugen of San Jose is the supply pastor at Marin Lutheran Church of Corte Madera during the absence of the pastor, Rev. George O. Loftness.

Rev. Haugen will preach at both services tomorrow — 8:30 and 11 a.m.

Rev. and Mrs. Loftness are vacationing in the Pacific Northwest. They will return early next month.

MUSCLE AND balance are needed to propell logs around timber pond at Cloverdale. Logging is Redwood Empire's industry and building is Marin's number one industry. Thus the two are closely linked, and the steps of the process from tall timber to redwood planked Marin houses are complicated and interesting.

COFFEEBERRY (Rhamnus californica) — The Coffeeberry is a common evergreen shrub of the Coast Ranges. It usually grows from 4 to 6 ft. tall. Its leaves, from ½ to 1 in. wide, vary with the location. They are small and thick in dry habitats, and large and thin in moist, shady situations. Its small greenish flowers are inconspicuous. The ¼ to ⅜ inch berries turn from green to red to black as they ripen. (From "Out-of-Doors in Marin, copyright M. F. Austin.)

Underwater Picture Window Used To Spot Swim Flaws

So saith Ann Curtis Cuneo from whose submarine observation room I was able to view under water the disporting of mermaids, without benefit of diving gear, holding my nose or even getting my hair wet.

This low level observatory at the former Olympic champion's swimming school out Las Gallinas way is a sort of cross between the sponsor's booth in a broadcasting studio and a front row seat at the aquarium, where performers blow bubbles and make faces at you through the glass. It is part of the school's unique equipment for detecting and correcting flaws in the modus operandi of would-be Weismullers and Curtises.

Located below the ground and immediately adjacent to the deeper stem section of the "T" built pool it is about the size of a large walk-in clothes closet. Its outlook commands a generous expanse of underwater action from bottom to surface.

In this observation post I came to the conclusion that humans are not nearly as far removed from their piscatorial origin as they imagine. Deprived of fins, tails and gills by a process of evolution, they still retain a few of the characteristics of live mackerel—undulence, specific gravity and fishy-eyed stares.

Youngsters cavorted past me like oversize guppies in a goldfish bowl. It is fortunate, I thought, that man's submersion is limited by the length of time he can hold his breath. Otherwise, a few generations hence might find some of our species returning to the element from which it is said life began.

Teaching people to use inherent talents is one of the purposes of the Ann Curtis School of Swimming. While children are numerous among the pupils and adapt themselves naturally I was surprised to learn that not a few adults are learning for the first time to break the water barrier.

Many of them are folks whose early dunkings resulted in fear complexes through an unfortunate experience. Their treatment is mainly psychological and requires great patience. Biggest bugaboo is the fear of deep water. They may swim calmly and comfortably at chest depth but put them where soundings are six feet or more and they panic.

To allay the fears of the timorous and the short-winded until they develop confidence and endurance a large part of the Curtis pool was constructed so that they may reach bottom and surface simultaneously if need be, and still have a respectable length course to paddle from shore to shore.

Among children, says Ann Curtis, girls are quicker to attain perfection of stroke. Boys are generally less concerned with grace of movement, more apt to get sidetracked in horseplay and water buffoonery, until they engage in competitive swimming and learn the value of smoothness, posture and timing.

Ann has four children of her own. All of them, except David who is only 3 months old, are excellent swimmers. From what I gather they grew up in the water from the time they were two years old. Carol, 7, and Sue, 4½, performed for us like water nymphs before our underwater viewing screen. At that age I was on a diet of waterwings and wading pools.

"You've trained them well," I commented.

"Who did, then?"

MANY TWINNED THINGS

Many twinned things are fair to see,
When standing in columnal wise,
A tree near an adjacent tree,
Doric pillars beneath the skies.

In khaki, jeans or business suits,
Crowned by a sturdy trunk above,
Below them sandals, shoes or boots,
Idling, braced to lift or shove,

What is more vital to the gaze
Than the rocky, up-and-standing span,
Among earth's multifarious ways,
Of the two legs of a stalwart man?

SUMMER COMPLAINT

Other motorists don't scare me much,
Not even when they signal wrong, or lamely;
And I'm not worried about trucks and such;
I stop, or duck, or swerve, then proceed gamely.

Yet all in all, I feel no keen dislike.
But I would sooner meet with Beelzebub

His Nine Years' Work A Milestone

Pastor Leaves Marin A Church As He Steps To Executive Post

By LARRY LOVETTE

The Rev. Robert K. Menzel, 40-year-old pastor of Peace Lutheran Church at Tennessee Valley Road and Highway 1 near Tamalpais Valley, is a man of tremendous energy and determination. He has been the guiding light in the tremendous growth of his church from a non-existent congregation in 1950 to its present adult membership of 250.

Much has transpired in the intervening years.

But as is the case with successful young executives in private industry, the Rev. Menzel has been "kicked upstairs" to an executive position at the Concordia Lutheran College in Portland, Ore., and next Sunday he will deliver his farewell sermon.

BORN IN RENO, Nevada in 1919, he comes from solid Lutheran stock. His father was a Lutheran "circuit rider," covering the miles of the Nevada wastelands as he carried the Word of God from settlement to setllement.

When he was still an infant, his parents moved to California, settling near Fairfield, where young Menzel was graduated from Green Valley school. Then the family moved to the East Bay, where he attended high school at the Lutheran Concordia College not far from Mills College in East Oakland.

It was while attending Concordia that he first met John Ehlen, Sausalito city attorney, who at the time was also studying for the ministry. Ehlen is now one of the church's parishioners.

"This was a critical time of my life," Rev. Menzel reflects. "When I graduated I decided to take time out to decide what I wanted to do in the future."

DURING THE SAME period, his family moved to the Santa Cruz area and young Menzel became in succession a plumber's helper, piano mover and salesman just long enough to become sure that his course was to follow his father's footsteps and become a minister.

"I entered the Lutheran Concordia Seminary in St. Louis and graduated in 1944," he recalls. "I was sent back to the Bay Area where I started a congregation among workers at the Hunters Point Naval Shipyard in San Francisco. We used a store building which had also been made available for American Legion meetings."

He recalls with a smile that a regular chore was Sunday morning clean up that often turned up some relics of a legion party the night before that would not have been fitting for a church service.

It was about this time, too, that Rev. Menzel met and married Clara Koenig whom he had met in St. Louis. The following year, Larry, the first of their children was born at their Santa Cruz home.

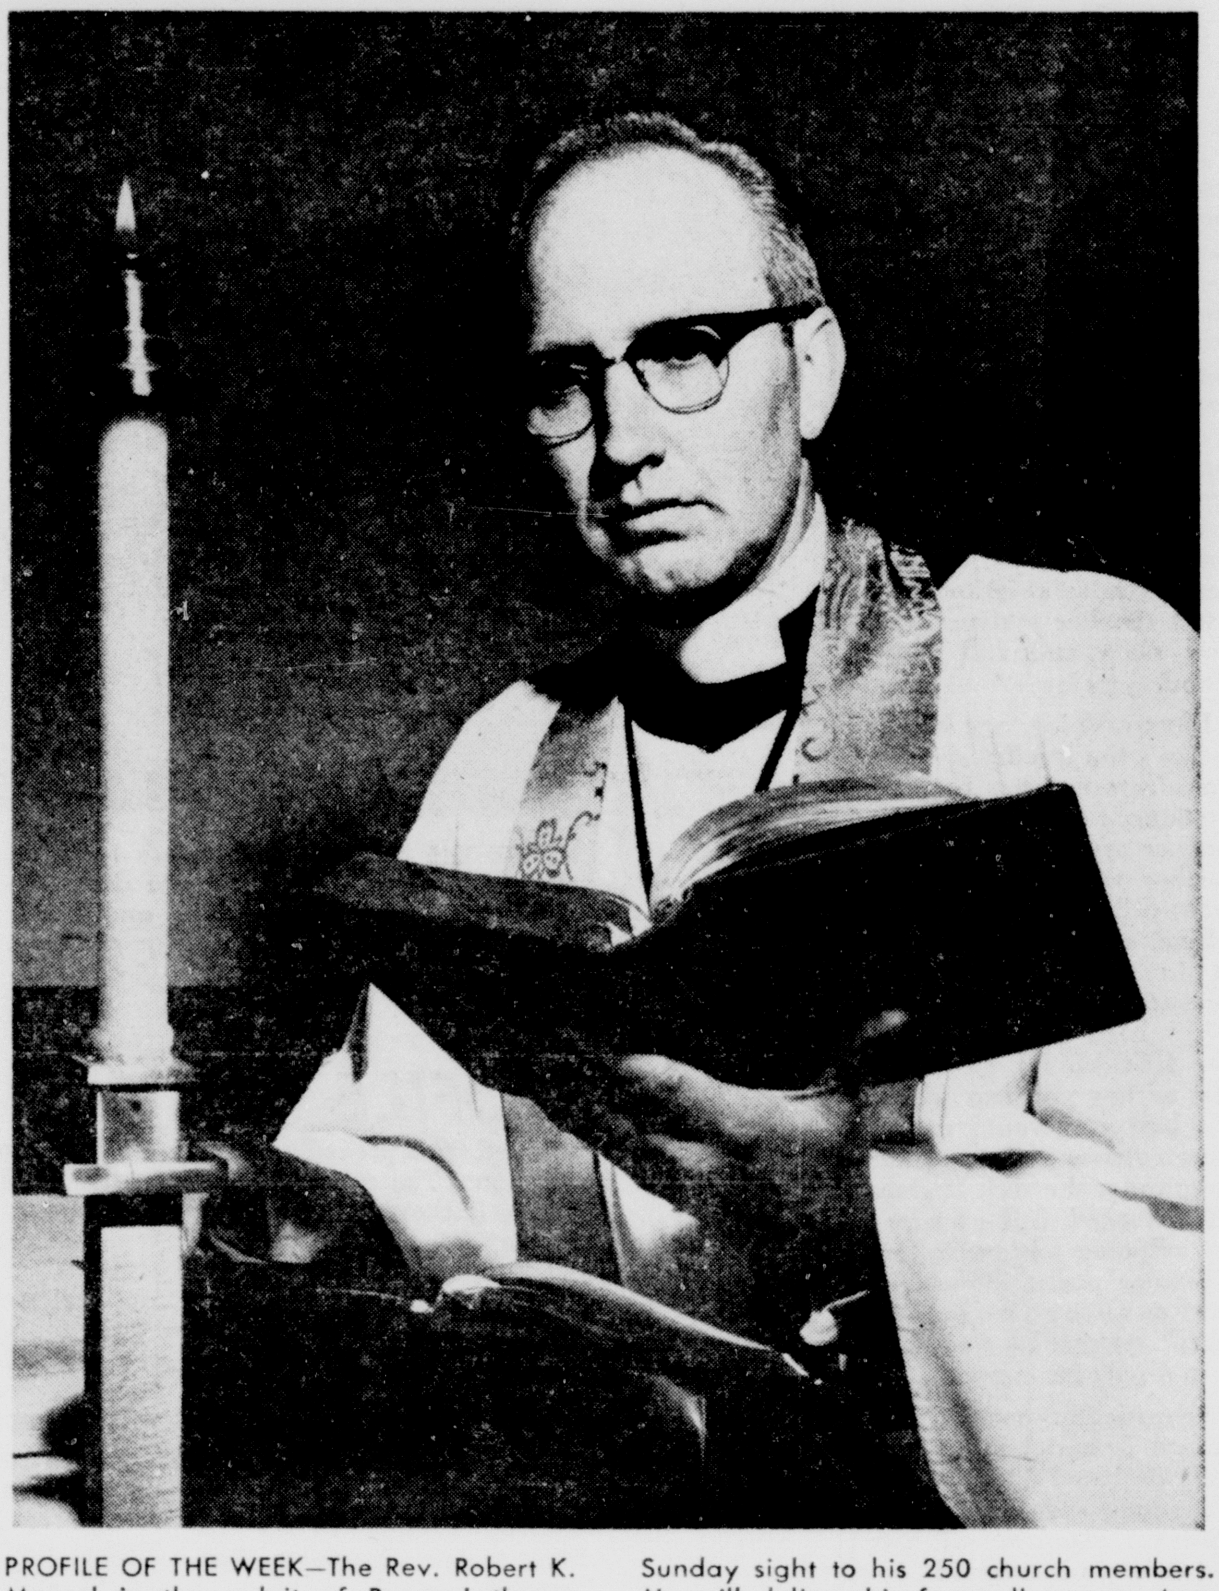
After a successful two years at Hunters Point, the Rev. Menzel and his family traveled south to Santa Maria where he was placed in charge of a small mission. During his four years there, he started a new mission at Lompoc. It was also in Santa Maria that their daughter Beth was born.

THEN IN 1950, he was returned to the bay area with instructions to found a new Lutheran church in southern Marin.

"There was no nucleus of any kind here," he said, "so I started by ringing doorbells until I had made 3,000 calls throughout southern Marin."

Within a month, the first service was conducted on June 11, 1950 in the library of the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley with 19 persons present.

The road was not easy. "Church organization in Marin is very difficult," he points out. "There is no cohesion — just scattered clusters of people plus the fact that the county has one of the lowest ratios of church membership to population in the state."



PROFILE OF THE WEEK—The Rev. Robert K. Menzel in the pulpit of Peace Lutheran Church near Tamalpais Valley is a familiar Sunday sight to his 250 church members. He will deliver his farewell sermon Aug. 2. (Independent-Journal photo).

BUT BY 1951, the church had become organized and purchased about five acres of land at its present site. Construction of a building was started almost immediately, with 47 members of the congregation supplying much of the labor. When the building was dedicated in November 1952, the congregation had 75 members.

The Menzel family had increased to five by this time with young Christopher being born at their Tamalpais Valley home.

It soon became apparent that the all-purpose structure was inadequate.

Accordingly, plans were started in mid-1956 for a second building which would be used for a Sunday School, Christian education and activity building, nursery and possibly a kindergarten, with facilities including a kitchen.

Following a fund campaign through 1958, ground was broken for the new structure last Jan. 11. Dedication is set for tomorrow.

The construction has been financed entirely by voluntary gifts.

"We feel that church support must come from a love of Christ," Rev. Menzel explains earnestly. "Each of our structures was built without aid from any kind of fund-raising drive—no tickets, sales, rummages or dinners."

"YOU KNOW," he says sagely, "you have to raise people before you can raise money."

Rev. Menzel is doubly proud of tomorrow's events since not only will the new building be dedicated but the original structure will be re-dedicated for church use exclusively.

"Until now," he notes, "we have had some 200 folding chairs for the congregation or Sunday school as the occasion warranted—a not very satisfactory arrangement. "But," he added, "through the help and cooperation of our good Presbyterian friends in Larkspur, we have these solid oak pews now which fit our needs perfectly."

HE NOTED that the Larkspur church was enlarging and had sold the pews. "And there wasn't a Sunday they were not in use," he said. "They were moved out of Larkspur on Monday and were in place here ready for a service the following Sunday."

The refurbished building also has carpeted aisles, a new pulpit, chancel and communion rail.

"And a mighty big addition will arrive in October when a new 14-rank classic organ, now being built in Germany, will be installed," he notes proudly.

During the recent Lutheran National Convention in San Francisco, the Rev. Menzel handled feature news coverage, continuing his public relations activity in the church which he has done since 1951.

His promotion first became known in May when he was notified that he was to join the faculty of the Lutheran Concordia College in Portland, Ore., occupying the chair of religion and history. In addition, he will also direct public relations for the seminary and be in charge of re-

STEREO HI-FI

A stereo system for the home requires two loudspeaker systems. "I don't have room for two big speaker systems in my home," is a commonly heard phrase. Fortunately, the manufacturers of high quality loudspeakers have been hard at work designing and building a new breed of loudspeaker systems. Because of their engineering and hard work, we are now able to offer small speaker systems with very deep and full range sound.

Electro-Voice, one of the nation's top quality speaker manufacturers, has recently introduced the REGAL III speaker system. This is a 3 speaker wide range system beautifully packaged in a cabinet so small that it will fit in your bookcase. It measures 12½" deep by 13½" high by 24" wide. The REGAL III gives you bass so low you can feel it . . . bass you would expect from a conventional speaker three times the size. It gives you balanced, full-range, flat response without attenuation or peaks. Would be ideal as an economical "first" system, an "add-on" or in a pair for stereo.

Acoustically-correct enclosure is matched to specially-designed 12-inch Low Frequency speaker for exceptional extension of bass response and unusual dynamic range . . . without sacrificing efficiency and without the need for unusually-large amplifier power.

Luxurious furniture-crafted enclosure is finished on all four sides for placement anywhere on shelf or floor.

The REGAL III 3-way system in enclosure, ready to use, is priced at only $147.50 complete.

Another of the new Electro-Voice additions is the ESQUIRE 200, an economical version of the Regal III. The ESQUIRE 200 is also a 3 speaker system in a modern enclosure for only $111.

At Catania Sound we have these new Electro-Voice speakers set up for your listening pleasure. Come in for a demonstration. You will be amazed at the full range, clear sound that these compact speakers produce.

He is scheduled to report in Portland about Aug. 15.

HE IS SCHEDULED to deliver his farewell sermon Aug. 2. He says that his temporary replacement will be Chaplain (Colonel) Herman Heuer, chief of chaplains of the 6th Army at the Presidio, San Francisco.

The Rev. Menzel declares that his motivating force is to "speak the truth in love" and to "speak and act to help others."

He has good reason, too, to be grateful for help from another source for his family.

In 1948, a few months after their daughter was born in Santa Maria, it was gradually detected that the youngster was a polio victim and when the family moved to Marin, specialized care was required.

"We are extremely grateful to the polio foundation," the Rev. Menzel said: "The entire treatment, including three operations at Marin General Hospital were taken care of by the foundation. Without it, she would have been a hopeless cripple. She now walks without impairment."

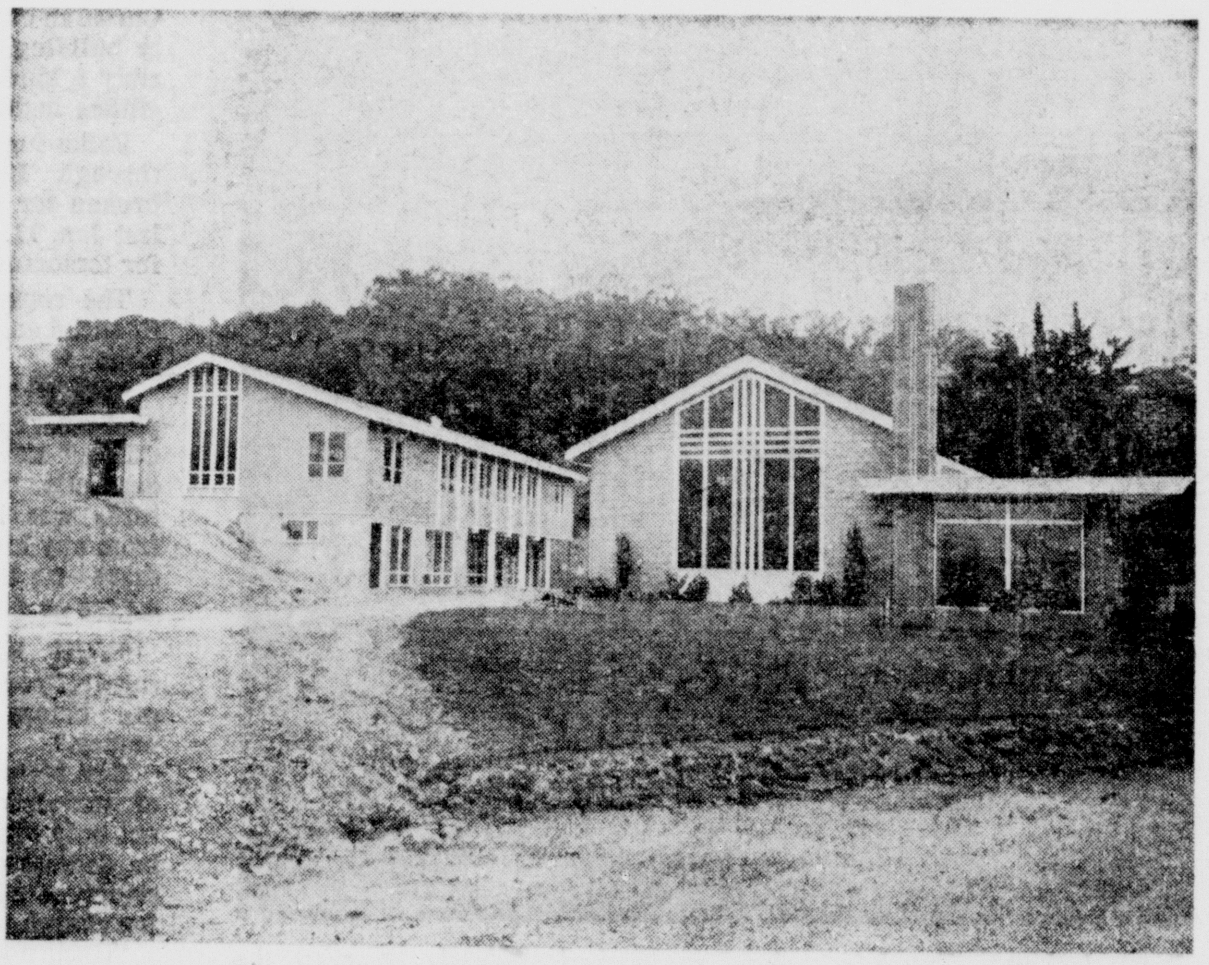
Now a resident of 59 Meadow road, in the Sutton Manor section of Mill Valley, Rev. Menzel finds time for a myriad of activities, and counts others with which he has been associated.

Closely identified with social service, he has been a member of the Family Service Agency board and took part in the decision to move it from Marin City to San Rafael; he founded the Marin County Chaplains Group which provides chaplain service at hospitals; he has served as assistant to the Lutheran chaplain at San Quentin prison since 1951; served on the board of the Lutheran Childrens Friend Society of California in the San Francisco headquarters; founder and past president of the Northern California chapter of the National Religious Publicity Council.

IN ADDITION, he has contributed to the Christian Century, the American Lutheran and other denominational journals.

Speaking of his congregation, Rev. Menzel explains some of his philosophy when he says, "the Christian life is a growth process. One of the functions of the congregation is to help one another in growing together as Christians."

Certainly, the Rev. Menzel's philosophy has been demonstrated in the material growth of Peace Lutheran Church. The church structures are a monument to his determination, courage and faith in himself and his fellow man.



IN HIS NINE years as pastor of Peace Lutheran Church the Rev. Menzel has seen this large and modern church rise from its barren site. New wing will be dedicated tomorrow. (Independent-Journal photos)

BEACH FLEA (Orchestoidea sp.)—Beach Fleas or Sand Hoppers are found in great numbers on every sandy beach where much seaweed is present, for they feed on kelp and other plants and animals washed up by the tide. They are not fleas and they do not bite, but their jumping habits have earned them the name. They are usually white with some orange, and may be an inch or more in length. They burrow into the moist sand head first, digging down 6 inches or a foot. (From "Out-of-Doors in Marin," copyrighted by M. F. Austin.)

PLEASING PATTERNS of pebbles and colorful tiles are pushed into mosaic base to form ash trays for patio use. Nothing says you can't use them indoors, of course. The Belvedere Guild II of Sunny Hills has produced a stack of them for their patio booth at the Grape Festival. (Independent-Journal photos).

Shells, Pebbles Are Framed For Decoration On The Patio

If you have been looking around for something to decorate your patio walls then Belvedere Guild II of Sunny Hills may have come up with an answer.

The women down Belvedere way have been working for several months to create what they call shell pictures and mosaic ash trays or glass coasters.

ALL THEIR pictures feature natural decorative pieces —mostly shells and pebbles with a few colorful bits of tile mixed in for a brighter splash. All of their pieces are quite easy to make, and the excuse of collecting fine pebble and shell specimens can lead to several pleasant trips to Marin beaches.

You'll have to find some wooden picture frames to make the shell pictures, and then mix up a mosaic base, or grout, to hold the bits you have collected. When the grout is poured in and smoothed inside the frame you can begin pushing gently each shell or pebble into it. A pair of tweezers is handy for this operation.

By S. THOMPSON WALKER
Director, Junior Museum of Marin

LITHE WEASEL TURNS INTO WHITE ERMINE IN WINTER

Few people are fortunate enough to see weasels, lithe carnivores, in the wild, but those that do will agree that this family (Mustelidae) includes some of nature's most graceful animals. While this family consists of the marten, fisher, the various weasels, mink, wolverine, otters and the skunks it will be seen that they have general features in common.

The longtail weasel and the mink are both residents of Marin County. They are long-bodied animals with short legs, small heads, short rounded ears and scent glands. The mink is usually a dark brown with a white chin patch and a slightly bushy tail. It averages 13 to 17 inches in length and will be found in an area close to water. The longtail weasel is smaller, averaging nine to eleven inches in body length, and has yellowish-white underparts with a distinct black tip on the tail. It will be found in a more varied land habitat than the mink.

Despite their small size the weasels are amazingly strong, aggressive animals, and won't hesitate to attack much larger animals. They feed on fresh meat and prefer to do their own killing. Although well able to take care of themselves weasels make use of their grace and speed in a manner that will make your infrequent glimpse a short one.

The weasels' scent glands are similar to those of the skunks but are not used as a defensive measure in the manner of skunks.

The economic importance placed on their fur has made the weasel constant prey of trappers. The ermine furpiece, if genuine, is the weasel in its winter coat. In the colder regions they turn white in winter, retaining the black tip on the tail.

BEACH FLEA (Orchestoidea sp.)—Beach Fleas or Sand Hoppers are found in great numbers on every sandy beach where much seaweed is present, for they feed on kelp and other plants and animals washed up by the tide. They are not fleas and they do not bite, but their jumping habits have earned them the name. They are usually white with some orange, and may be an inch or more in length. They burrow into the moist sand head first, digging down 6 inches or a foot. (From "Out-of-Doors in Marin," copyrighted by M. F. Austin.)

PLEASING PATTERNS of pebbles and colorful tiles are pushed into mosaic base to form ash trays for patio use. Nothing says you can't use them indoors, of course. The Belvedere Guild II of Sunny Hills has produced a stack of them for their patio booth at the Grape Festival. (Independent-Journal photos).

Shells, Pebbles Are Framed For Decoration On The Patio

If you have been looking around for something to decorate your patio walls then Belvedere Guild II of Sunny Hills may have come up with an answer.

The women down Belvedere way have been working for several months to create what they call shell pictures and mosaic ash trays or glass coasters.

ALL THEIR pictures feature natural decorative pieces —mostly shells and pebbles with a few colorful bits of tile mixed in for a brighter splash. All of their pieces are quite easy to make, and the excuse of collecting fine pebble and shell specimens can lead to several pleasant trips to Marin beaches.

You'll have to find some wooden picture frames to make the shell pictures, and then mix up a mosaic base, or grout, to hold the bits you have collected. When the grout is poured in and smoothed inside the frame you can begin pushing gently each shell or pebble into it. A pair of tweezers is handy for this operation.

LITHE WEASEL TURNS INTO WHITE ERMINE IN WINTER

Few people are fortunate enough to see weasels, lithe carnivores, in the wild, but those that do will agree that this family (Mustelidae) includes some of nature's most graceful animals. While this family consists of the marten, fisher, the various weasels, mink, wolverine, otters and the skunks it will be seen that they have general features in common.

The longtail weasel and the mink are both residents of Marin County. They are long-bodied animals with short legs, small heads, short rounded ears and scent glands. The mink is usually a dark brown with a white chin patch and a slightly bushy tail. It averages 13 to 17 inches in length and will be found in an area close to water. The longtail weasel is smaller, averaging nine to eleven inches in body length, and has yellowish-white underparts with a distinct black tip on the tail. It will be found in a more varied land habitat than the mink.

Despite their small size the weasels are amazingly strong, aggressive animals, and won't hesitate to attack much larger animals. They feed on fresh meat and prefer to do their own killing. Although well able to take care of themselves weasels make use of their grace and speed in a manner that will make your infrequent glimpse a short one.

The weasels' scent glands are similar to those of the skunks but are not used as a defensive measure in the manner of skunks.

The economic importance placed on their fur has made the weasel constant prey of trappers. The ermine furpiece, if genuine, is the weasel in its winter coat. In the colder regions they turn white in winter, retaining the black tip on the tail.

HEAD CUTTER, lower right, holds up the end of the power saw to be sure it is level as he and his partner prepare to make a back-cut on a 10-foot redwood tree. The tree will fall away from the two men because a V-shaped cut has been made on the far side.

Logs For 'Marin Living'

Redwood Industry Drops Timber To Build Your Hillside Home

The redwood and fir forests of the Redwood Empire to our north are merely beautiful vistas to many Marinites. To others they are vacation areas providing fishing and hunting, camping, and swimming.

But to a major segment of of our population these forests are bread and butter.

Not many Marin residents actually work in the forests, felling trees or cutting lumber. But home building and construction is Marin's major industry. All of the redwood used in Marin's new homes and buildings and about 90 per cent of the other lumber used in these structures come from the forests of our sister counties. Not only that, but 100 per cent of the masonite hardboard we use so extensively is made just a county away in Ukiah, and this too is a wood product.

So the lumber industry is an important part of Marin's economy. In addition we have a few small (by comparison) lumber stands and a few sawmills in our county.

But to some of the northern counties, lumber is the major foundation of economic existence.

THE REDWOOD Region forest industry, for example, employs more than 26,000 persons with a payroll in excess of $115,000,000 per year. The logs cut in the eight counties total about 2½ billion board feet, half of the production of the whole state of California.

Just one lumber company, Union Lumber Company pays 6½ per cent of the total county taxes paid to Mendocino County and 36 per cent of all city taxes paid in the city of Fort Bragg. Its payroll pours $4,500,000 per year into the county's economy and adds another $1,500,00 in purchase of local services and materials.

Across the county in Ukiah, the Masonite operation distributes a $3,500,000 annual payroll and pays 5 per cent of the total county taxes. So from just these two firms, Mendocino County gets 10½ per cent of all its income.

There is only one Masonite operation in the Redwood Region, but there are many other major lumber firms, some as large or larger than Union. In addition, there are hundreds of smaller forest owners and sawmill operators who make lumbering the No. 1 industry from here to the Oregon border.

Lumbering has changed in the last 30 years. Prior to that, proper logging procedure was to fell all trees in an area, strip the bark off of them, set the whole area on fire to burn up the scrap and get the unwanted trees out of the way. After the fire subsided the woodsmen would go into the burn area and drag out the downed trees which survived the fire. The result was devastation. Left were neither young trees nor seeds to reforest the logged area.

CONSCIENTIOUS lumbermen, like those in Union Lumber, were concerned about this situation early in the 1920s. Union established a nursery in which millions of trees were grown from seed and transplanted.

But about 10 years later the whole project was abandoned. It was found that nature, with man's help, did a much better job. And a new concept of logging was born — selective cutting.

Individual trees were marked for cutting. There were the full grown or "ripe" trees as well as the old "over ripe" ones. They were felled carefully so as not to damage younger, immature trees around them.

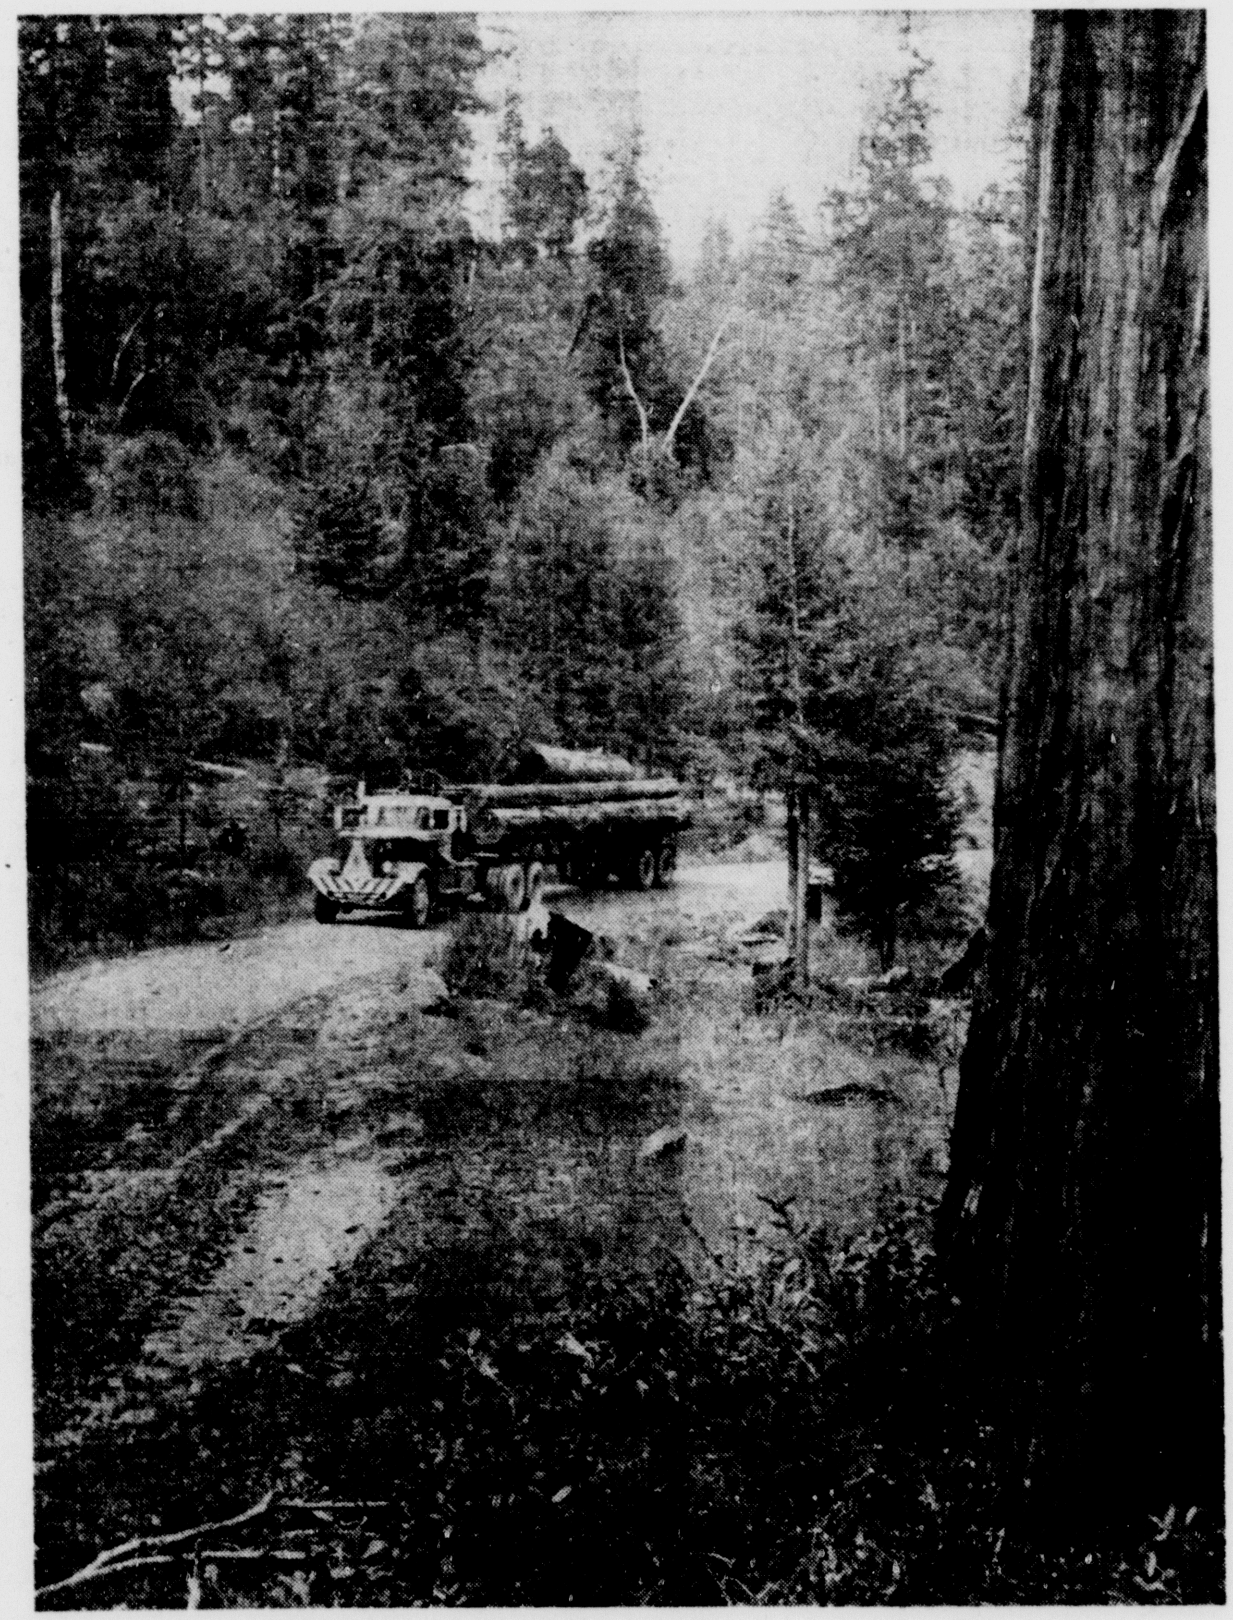
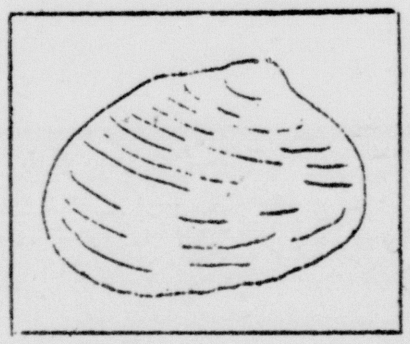
BILL VAN SICKLE of the Union Lumber Co., stands beside an aged "big wheel" with which the loggers used to pull huge logs out of the forest. It is a part of the lumber company's museum in Fort Bragg.

LIKE THE OLD TIME "big wheel," today's "arch" is a mobile hoist which runs on tractor treads instead of wheels to pull the big logs out of the forest and to the truck loading areas.



HUGE TRUCKS travel the 36-mile long private road of the Masonite Company carrying loads of logs for lumber or pulp. Such trucks are a familiar sight to travelers between Marin and the Oregon border.



CLAM—There are many kinds of clams along the coast—some smooth-shelled, some rough; some long and narrow like jack-knives, others thick and heart-shaped; some as big as the 7 in. Geoducks found at Dillon's Beach, some tiny and fragile; some living in mud, others buried in the sand, and still others boring holes in rocks. Many clams are white shelled, some are gray, and some show colored patterns and markings. If you walk across a mud flat at low tide, as at Bolinas Bay, you may see the clams squirt water. Clams are widely used for food. (From "Out-of Doors in Marin," copyrighted by M. F. Austin.)

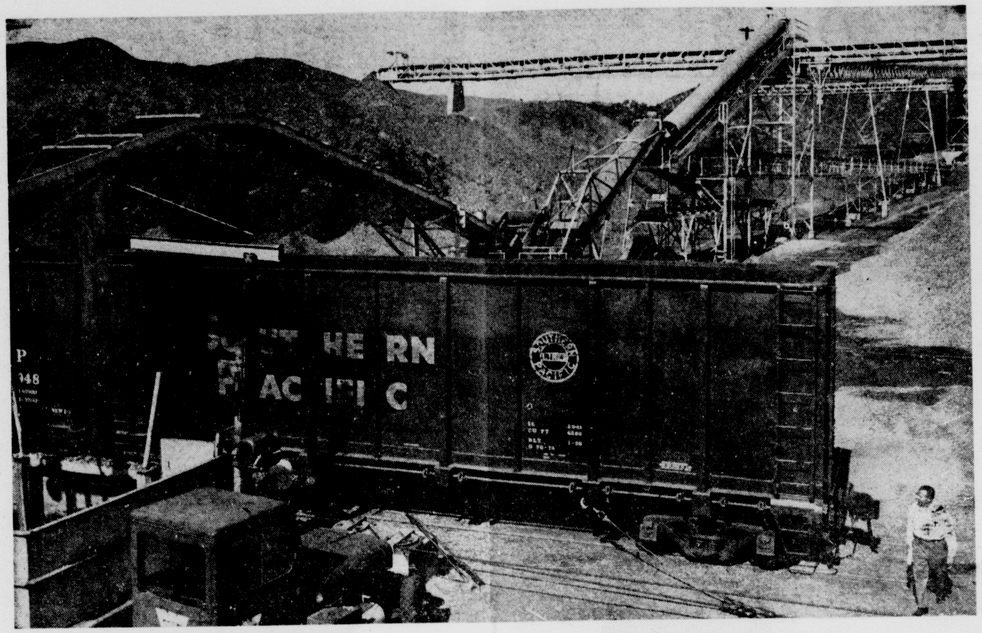
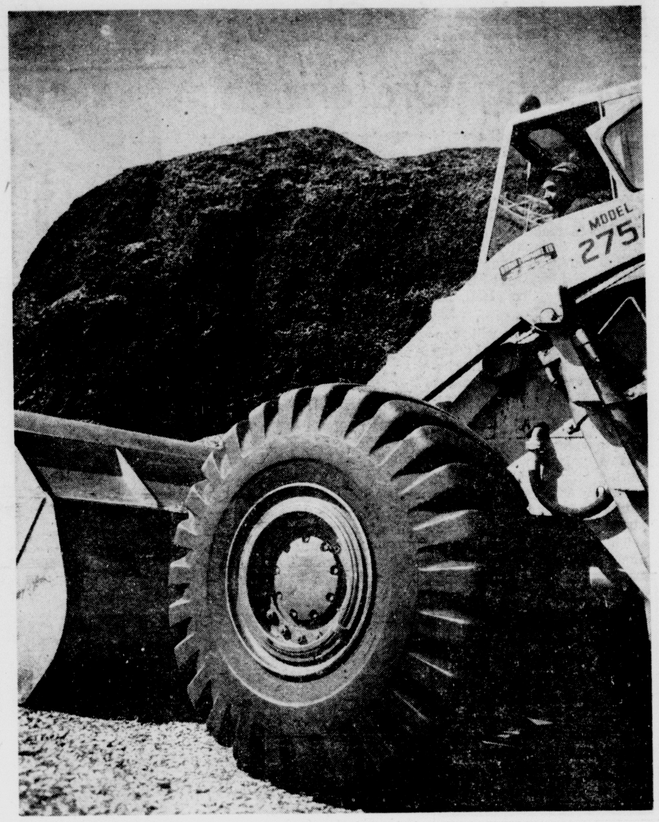
THIS IS THE BARKER in action. The redwood log is whirling on the Union Lumber Company's barker. A thousand gallons of water per minute shoots out of the nozzle (upper center) at a pressure of 1,400 to 1,500 pounds per square inch, literally blasting the bark from the log. This one is almost finished.



WOOD CHIPS from two dozen lumber mills pile up in the yard of Masonite Corp. in Ukiah waiting to be turned into harboard.

The overhead conveyor belt system shown here, carries the chips from the specially designed railroad cars or trucks to the stock piles and from the stockpiles into the plant.



THAT STACK of wood chips behind the loader is as high as a three story building. Scoop on this loader at the Masonite plant can hold five cubic yards.

of the tree in which it is expected to fall. Then a straight back-cut is made on the opposite side. A metal wedge driven into the back-cut topples the tree in the desired direction.

Removal of the big trees let in more light and air, as well as providing more water for the smaller trees. They grow faster under these better conditions. So shortly—20 or 30 years or so—a second harvest would be possible. This is called tree farming.

The tractor is the major development that has made this possible because it can go into the woods and pull out the harvested trees.

PEELING OF the redwood trees previously had taken place by hand in the woods. But now the "barker," a high pressure water jet system, literally blasts the bark off the trees.

Then the bare logs go to the sawmills where they are first squared up and then sawed into various sized boards, sorted, seasoned and shipped to Marin or wherever they are destined.

The seasoning is very important. For example, a single redwood plank, one inch thick, 12 inches wide and 20 feet long will have as much as 8.4 gallons of water in it. If it goes into your house with any sizeable part of that remaining, you're in for trouble.

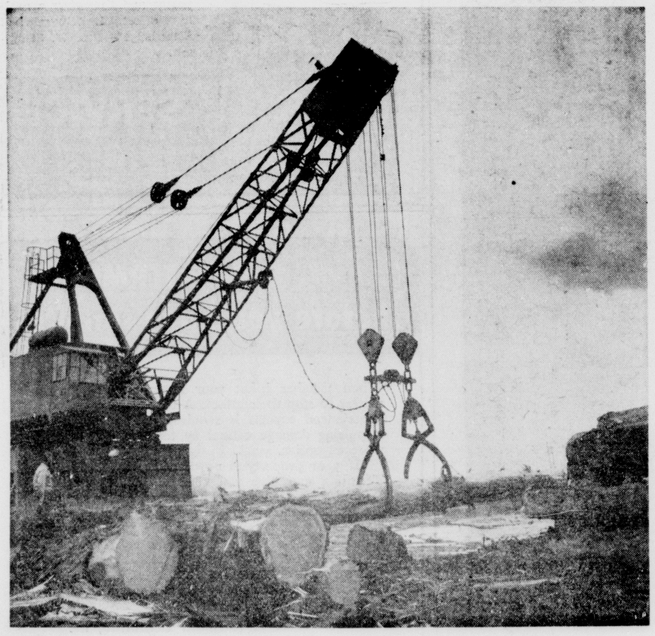
Once upon a time all of the parts that were trimmed off the logs in the cutting were waste material and just burned up. But now Masonite is making use of them.

When Masonite was established in 1951, the plan was to cut its own trees to make chips to make hardboard. To get them out of the mountain easily, Masonite built a $4,000,000 private road 36 miles long from Ukiah, through the redwood and connecting to Highway 28 along the Novarro River.

Now, however, the hardboard firm is buying mill cuttings and is not harvesting trees specifically to make its product. Instead their trees are sold to sawmills or pulp plants. The wood which formerly went to the burner from two dozen mills is now used annually. This is equivalent to the quantity of timber that can be grown on 150,000 acres of good forest land.

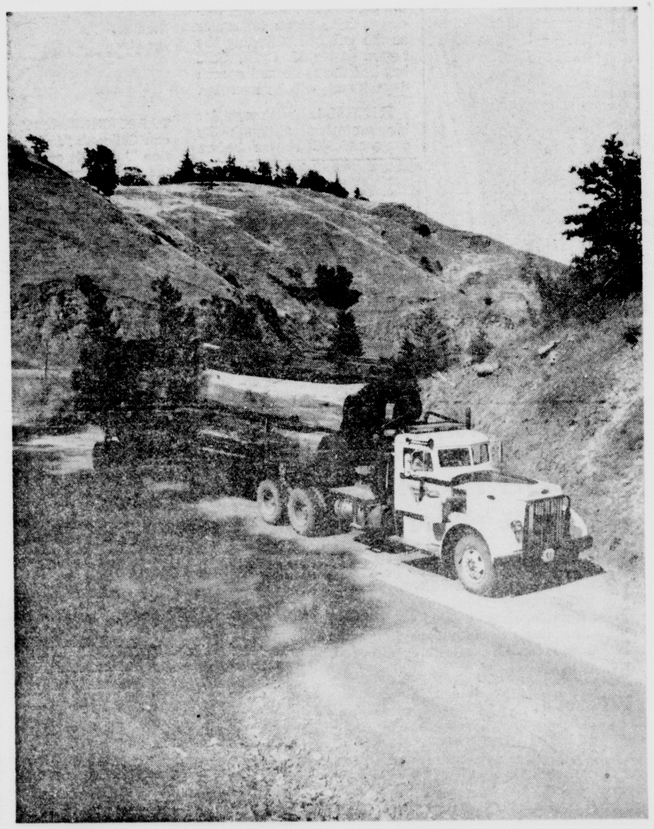
ONE OF the questions most often asked lumbermen is why the forests are not opened more freely to the public. Their answer is always the same, "public irresponsibility." A fire can wipe out a timber stand or a sawmill and its equipment. People just aren't careful enough.

Even so, the people in the industry do everything they safely can to accommodate the public. Areas are set aside for activities like Boy Scout and other organizational camps. Some of the more beautiful areas are purposely not logged so that they will be a scenic attraction.



HUGE CRANE picks logs off of the trucks and stacks them, then can move them from the piles to the barker or reload them for a trip to the veneer plant at Union Lumber Co.

THE LOG POND at Union Lumber Co. in Fort Bragg is just behind the barker. All of the logs here have had the bark removed. A newly barked log can be seen in the foam as it emerged from the barker. Other logs after barking are rolled onto the chain in foreground and carried into the sawmill out of the picture on the right. (Most photos by I-J photographer Richard Steinheimer; some courtesy of Redwood Region Conservation Council.)



REDWOOD LOGS move slowly up the roadways of the forest regions. One of these redwood logs seems to have been peeled, but it was probably done accidentally. Most logs are now brought into the mill before the bark is removed.

Dominican's Chorus To Sing Oratorio

In keeping with the world-wide observance of the 200th anniversary of the death of George Frederick Handel, the Dominican Summer Session Chorus this year will present "Judas Maccabeus." Selected passages from the oratorio will be sung at a public concert on Friday, July 31, at 8 p.m. in Angelico Hall, Dominican College.

Winifred Baker will conduct the summer choral group for the seventh year. The chorus is composed of teachers attending the college for credit, or just auditing. Members of the Winifred Baker Chorale, a volunteer group of mixed voices which meets during the regular school year, are combining with the summer chorus for the second year.

Thirteen Franciscan students of theology from Old Mission Santa Barbara are attending classes at Dominican College this summer, and nine of them will take part in the oratorio. They, and other Franciscan students at their mission, have formed a choral group known as the "Padre Choristers." They are directed by Father Pierre Etchelecu, a composer himself, and their principal interest is to keep alive early sacred and secular music of California.

THE CHORISTERS have made three recordings: Christmas at Mission Santa Barbara, Music of the California Missions, and Peace and Blessing. The last is the prayer of St. Francis as arranged by Father Owen Da Silva.

Soloists for the coming oratorio presentation include: sopranos, Annette Brophy Jacobs, former Juilliard and Dominican voice major, soloist with the Salt Lake City Mormon Choir, and a member for a year of the Trapp Family Singers tour; Sister M. Amata, O.P., and Sister Joan Marie, C.S.J.O., both teachers of music at Dominican.

The Rev. Robert Despars, principal and music director of Bishop Manogue High School of Reno, will sing the tenor solo, and the baritone solo will be sung by Byron Jones, San Rafael High School choir director, and opera and oratorio soloist in the Bay Area.

Laila Gabriel, Dominican College graduate, will be at the piano, and Sister M. Francesca, O.P., organ instructor at the college, will play the organ. Sister M. Cyril, O.P., head of the radio and speech department, will be narrator.

HANDEL is best known for his oratorios, although he composed 42 operas before writing the great "Messiah." The favorite theme of earlier oratorio writers was the Passion of Christ, but Handel developed the epic oratorio and is credited with 15 grand oratorios.

Mrs. Baker has chosen the Judas Maccabeus because it is a very late work, and shows maturity. It has rousing choruses—including a Hallelujah, and some of Handel's most famous arias and duets, such as "O lovely peace."

Although a native of Germany, Handel settled in England when he was 27. He had been appointed court conductor in Hanover in 1710, and when the elector of Hanover became King George I of England, Handel went along as a member of the King's court. He became an English subject 14 years later.

He was 61 when he composed the Judas Maccabeus. Author of the libretto was Rev. Thomas Morrell. This collaboration lasted until the close of Handel's career.

Oratorio themes are dignified, and, as in the coming concert number, usually Biblical. The mood and story are carried completely by the singers and accompaniment.

At Last Comes Book That Looks At Soviets From Many Angles

If you are tired of either unadulterated criticism or half-informed opinions about the Soviet Union, you will find Irving R. Levine's book most refreshing. With the perceptiveness of a veteran newsman, he looks at the USSR and its people from all angles. The government's successes and failures are weighed in both statistical and human terms, but Levine knows how to present numerical facts so they make enlightening, as well as interesting reading.

The bulk of the manuscript was written in Moscow, and he was permitted to bring it out uncensored. Just how the Soviet leaders feel about it is anybody's guess, but they certainly cannot complain that he loads his statistics or that he paints a negative picture—or a rosy one, either.

In each of the 26 chapters, he surveys one aspect of Soviet life. The Stalin and post-Stalin regimes are clearly presented, and Levine goes into some details on how the Soviet Union is actually giving more power to trade unions and collectives. However, he also shows how the Communist Party keeps tabs on local operations through party members.

If the reader is looking for assurance that the Russian people are disgruntled and ripe for a new revolution, he will be greatly disappointed. Levine has talked with thousands of Russians and has found that, while they may complain openly or resist certain government policies, they are also loyal to their government.

The instigation for the book was the flood of mail from American listeners to his NBC broadcasts from Moscow. The photographs are as unusual and frank as his analysis of this still mysterious nation.

If the book were to be distributed in Moscow, it would probably not be a best seller—any more than an Englishman's book about America would be. Peoples all over the world are peculiarly sensitive to an outsider's view of themselves.

New Book Is Complete Guide To 160 Garden Perennials

"Bear's Breeches, Sneezewort, Wolfsbane, Goutweed, Marsh Mallow, Basket of Gold, Windflower, Lads-Love, Maygowan, Rampion, Maybells, Sweet William, Dutchman's Breeches, Witches'-thimbles, Baby's breath, Irishman's Wig, Coral Bells, Money-plant, Wakerobin, Cherry Pie . . ."

These were some of the perennials grandmother cherished, and her garden was as colorful as her vocabulary. Today's garden enthusiast may call them Acanthus, Achillea, Aconitum, etc but he cherishes them as tenderly because he knows that a minimum of effort on his part will bring the reward of years of pleasure. Many will grow well in Marin gardens.

Charles H. Potter's new book, Perennials in the Garden For Lasting Beauty, published by Criterion ($6.95), is a complete guide to raising these and more than 140 other perennials. Out of long professional experience, Mr. Potter covers clearly, and in detail, preparation and care of the soil, early care and transplanting of seedlings, propagation, mulching and storage, and preventative measures against pests, diseases and nutrient deficiencies. For small plot or large, he describes how to plan for color, proportion and succession of blooms, and advises which perennials do best in which part of the garden. He also adds a section for the amateur interested in growing perennials for profit.

The heart of the book is a detailed, encyclopedic treatment of over 160 perennials, covering all sections of the country. Each is listed by botanical and popular name, with full description, popular subspecies, descriptions of how and where to use them, information on culture, methods of propogation, and diseases and pests to guard against.

An extensive glossary of common botanical terms, a detailed seed germination chort, pest and disease control charts, diagrams of garden plans, a comprehensive planting guide, and a full index add to the permanent reference value of the book, which is illustrated with 40 full-color photographs.

Charles H. Potter has been a retail florist and designer, a greenhouse grower, manager of a wholesale florist business. Editor of the "Oregon Flower Grower," he writes also for garden departments of many newspapers and magazines. His earlier book "Beneath the Greenhouse Roof," was a choice of the Garden Book Club. Mr. Potter lives and gardens enthusiastically in Milwaukee, Ore.

Variations on a cosmic theme in terms of the tangibles and intangibles of a child's world confirm the snug, safe feeling that, "Everything is somewhere." Nice big letters for beginning readers.

Tired Of Your House's Arrangement?

Ten Rules For Moving Furniture
(Cheer Up, Dad, It Could Be Worse)

Rearranging furniture probably is the best substitute for moving into new and bigger quarters, most housewives will attest.

This never-ending game of "put it there, dear" or "no, better move it back over there" is one that always involves the man of the house—aching back or not.

And to keep father from getting hurt — nothing will keep him from getting mad—it might be worthwhile here to list some of the basic rules for lifting.

THE RULES, intended to provide protection against muscular strains and pains as well as serious injury, have been set forth by the moving experts of one of the nation's leading household moving organizations, and are those taught to company movers.

The 10 rules to injury-free, accident-free lifting follow:

1. Make sure you have a clear path as well as a safe path before you begin to lift. Know where you are moving the object in question and clear any obstacles out of the way (scatter rugs, end tables, children's toys, etc.)

2. If possible, plan your steps so that you'll avoid recently polished floors. If that isn't possible, make certain you are wearing rubber-soled and rubber-heeled shoes to prevent you from sliding. If floor runners are not secure, either move them out of the way or fasten them down.

3. SIZE UP the load. Place your feet close to the base of the article you are lifting—about 12 or 18 inches apart. Make sure your footing is secure.

4. Bend the knees outward and straddle the load as best you can. As you crouch, keep your back as straight as possible. Place one hand under the object, the other firmly on the opposite side, and keep the load close to your body as you lift it off the floor.

5. AS YOU RISE to a standing position, push up with your legs. The more pressure you can take off your back, the better off you'll be. The lower portion of your body should rise along with the object being lifted.

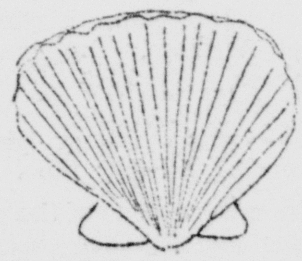
6. If you have to change directions after you have assumed an upright position, do it by moving your feet first. Do not twist your body around while the load is in your arms.

7. Adjust the object in your arms so that your line of vision is free. Be extra careful when carrying an object you cannot see over or around.

8. TO LOWER the object to the floor, bend your knees first, keep your back straight, and lower the object, with the arm and leg muscles doing the work.

9. Rst between each lifting assignment. Don't try to lift anything heavy when you're tired. That's when you're prone to injury.

10. If you're doubtful about being able to lift an object alone, don't do it. Get some help first.



SCALLOP (Pecten sp.)—Scallop shells, with their wing-like "ears" are found on nearly every beach. They swim through the water with a jerky motion by clapping their two shells together. The large round muscle that closes the shells is a delicious sea food which is sold in our fish markets. (From "Out-of-Doors in Marin," copyrighted by M. F. Austin.)

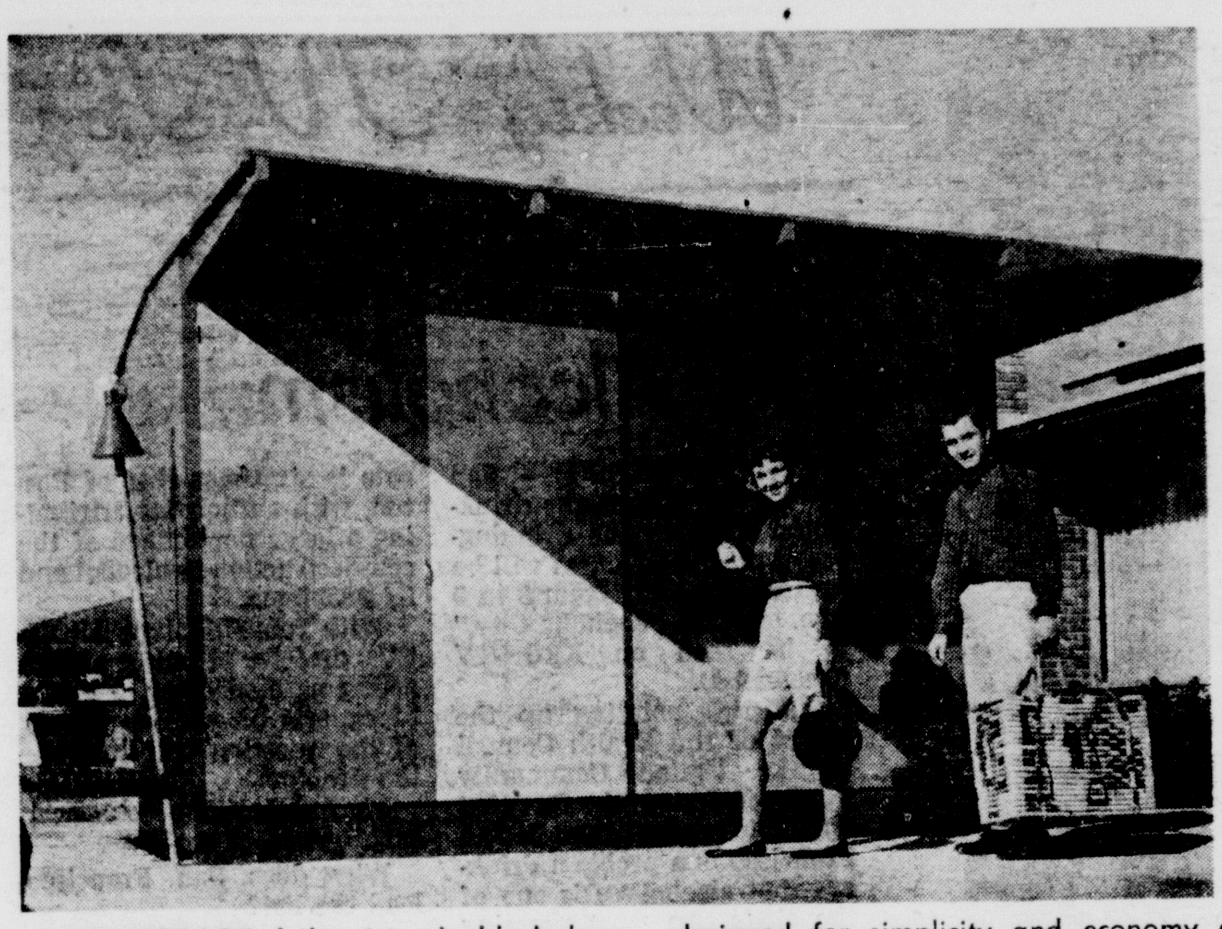
"We Deliver"



YARD STORAGE shelter is a double locker that has a roof overhang on both sides for protection from the sun and rains. The unit has four doors on each side, and is designed for simplicity and economy of construction. It holds yard tools, patio chairs and relieves the strain on indoor closet space.

Storage Space A Sad Story? Construct Shelter In Yard

What's the story on storage at your house?

In many homes, the story has a simple plot and a sad ending. The garage and utility room are crammed full of garden tools and outdoor equipment, while the car sits in the driveway.

Even if things aren't quite this desperate, you could probably use a storage structure somewhere in the back yard. It would provide an orderly place for the barbecue brazier, lawn mower, rakes, shovels, and fertilizer bags which are drifting around the house and garage.

A WEST COAST architect has designed a yard storage shelter which has style and utility. It is small enough to be built by a talented home handyman, but large enough to give all that miscellaneous gear a home of its own. The shelter is almost like having an extra half basement, only it's more convenient.

It could be put up almost anywhere in the yard, garden, patio, or along a walkway. It is also an ideal pool-side storage house. In a small yard, one overhang could be omitted, and it could be built directly against a fence or the house.

The unit makes sense because it puts all lawn, garden, pool and patio equipment right out where it is most often used. It can be tightly locked to protect valuable equipment from intruders.

The 4x8-foot shelter is designed with emphasis on simple construction. By following a construction plan which is available, an experienced amateur carpenter could build it in a couple of weekends. However, if you have no wood-working talent, don't attempt this one as a first-time project unless you get some experienced help.

THE UNIT is designed on a four-foot module to utilize standard size exterior-type fir plywood panels. The 2x6 floor framing rests upon four concrete piers.

Because of the structural rigidity provided by the fir plywood ends and partitions, an economical 2x2 lumber framework can be used. Texture One-Eleven, the vertically grooved plywood, is specified for siding on both ends of the unit.

The cantilevered roof is achieved by covering tapered 2x8 beams with 3/8" exterior fir plywood. The overhang provides protection against the sun and rain.

The 3/4" fir plywood doors have built-in shelves for storage of small articles. The height of the shelves inside the unit can be varied to suit the dimensions of chaise longues and other lawn furniture.

ROOF SUPPORTS are tapered 2 x 8 beams and 2 x 4 blocking. One of the roof overhangs can be omitted to permit construction against a fence.

DECKING ON the roof is made from panels of 3/8 exterior type fir plywood. The siding on the ends of the storage shelter is plywood also.

KRON Spotlights S.F. Alcoholism

SAN FRANCISCO — San Francisco's role as the drinkingest town in the drinkingest of all the 49 states will be portrayed Friday from 8 to 9 p.m. on "The Alcoholic City," to be seen on KRON-TV (Channel 4).

Statistics pointing up the report of the Health Council of the United Community Fund—including the fact that one of four adult men in San Francisco is a problem drinker—that alcoholism is one of the city's two most pressing health problems will be presented and documented.

OTHER FACTS to be documented:

San Francisco's alcoholic consumption for people over 15 years of age is an estimated 35 gallons per year per capita. The state average is 30 gallons per capita.

And San Francisco's suicide rate is six times that of Boston, with authorities attributing a large percentage of the self-destruction to alcohol and its problems.

With Tom Mullahey, KRON-TV's director of public affairs acting as moderator, a group of experts on various phases of the question will examine the problem.

They will attempt to answer such questions as:

Why does San Francisco lead the list?

What kind of research on the causes is being done and what are the results?

How big is the problem and how does it affect the public?

What are the health, personal, cultural and law enforcement problems?

Finally, just what is being done about it and what should be done?

TV Reruns Glut Summer Schedule

By VERNON SCOTT

Sultry summer heat has wilted coaxial cables to the tune of 62 repeat TV series, highest in history.

This plethora of second-runs is diluted by only 14 continuing first-run series and 10 new programs. Small wonder, then, that ratings on all three networks have plummeted.

Nothing, but nothing, frustrates the average televiewer more than tuning in a favorite show only to realize, midway through the action, that he has seen the program before.

IN THE FINAL June ratings for the regular season the top 10 shows were "Gunsmoke," "Have Gun, Will Travel," "Danny Thomas Show," "Rifleman," "Wagon Train," "Wyatt Earp," "Peter Gunn," "77 Sunset Strip," "Father Knows Best" and "Playhouse 90." Each and every one is beaming reruns during the hot months.

The rerun gimmick was started several seasons back when Groucho Marx decided to take a summer vacation. Instead of losing his audience during the dog days, he replaced his comedy-quiz show with "The Best of Groucho," taken from the previous season's airings.

LAWRENCE WELK continues with his "live" champagne music, and the "Summer Chevy Show" is all new. "Peck's Bad Girl" is one of the few new situation comedies to reach home viewers during the summer hiatus.

Most of the old standbys will continue reruns until September or October when they will resume with new sequences. But it's a long wait. A batch of brand new fall shows also are waiting in the wings for cool weather and vacationers to return home.

But weep ye not for these losers. They are sure to crop up as "Summer replacement repeats" for the next five years.

TV WRITING GRANT WINNERS—Winners of the first CBS television network writing grants-in-aid of $5,000 each are shown as they met for the first time at the network's New York headquarters. Chosen from thousands of applicants for the grants were these four writers and a fifth who will receive his award when he comes to New York next month. They are (from left) Brock Brower, Chapel Hill, N. C.; Ellen Currie, New York, Eve Merriam, New York and Helene Hanff, New York. The fifth winner, John Pfeiffer of New Hope, Pa., is on an archaeological expedition in Colorado.
